TRIBUTE TO THE MOTHERS

THE PRESIDENT'S FRIDAY
ICKSBURG SPEECH

Delivered At The Dedication Of The Martha Washington Monument—Fine Sentiment and Well Expressed.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—The following is the speech of President Cleveland at the dedication of the Martha Washington monument at Fredericksburg, Va., yesterday:

"Governor O'Farrell, Mr. Mayor, and fellow citizens—I speak for those who are today gathered as official guests of Virginia and Fredericksburg, when I return sincere thanks for the hearty welcome that has been extended to me in behalf of both the State and country.
Our appreciation of the warmth of your reception is not diminished by the thought that, in the light of the highest meaning belonging to this occasion, there are no guests here. We have assembled on equal terms to worship at a sacred national shrine. Nothing can be more important to those who have assumed the responsibility of self government than the cultivation and stimulation among themselves of sentiments which ennoble and elevate, and strengthen humanity.
As a clear and wholesome stream must have its flow from a pure fountain head, so must a clean and beneficent popular government have its source in pure and morally healthy men. This purity and this moral health are in nothing better exemplified than in love and reverence for motherhood. The man who said he could not write their songs, might have said, with more truth, that he could gauche the strength and honor of a people and their fitness for self government by knowing the depths and steadfastness of their love for their mothers. I believe that he who thinks it brave and manly to outgrow his care and devotion for his mother is, more than he who has no music in himself, fit for treason, strategies and spoils, and should not be trusted.

"Let us recall today, as conclusive proof of the close relation between American greatness and a lasting love and reverence for our mothers, the proud declaration of George Washington, 'All I am lowe my mother,' and let us not forget that when his glory was greatest and when the plaudits of his countrymen were loudest, he valued more than these blessings any approval of his aged mother."

"While these exercises cannot but be to inspire us anew with reverence for American motherhood, we will remember that we are here to do honor to a woman who gave to our nation its greatest and best citizen, and that we have the privilege of participating in the dedication of a monument erected by the women of our land in loving and enduring testimony to the virtues of the mother of Washington. Let us be proud today that the nobility of this woman exalted from a distinguished foreigner the admission: 'If such are the matrons of America, she may well boast of illustrious sons'; and that of Lafayette, who had fought with her son for American independence, who declared, after he had received her blessing: 'I have seen the only Roman matron living at this day.'"

"Remembering these things let us leave this place with our love of country strengthened, with a higher estimate of the value of American citizenship, and with the prayer to God that our people may hold fast to the sentiment that grows out of love and reverence for American motherhood."

FRENCH BROAD CHURCH

Mr. Brunson's Sermon on "The Blessing and the Curse"

Pastor Brunson's discourse in the French Broad church last evening was based upon the words of Moses addressed to the children of Israel just as they were about to enter the promised land: "Behold I set before you a blessing and a curse; the blessing if ye shall hearken unto the commandments of the Lord . . . the curse if he shall not." Thus, Mr. Brunson said, "Israel's national prosperity was made conditional upon obedience to the commands of God.
The same is true of every nation, and especially those that are professing Christianity. Christian America, bound by colonies of God-fearing, freedom loving men, has been a nation of prayer, and has enjoyed the blessings of God in an unusual degree. But of recent years the God of glory and you shall be blessed.
Fail to meet them and the curse is pronounced."

"The meeting was well attended, and the attention good. Services this evening, to which the public are cordially invited."

J. I. NOLAND SUSPENDED

HEALTH OFFICER WALKS
THE PLANK

He is Said To Have Been An "Offensive Partisan" And To Have Neglected His Duty—His Record As An Official

Health Officer John I. Noland's official head has been taken off temporarily at least, the mayor noting as executioner.
Mr. Noland was notified by the mayor of his suspension, pending the investigation by the Board of Health, of charges against him. An intimation of what these charges would be was given at the last meeting of the Board of Aldermen, when Mr. Noland's "offensive partisanship" was commented on and caused the tabling of a request that he be made a member of Howe company No. 1.

Mr. Noland's successor, appointed temporarily by the mayor, who is chairman of the Board of Health, is Elmer T.
Rhinehart, a stalwart Republican, and a valiant reformer in the last campaign. Mr. Rhinehart is now in charge of the sanitary department.

Speaking of the suspension of Mr. Noland, Dr. M. H. Fletcher, one of the Board of Health, told THE CITIZEN he recently received word from the mayor in which he made charges against Mr.
Noland, among them one that he had neglected his duty. Dr. Fletcher said Mr.
Noland had made an excellent health officer, but believed he had neglected his duty to a certain extent in his and for the Democratic ticket. He did not think any officer should use his office for partisan ends.

Dr. Chas. L. Hillard, another Health Board physician, said he knew nothing of the suspension until it had been made public. He said, further, Mr. Noland had made a very good officer and a good collector as well.

