TUESDAY, JULY 17, 1894.

PRESIDENT Cleveland is first in war anyhow.

DEBS and Sovereign are striking all by themselves now.

COOK County, Ill., can now walk up to the captain's office and settle. Alt gelds come high. It is estimated that damage was done to the amount of one or two millions of dollars in and around Chicago during the strike.

THE Minneapolis carnel for her builders, the Cramps, a premium of about $400,000 by her excess of speed over what the contract called for. The chance of the government ever getting the value of that extra expenditure is as remote as war itself.

THE Yale men carried off a goodly share of the prizes in the international contest with the Oxford athletes yesterday, but the Vigilant was beaten for the seventh time. Like a certain base ball club the American boat does best in home waters. Away from home she gets into hot water.

A FEW Republican papers have been trying to force the strike to do duty as a campaign document, but the effort will be a failure. Even the most recent of Republican converts—that kind is always the most zealous for a time—will hardly charge up to the present Democratic administration the strikes of 1877. They lasted longer than did the last one, and cost probably four times as much. That this was so was largely because the Republican administration of that date failed to grasp the seriousness of the situation as quickly as did the present one. It will be long before the country will forget the teachings of the last ten days in Chicago. They recite that this government is strong enough to put down any threatened lawlessness if only the law be invoked in time.

A POPULIST PROPOSITION

Mr. Peffer offered resolutions looking to the government control of all railroads engaged in inter state commerce, to uniformity of transportation rates on freight and passenger throughout the country, to the government (of State) ownership and operation of coal beds, to the supply of money by the government alone, to a uniform rate of interest, and to raising all the revenue of the government by taxes on real estate.—Senate Reports.

Mr. Butler is authority for the statement that the Populists of the North-west and the Populists of the South are in full accord, working for the same results. The Populists of the South therefore, in being in accord with those of the West, represented by Senator Peffer, are in favor of doing away with all tariff taxes and having Federal depts. marshals collect all Federal revenues from the people by taxation upon their lands. The share North Carolina would have to pay directly would amount to more than ten millions of dollars, besides three millions now paid on whisky and tobacco, and three millions paid for state, county, municipal and school and pension taxes. Are the land owners of the State in favor of this?

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

As Voter Sees It

EDITOR THE CITIZEN:—Ability, integrity and reputation are very largely the portion of Judge Shuford—he has had opportunities and improved them. The friends of H. B. Carter are his friends. The judgeship of the criminal court has been passed to both. Judge Shuford will have filled successfully a three years' term of the higher court. Both a short and other men are deserving and ambitious. Now that there is an opportunity, why not let the honors be passed along the line to Judge Carter. Who can question his fairness or doubt his strength for the party. It really is to attempt to handicap Judge Carter with the fact that some of his kin had sought office and found it. Hasn't the murderer's kin done the same thing? Will these detract from your merit or is it just cause for the country loses needed talent. Every man is an office seeker if the truth were known, especially if the office is a lucrative. Just as well hold a man responsible for the acts of his great-great-grandfather.

Judge Carter will make a "home run."

Voter.

July 14, 1894.

Carter and Adams.

EDITOR THE CITIZEN:—I hope you will allow me space in your paper to inform your many readers that I have asked numerous voters in this section about ex Judge H. B. Carter as a candidate for Judge of the 12th district. It seems to be the undivided sentiment that he is the man for the place and must have the nomination. All who know Mr. Carter—and he was raised amongst us—know that he has the reputation of being a man of brains and character.

Allow me also to say I am gratified at the prospect of having such a man as Joe Adams in the next Congress. He will be the best man I could name to beat Pearson—who stands this year for everything opposed to Democracy and good government from Republican to Populist. I nominate Joseph S. Adams for Congress! A Democrat.

Weaverville, July 13.

No Debsism Here.

From the New Orleans States.

The States has on several occasions called attention to the fact that when the whole of the country was in a state of uncertainty and anxiety on account of the march of the industrial armies, that the South was entirely free of Coxeyism. It was a fact that attracted the attention of the North, East and West, and they wondered why it was the South should be prosperous and peaceful while other sections were in alarm and distress. As the South was then free of Coxeyism, so should it now be free of Debsism, and it will be to the honor and credit of our working classes if they shut out Debsism. It will also be to their benefit, because capital recognizing and appreciating the conservatism of our labor, will gladly invest in factories and other enterprises that employ and remunerate labor.

"WAS CHRIST A SOCIALIST?"

Rev. Henry A. Westall's Sermon Sunday.

