THE STRIKE ABOUT OVER

CARR RUNNING ON NEARLY ALL THE LINES.

Sovereign's Order To The K. of L. Has Not Materialized Yet—Set Down For Next Saturday Violence In California.

DETROIT, July 12.—All roads are handling freight. The strike is over.

CLEVELAND, July 12.—As far as Cleveland is concerned the great strike is at an end.

BYEPAHO, N. Y., July 12.—There is less likelihood here now of the strike succeeding than at any time since the Pullman trouble. Trains are now running on schedule time on all roads.

Perhaps

CHICAGO, July 12.—Though Sovereign's order calling on the Knights of Labor has had no effect, he says he is confident that by Saturday next, after the various local and district assemblies have had time to take formal action on the appeal, the result would show one million men idle as a consequence.

Reward For Murderers.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—The Attorney General has offered a reward of $700 each or $2,000 in all for testimony which will lead to the arrest and conviction of persons or persons named in a week at Sacramento last night which resulted in the death of Engineer Clark and three regular United States soldiers. The reward is $500 for conviction for murderer of each person killed.

Not Much Improved.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., July 12.—At 9 o'clock this morning the situation in northern California presented no new features. No trains were running at Oakland or Sacramento. At Oakland the strikers continued unruly during the night. Early this morning the round house at Oakland was raided and several locomotives damaged. There was no serious outbreak, however.

Freight and Passengers Moving.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., July 11.—All strikers on the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railway, with the exception of some switchmen, have returned to work. The places of most of the switchmen have already been filled. Freight and passenger trains are moving on time.

Butchers Gone On.

CHICAGO, July 12.—All of Smith's, and Morris', and Armour's butchers have gone out. A company of cavalry has been detailed to their packing houses, anticipating trouble, but none has occurred.

All Going Back.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 12.—Engineers of both the Santa Fee and the Southern Pacific railroads decided last night to return to work in a body. This action will be followed by conductors, switchmen, brakemen and firemen.

Fear Violence.

TOLEDO, July 12.—Everything is quite this morning. The men are still out on ten roads, although on the Ohio Central and Pennsylvania they would go to work any time if not in fear of violence at the hands of strikers.

MR. PULLMAN'S VIEW

He Insists That There is No Thing to Arbitrate.

A special to the Waterbury (N. Y.) Standard reports an interview had with George M. Pullman at Castle Rest, Thousand Islands. Mr. Pullman said that he had heard nothing of the demands of the labor conference, and that there is nothing to arbitrate.

"No one more than myself regrets his unfortunate strike," he said. "The question, to my mind, has resolved itself into this: Shall the railroads be permitted to manage their own business, or shall they turn it over into the hands of belts, Howard, and the American Railway Union?"

"What I would especially like to make clear, however, is the position of the Pullman company. When the financial depression began last year we were employing in Pullman 5,346 men, and paying out in wages $305,000 a month.

"The average earnings of all the employees were something over $600 a year, including all classes. The deposits in the Pullman Savings Bank amounted to $188,000. That was in June, 1893, a large percentage, in fact, of that money, represented the savings of the Pullman employees.

"The Pullman service is not a monopoly, but rather a great co-operative institution. During the financial depression we ran our works with a reduced force of 2,000 men. The savings banks deposit fell off to $470,000. We shortly afterward, on obtaining new contracts, increased our force to 4,000 men and the deposits—mind you, under the reduced scale, which they now warrant to be about 25 per cent. lower than it has been for two years—went up to $188,000.

"The Fair closed these cars were no longer needed, and, of course, very few new ones were ordered. This condition of affairs was fully explained at the time piece-work prices were revised.

"There is an impression that the Pullman company, as a property owner, is bound to get back its money from its employees as tenants. This is not so. Rents and other living expenses are very low in Pullman.

"The erecting of houses at Pullman has no relation to the work in the shops. Employers may, and very many do, own or rent their houses outside of the town, and the buildings and business places in the town are rented to employees or to others in competition with neighboring property. In short, the business interests of the Pullman company are governed by the same conditions which govern you or any other property owner except that the company itself does directly some things which in Chicago are assumed by the city."