Dr. H. B. Weaver, of the Board, knew nothing of the suspension until after it was done. He thought Mr. Noland had been a good officer, and only one or two complaints had been made against him within the past two or three months.
In that time he has been doing the work hurriedly done by two health officers.

Dr. Chas. S. Jordan, who is a member of the Board of Health, said he did not know of the suspension. He had, however, expected that it might be done, because of conversations with other members of the Board concerning Mr. Noland.
He had not been able to attend several meetings of the Board recently, but including from what other members told him, Mr. Noland had neglected his duty.

Dr. Jordan said Mr. Noland had until lately been a splendid officer and kept the city in very clean condition.

The Board of Health will investigate the charges against Mr. Noland at its next meeting, which will be held Thursday evening, unless it is decided to hold a special meeting.

THEY HIED AWAY.

Increased Penalties Scare The Federal Collectors

The increased penalties imposed at this time of the United States court against violators of the internal revenue laws have had the effect of greatly diminishing the number of offenders who come here to answer to the charges. At former times in many instances the penalty imposed was a month in jail, $100 and costs. The offender frequently would go to jail, serve his month, another month for the costs and then "sweat out," by taking out into his insolency, but with this changed, the incarceration is for anywhere from one month to 10 months. Many of the offenders here at the opening of court saw how things were drifting and concluded it were better to keep and leave their boundaries in the hands that to spend several months in jail. So they hid themselves in their mountain homes and now only about one out of five called is here to answer.

At yesterday's session James Webb and Lee Fuller were given 10 months each for not paying taxes. David Payne and George Payne, each one month each, $100 and costs, John Gaither, three months, $100 and costs. Judgment was suspended in the cases of Hyman Carpenter and J. D. Reid on the payment by the former of $50 and by the latter of $10. Eli Mason was found guilty.

Today Geo. Ayler, charged with pretending to be able to secure pensions for a number of colored people here, and swindling the gullible out of their money, was convicted and sentenced to two years in Albany penitentiary.

A P A COMMITTEE

All Requested To Meet Tomorrow Morning.

Henry R. Chears of Plymouth, N. C., manager of the Southern States for Wm.
R. Warner & Co., manufacturing chemists, Philadelphia, is in the city for a few days' stay. Mr. Chears is president of the North Carolina Pharmaceutical association, and comes here mainly to confer with Capt. White G. Smith about the preparations Asheville will make for the entertainment of the annual convention of the American Pharmaceutical association, which meets here in September.
Mr. Chears is sure that proper advertisement is given through the pharmaceutical journals of the country there will be fully 500 visitors brought here by the convention. To Mr. Chears' good work is due much of the credit of bringing this large body of representative men of the drug business to Asheville, and he may be assured that the people of the city will show their appreciation by giving the visitors a hearty greeting.

It is now time to begin the preliminary work necessary to the proper entertainment of the pharmacists, and Capt.
Smith, local secretary of the association, requests every member of the committee recently appointed for this purpose to meet tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock in the mayor's office, City Hall. Committee men should be on time.

NO CONEYISM HEREABO

A TRIBUTE BY SENATOR GOR-DON OF GEORGIA

The South Is Consistent In Its Opposition To A Centralized Government And Makes Few Demands Of Congress

WASHINGTON, May 11.—In the Senate today Mr. Allen's resolution to investigate the alleged police clubbing on May 1st came up, and Mr. Gordon took the floor. Looking at the Coxey movement, he said, from a Southern standpoint, it would teach a wise lesson. Its inspiration was paternalism; that theory of government which, if indulged in, would increase a large brood of similar movements in the future and intensify their demands. It had its origin in a great, central, populous and wealthy state, one justly noted for its intelligence and its devotion to law and order.

Divisions of the movement were now moving upon Washington from all directions of the country save one. Every section of the country, save one, was turning a listening ear to Coxey's appeal. That section was the South. The fact was marvelous for its isolation, and monumental in the lesson it taught.
This was not due to the absence of poverty in the South; the South was still poor; it had not yet wholly recovered from the condition in which it was left at the close of the war. It was not because of abundance of currency in the South that accounted for its freedom from the Coxey movement; there was a great dearth of money there. It was not the presence of great national projects for internal improvements. It was not that the South was supplied with pensions and bounties. The Southern people, impoverished by war, were rightfully denied pensions. Their loyalty was not purchased by bounties. They had grown up to look upon the government as a child of the people, not their master, their paid agent, rather than their enemy. They would give it their full quota for support as they would give their blood for its defense. The South also had negro labor, happy, contented, with few wants. The war and its lesson had taught the South, through the bitterest of taskmasters, the necessity of relying on negro labor, not government.
That was the lesson the country should learn and heed.

Gordon then branched off into a discussion of the remedies for present conditions, which remedy he found in a decentralization of power.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—Jacob Coxey's commonwealthers will quit the District of The new camp will be at the famous Spa were more than the commonwealthers had calculated upon. They were willing to be in jail, but working disconcerted the whole army.