Sunday the Rev. Henry A. Westall, pastor of the Unitarian church, took for his subject, "Was Christ a Socialist?" basing his discourse upon Luke xxii: 20-21. After distinguishing between the various forms of socialism, he said, among other things: "Christ was not a socialist in the common acceptation of the term, nor was He an individualist as that term is usually understood. The most that can be justly claimed is that His teachings, if faithfully lived up to, would result in a new social order. 'Seek ye first the Kingdom of God,' was the primary aim He set before every human life, and the 'Kingdom of God' was something very real and tangible—not a divine city, which men have put far away in the heavens and at the end of time, but a glorified human society—a state of things here corresponding in some high degree, to that which we hope and pray for hereafter. Therefore He taught His disciples to pray, 'Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven.' Indeed, the whole gospel is attuned to this key.

"But while this is so, Christ's method was very different from that of the modern socialists. They assume that what is needed is a new environment, that is, better conditions, better laws. They begin with society; they seek to rid the world of evil chiefly by means of legislation. Their method is mechanical.

"Christ, on the other hand, assumed that what was needed was not so much a new environment, as a new man. He began with the individual. He did not try to change directly the industrial and social order of His time. He found His country groaning under one of the most oppressive tariffs ever imposed on any people, but He did not preach free trade. He beheld men sunken in the most debasing slavery, but he did not preach abolition. He beheld everywhere the sad effects of intemperance, but He did not preach prohibition. And why? Not because He was insensible to the ruin which these evils wrought; but because the reform He sought to accomplish was a moral, rather than a political reform. He knew that ere the stream could be purified, the fountain must be cleansed; and so He appealed to the heart and conscience of man. To Nicodemus He said, 'Except a man be born again he cannot see the Kingdom of God.'

"Such was the [illegible] method, and such must be the method of all those who are inspired by the spirit. We are moving on to momentous issues; great problems are waiting to be solved; but, if society is to be liberated and reconstructed it must be in accordance with the spirit and principles of Christ."

MYSTERIES OF LIGHTNING

Curious Freaks Of The Fluid Now Under Study.

[illegible] D. C., July 15.—Were I to read [illegible] statement I am about to make, and not leave the opportunity for [illegible] examination, I would doubt it.

About 12 o'clock today the negroes were conducting religious services in their church near here, when a thunder storm came accompanied by severe lightning and heavy rain. An electric bolt struck the east end of the church on the roof, tore a great hole, scattering shingles and weather boarding in every direction, and descended to the inside of the building immediately in front of the pulpit. Wm. Coleman was sitting on a bench immediately in rear of the minister and between two pieces of scantling which were shattered, yet he was not partially injured. Part of the pulpit platform was shattered and the preacher, Lee Williams, was stunned shockless.

I have just returned from making a survey of the scene and can positively say that the mysteries of electricity and the providence of God are indeed wonderful. The standing posts are 22 inches apart, the one from which Coleman was thrown is three feet and he was not killed.

Williams, who is a stranger in this section and comes from Tennessee on a missionary, is a standing article now and was in close quarters. There is burned spot on the back just where the clavicle meets each extremity of his shoulders and his right shoulder was bruised and torn at the top. Though he shows no other marks of injury, I think he will die, as he is stupid and cold.

Bert Roberts was sitting on a bench with his feet resting against the wall at the time the bolt struck and had one of his shoes burned off, his foot receiving a shock, but walked home. Several others were shocked but I think all will recover except Williams. [illegible]

Not An Industrial Hell

[illegible]

Our correspondent at Chicago who devoted [illegible] to the examination of the conditions of labor which caused the first symptoms of this disease has simply told facts which were well known already to all well informed persons. With every disposition to find grievances to justify the discontent of the Pullman employes, the correspondent was compelled to discover and announce the real facts of industrial existence there, and these facts showed that instead of being an industrial hell where labor was reduced to slavery and degradation, Pullman was designed by its founder to be, and was during periods of active and successful business something very like an industrial paradise. No where on earth was labor better housed or better cared for in all those respects in which a community can provide for individual wants.

Fire in Burning of W. Va.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., July 17.—The central part of this city was visited by a fire this morning. A number of frame structures on the east side of Ninth street, including the building occupied by the Daily Advertiser was totally destroyed. The flames communicated to the Florentine hotel, destroying part of it. Loss $25,000; partly insured.

DR. R. V. PIERCE: Dear Sir—My wife was afflicted with asthma for twenty years; as she grew older she grew worse. Her case was treated by three eminent doctors, but all failed; they told me there was no cure for it.

Discouraged as I was, I resolved to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery; she used five bottles and two vials of your "Pleasant Pellets," which has made a permanent cure. She has gained twenty pounds in weight since the cure was effected.