I. S. ADAMS FOR CONGRESS

NEW CANDIDATE FOR REPRESENTATIVE.

An Able and Popular Democrat Brought Forward For The Suffrages Of The People Of The Sixth Congressional District.

LEWIS, Mo., July 12.—The Democrats of this district cannot afford to make any mistake in the nomination of a candidate for Congress. Of all times this is not the time to nominate a man simply because he is somebody's individual choice, or the choice of any particular section or faction. We must nominate a man whom every individual Democrat will be proud to vote for, and who will unite all factions and bring together all sections of the district.

Such a man I confidently name in the person of Mr. J. S. Adams. I mention the following among Mr. Adams' strong points as a candidate:

1st. He has no enemies in the Democratic party; there is not a Democrat in the district who can find the slightest objection to voting for him.

2nd. His political record is that of an unwavering Democrat; his personal record is that of a gentleman of the highest standing; his professional record is that of an exceedingly able and efficient lawyer. He cannot be successfully attacked from any standpoint. His campaign will be one of strong argument from the beginning to the end. He has nothing to defend so far as his own record is concerned, and having nothing whatever to defend he will be all the more powerful on the attack, and his attack of his adversary will be effective and absolute. He will have no occasion to ask any quarter, and he will certainly give none.

3. Where he is known he has probably more and stronger personal friends than any man in the district; friends who live in line with an integrity that amounts to absolute devotion; friends who sense a special personal obligation, but friends whom his real intrinsic worth has grappled to him with hooks of steel. These friends will regard his candidacy, not only as a matter of political interest, but as a matter of personal honor, and will suggest the power and influence of a number of such friends.

Let the Democrats of this district nominate Mr. Adams, and all idea of defeat will be at once eliminated, and the question will then be only one of propriety. Democrat.

ASHEVILLE CONVOCATION

Interesting Discussion as to New Missionary Jurisdiction.

The second day's business session of the convocation met yesterday in the chapel of Trinity church at 3 p. m. After an invitation from the dean, followed by some discussion emphasizing the obligation of each one's attending the meetings of the convocation, it was decided to have the next meeting in Franklin, N. C., in the early part of October.

Upon motion of Mr. Pidge, it was ordered that the secretary have printed blank forms for submission of reports of services, baptisms, confirmations, burials, etc., and that each pastor and missionary report by them to the dean once a quarter, and that from this matter the dean prepare a narrative to be made at each meeting of the convocation.

In every way there seemed to be a determination of the part of the members of the convocation to make the meetings more vigorous and helpful than they have ever been in the past.

The missionary service and public discussion of the individuality of erasing the western part of this diocese into a missionary jurisdiction with Asheville as a center, was held in Trinity church at 8:30 p. m. The dean then opened the discussion and was followed by the Rev. Mr. Kaitlin who demonstrated the sad fact of great weakness in many places. T. W. Patton next spoke on the side of the laymen, making a vigorous speech and arguing, it would not succeed in this diocese that effort be made to obtain earnest laymen who could settle in the different parts of the field and by their faithful lives and influence prepare the way for the work of the clergy.

The convocation adjourned with the night services.

MYSTICAL MULEP

D. DUKE'S S. Marshal Sluder held Them And is Arrested.

Deputy Sheriff Hampton has arrested I. E. Sluder, jr., of Licksville township, near Alexander's on a capias for obtaining money under false pretenses, and on a warrant for trading mortgaged property and mortgaging the same in his possession. There was also a United States warrant against him. He had told parties that he had warrants against them for violation of the revenue laws, but did not wish to arrest and would refrain from doing so for a consideration. He also sold two mules that existed solely in his imagination.

Sluder was a justice of the Peace and a deputy U. S. Marshal. He was nabbed about 12 miles from Asheville, in an old field, and when found was sitting by a fire, with an empty pig and several bottles near at hand. He is now residing in the city jail and has sent in his resignation as J. J.

Deputy Sheriff Hampton says he was up for three nights in succession before he succeeded in capturing Sluder.

