THE PRESIDENT SEES FISH ING IN CROATAN SOUND

> A Net Two Miles Long Pulled in With Tons of Fish-Visiting Historic Points on the Coast.

ELIZABETH CITY, N. C., March 2 .-President Cleveland and party are moving still further away from civilization, Wednesday morning the Violet was lying at Long Point near the foot of the Albemarle and Chesapeake canal. After offording the party opportunity to try their skill on ducks in the early morning the little steamer hauled up anchor and stood away to southward. She crossed Albemarle sound and entered Croatan sound, about 30 miles from the morning house farnishings in the State. Prices? Why starting point. Here the party passed the night quietly in the glare of Croatan sound light. The party in the morning went on a sightseeing expedition. The President and Secretary Gresham are early risers and by 8 o'clock breakfast had been dispatched and members of the party began their trip.

The first point of interest was the seine lishing at Weymouth point. The fisheries at this place are among the most extensive on the Atlantic coast. Shad and herring and bass or roach fish have already began their already begun their spring migration from the deep waters of the Atlantic spawning grounds. They enter the North Carolina sounds off Wilmington North Carolina sounds off Wilmington and through the inlet at Hatteras and at Oregon and New inlet, and find their spawning beds in numerous streams running into the sounds from the mainland. The President, Secretary Gresham and Captain Evans landed from the Violet in a gig and inspected the working of the Davis and Weymouth fishery on Croatan sound. The tide was favorable and the party was in time to see able and the party was in time to see one haul of the great seine. This net is almost a circuit across the sound and reforming in almost circle and paying out the seine as they ran. Reaching the shore, the lines were attached to a steam windlass and in the course of an hour the great seine was landed, bringing in its masses of fish of all kinds. The Pres ident was much interested in the sight.

Taking to their gig again the part-crossed Croatan island and landed or Roanoke island about two miles distant. Here conveyances were taken and the party visited some of the historical Raleigh and Ballast Point where Sir Walter Raleigh landed the ballast which he brought in his little ship from England on one of his voyages to the new world. The President also stopped for a time at the quaint little village of Manteo.

WILSON MUCH BETTER

Fool Friend Caused the Exag gerated Rumors.

Sr. Lou's, Mo., March 3.-A special to he Republic from the City of Mexico, says: Dr. Prevost says that bulletins rom Guadalajara indicate that the 14th day has passed safely in Congressman Wilson's case; that he is so much better that he may be considered as no longer danger. Congressman Tarsney had wired Consul-General Crittenden to keep information as much as possible from the press so as not to make Wil-son's friends in the States unduly anxious. This caused all sorts of telegraphic messages to be sent here from Guadalajara exaggerating the facts of Mr. Wil-son's real condition. As a matter of fact Mr. Wilson is doing well. His tever has left him and his skin is cool and moist. He says he is a great deal better and he only wants nursing food and rest. He thinks in 10 days he will be up and able to go about a little.

ahall. The defendants were represented by J. M. Gudger, jr., and O. B. Washburn, The solicitor, Oco. A. Jones, made a one haul of the great seine. This net is about two miles long and owing to its great length and weight it is beyond the capacity of human labor to handle, so steamer power is called upon.

The party saw the seine carefully stowed on the stern of two steam "flats" as they are known. The boats swept across the sound and returned, forming almost a circuit across the sound and almost a circuit across the sound and subject to give inrisdiction on the charge of murder, he indicted them for an assault with the result stated. These parties will be sentenced tomorrow. Our people are well pleased with the verdiet.

GLADSTONE'S RESIGNATION. No Doubt of It Now-Formal Aunouncement Monday.

LONDON, March 2.-The Pall Mail Gazette, in an extra special edition says Mr. Gladstone will have an audience with the Queen on Saturday and will then place his resignation in her hands. The public announcement will be made on Monday. Lord Roseberry, Secretary of State for foreign affairs, will succeed to the premiership. There is no present intention of dissolving Parliament. Mr. Gladstone will retain his seat in the House of Commons, but probably he will not remain in the cabinet."

LONDON, March 2.—Gladstone made his appearance in the House of Commons ball yesterday afternoon and was received with prolonged enthusiasm. The cheers were repeated with even more enthusiasm as he rose to speak on the Parish councils bill. He was in excellent voice and showed no signs of physical weakness. Mills Wouldn't Have It.

BLAND'S BILL IS PASSED

THE QUESTION IS, WILL THE PRESIDENT VETO IT?

Mr. Blaud Had An Easy And ROYAL BEEF, IRON AND WINE! Notable Victory When Members Were Brought to Vote-Coinage of the Beignforage

Washington, March 2.- In the House vesterday, the regular order was the vote on the adoption of the special order as to the time limit to the debate on the seigniorage bill to two hours on which a quorum had failed to vote Wednesday night. The clerk called the roll. Exactly a quorum voted and the special order was adopted, Speaker Crisp having voted to make the required number. The long struggle was over and a vote upon Bland's bill seemed assured.

Immediately upon the announcement of the vote, the Speaker declared that, in accordance with the provisions of the order just adopted, the bill would be open for debate and amendment for two hours. Bland was recognized and offered a substitute for the original bill.

Mr. Bland explained the difference in his substitute from the original bill. The Trial Was Concluded in Short