MAJOR W. H. MALONE DEAD

HE EXPIRED SUDDENLY IN STATEVILLE.

A Native of Virginia—Had Lived In Tennessee and North Carolina—Once a Candidate For Congress—Author of Law Works.

The entire city was shocked this morning by a telegram from Statesville announcing the sudden death at 11 o'clock last night of Major W. H. Malone, who had gone to Statesville on yesterday on a pleasure trip.

Major Malone left Asheville yesterday on the 2:30 train, apparently in the best of health. Last night, after tea, he called upon one of his friends in Statesville, and on leaving got as far as the front door, then turned and walked into the parlor, evidently endeavoring to reach the sofa. He dropped dead before he could reach it. His body was taken to his hotel, and Chas. W. Malone, A. H. Malone and Bettis Malone left today on the 2:30 train to take charge of the remains.

William Henry Malone was born July 24th, 1832, in Wythe county, Virginia. His father was a native of North Carolina. His father moved to Tennessee in 1840. He was educated in a country school, taking also a short course in college. He studied law, was admitted to practice in Tennessee in 1854, and practiced six or seven years in that State, and was for awhile a law partner of Col. John Baxter of Knoxville, afterwards United States Judge. In 1862 he obtained license to practice law in North Carolina, where he has practiced ever since. In 1860 Governor Harris of Tennessee appointed him Attorney General for the 2nd Judicial District of that State, which office he held for two years, when the Federal troops took possession of the country. In the Presidential election in 1860 he was a Douglas elector for the Knoxville District. He was elected to the Constitutional Convention in 1861 in Tennessee, but the convention was voted down. He did some military service and was assigned to duty at the Morgan Salt Works for his State under the supervision of the Governor of the State. He held this position until the close of the war. The results of the war decided Major Malone to settle in North Carolina. Settling first in Caldwell county, he represented that county in the lower House of the Legislature for two years. He acted as clerk of the Congressional Committee on Patents for six years, of which committee Gen. R. B. Vance was chairman. In 1880 Major Malone was again independent candidate for Congress, against Thos. D. Johnston and the Republican candidate. He carried Buncombe county and several other counties in the district, but was defeated.

Major Malone has been living in Asheville since the early '70s, where he has been engaged in the practice of law. He is the author of two law books, "Real Property Trusts" and "Criminal Trials," both of which have a wide circulation. In 1892, after cooperating for a time with the Third Party movement, Major Malone withdrew from the movement in a letter that was sent broadcast over the State by the State Democratic Executive committee. He had been recently preparing a letter showing the utter folly of the Democrats joining the Populist movement and also the unwisdom of the Populists joining the Republican party. The letter was to have been published very soon. Major Malone was twice married; his first wife being a daughter of Col. Warham Estley of Tennessee, and his second wife a daughter of Col. J. S. McIlroy and a sister-in-law of Gen. Robert B. Vance. At the time Major Malone was regarded as a lawyer of great learning and was recognized by his profession as one of its broadest and most honorable members. Says a prominent member of the Asheville bar, "I have never known a more liberal minded man."

Major Malone's body will be brought to Asheville tomorrow afternoon, and the funeral is expected to take place from the home of C. W. Malone at 5:30. The burial will be in the family burial ground in Riverside cemetery.

Owens Gets Wages.

In the law between J. L. Owens and C. B. Rouns of the Kacket store, which has been before arbitrators for two weeks Owens yesterday obtained judgment for $500. Owens had sued Rouns for $850 for services, and the latter had been paid $750 on a claim for 600 gold. The arbitrators were E. J. Stokely, J. D. Brevard and T. C. Smith. Locke Craig, of Carter and Craig, represented Owens. Rouns was represented by Fincher and Murphy.

He Was Pardoned.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—Capt. W. H. Murdough, supervising inspector of steam vessels for the Third district, with headquarters at Norfolk, Va., has received his commission. It had been withheld under the impression that he had never been pardoned for serving in the Confederate navy. His name, however, was found in the pardon act of 1875 and he was qualified at once.
