TARIFF BILL IS PASSED

HOUSE ADOPTS THE SENATE MEASURE.

It Also Passes Bills, and Sends Them to The Senate, Putting Coal, Sugar, Iron Ore and Barbed Wire on The Free List.—The President Will Not Sign.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—In the House yesterday afternoon there was introduced the expected order from the Committee on Rules relating to the consideration of the tariff bill and cognate measures. It provided that it should be in order after the passage of the order to move that the action of the House requesting a further conference on the tariff bill be rescinded; that the conferees be discharged from further duty in connection therewith; and that the House agree to the Senate amendments in bulk, which motion shall be debated two hours, when the vote on its adoption and the motion shall be indivisible. Second, that it shall be in order after the introduction of the order, to present in the House and consider without reference to any committee, bills for placing sugar, coal, iron ore and barbed wire upon the free list. Thirty minutes shall be given for the discussion of each bill, and then a vote shall be taken.

Mr. Reed demanded the yeas and nays, and the House order was adopted, 179 to 97, not voting 11. Upon the announcement of the vote Chairman Wilson immediately submitted in writing the motion provided for in the order adopted.

Mr. Reed made the point that the order was not before the House. The bill had been brought in, however, during the roll call, and the Speaker pointed to it. Mr. Reed sat down discomfitedly.

Mr. McMillan, a member of the Ways and Means committee, pointed out some of the good features of the Senate bill, free wool, free lumber, free hemp, etc., and the reductions in the general schedule.

Mr. Tarsney, Democrat of Missouri, made a bitter attack on the Senate bill. He said the highest authority in the Democratic party had stigmatized the bill as a "black bill."

Mr. Wilson then demanded a vote on the resolution. The yeas and nays were ordered and resulted: Yeas 182, nays 106; present and not voting 3. So the Senate bill was adopted.

Mr. Wilson then introduced, one after another, and the House passed, separate bills providing for the free admission into the United States of coal, iron ore, sugar and barbed wire. Free sugar passed by a vote of 276 to 11.

In the Senate today as soon as the journal was read, the chief clerk of the House appeared and delivered a message announcing the passage by the House of bills to place on the free list sugar, bituminous coal, iron ore and barbed wire. The message made no allusion to the concurrence of the House in all the Senate amendments to the tariff bill.

When the vice-president laid before the Senate the free list bills, Manderson asked that they be read at length and objected to a second reading of all of them. Hill gave notice of amendments to each of the bills, providing for the repeal of all income taxes. The separate bills will not come up until tomorrow.

The tariff bill will tomorrow, when both Houses are in session, receive the signatures of Speaker Crisp and Vice-President Stevenson. The bill will then be taken to the President who, it is believed, will let the bill become a law without his signature.

TEMPERANCE DELEGATES

Business of The Meeting in The Court House.

At the temperance meeting in the court house last evening Rev. Dr. James Atkins of the Asheville Female college was called to the chair, and briefly explained the object of the meeting, which was to send delegates to the State Temperance conference called to meet at Greensboro tomorrow, the 15th. The conference is to be composed of temperance workers all along that line of thought, irrespective of their religious and political affiliations, the prime object being, to devise the best means possible to rid the State of the whiskey traffic. Rev. J. M. Johnson was appointed secretary.

The following gentlemen were appointed delegates, representing the several denominations and various political parties: Rev. J. L. White, Rev. Dr. Atkins, Maj. T. C. Westall, P. A. Cummings, esq., Rev. J. M. Johnson, R. U. Garrett and Rev. J. R. Cannon.

Messrs. Albright, Westall and Johnson made brief, pointed remarks. Maj. Westall, when appointed a delegate said, substantially: "I have been a temperance worker all my life. Fifty-four years ago, when a mere child, I joined the Washingtonian society, and since then I have worked with all the temperance organizations. And, gentlemen, you know where I stand today. Now, if you can show me a better place to stand where I can more effectively fight the great evil of the 19th century, I will anxiously leap to the position. If you can't do that I'll stay where I am. From the number present this evening one would judge the temperance sentiment to be at a low ebb in Asheville. The announcement for this meeting was made in all the churches last Sunday and individuals have been working it up diligently ever since. Now look at the audience, (16 persons, curious spectators and all) from a city of 12,000 people, and this meeting on the subject of the greatest evil that ever cursed humanity. A stranger to look in on us now would judge us to be a belated survival of something, a fossil of bygone days of human thought."

One Thing Paul Would Do.

Mr. Blank was looking over his Saturday's CITIZEN. While reading the church notices he asked aloud "What would Paul do if he came to Asheville?" "Taking the subject of a Sunday sermon," "Go to Vanderbilt's," Mrs. Blank replied without hesitation.

THE VANGLIDERS IN IT.

They Defeat the Berkeley Players by a Score of 18 to 15.

The ball game at Allandale yesterday between the Hotel Berkeley eating association and the Vangilder nine spoke volumes for the Vangilder cuisine. The game was remarkable in many ways, but the chief feature was the fact that three umpires were retired breathless before the score was finished. "Babe" Lanier was the first to take charge, but the last half of the first inning was not finished before indignation loud and deep was expressed at his putting out Robertson at first and retiring the Berkleys with only a fully developed goose egg to their credit.

In the second Thad Thrash was knocked silly by a batted ball striking him over the right eye, cutting an ugly gash and closing his optic in less than a minute. The umpire saved him from falling, but the shock was such that Lanier concluded soon that another set of nerves would do better in charge of the game, and so he retired, and so did both sides, with 0.

The Vangilders showed the staying qualities of their food by piling up five runs in the third, which were started on a wild ball from Rankin to first, and stopped by giving Quint a start on being struck a resounding lick in the center of the back with the ball. The Berkleys could harvest only one.

In the fourth the Berkleys began to do work, Nat Rogers hitting the ball plumb in the eye and scaring a timid fielder so he feared to tackle it, and the inning closed 2 to 1 in favor of the B's.

In the fifth the Berkleys played ball right, the Vangilders helping them to a good start by Dr. Roberts muffing an easy fly that was in Stephens' hands. Rogers got in another hit, and was hit by a score of 5 to 0.

The Vangilders in the sixth gave the death blow of 6 to 0, notwithstanding the Berkleys came back with six in the next inning to the Vangilders 2. Metz had arisen, flourished and retired as umpire during these innings, and Green came in for the home stretch.

It was almost eggs for the Berkleys from the seventh to the finish, while the Vangilders strung up 3, the score standing 18 to 15 in their favor at the close. The Berkleys are not willing to rest under their defeat, and have challenged the Vangilders for another game.

The players and positions were: Berkleys—Rankin, p.; Rogers, s. s.; Robertson, 3b.; Thrash, c. f.; C. S. Jordan, c. f.; Patton, c. Smith, f.; Merrimon, r. f.; H. Merrimon, 2b.; Nichols, 1b.; Vangilders—A. Roberts, 1b.; G. O. Roberts, s. s.; Fletcher, c.; Stephens, 2b.; Webster, 3b.; Millard, c. f.; Quirt, l. f.; Brown, p.; Bearden, r. f.

AT THE SOUTHERN DEPOT.

Paragraphs That Railroad Men Talk About.

Two of the car inspectors at Point Rock have been taken off duty. Heretofore there has been separate inspection of cars by the two roads at this point, but there is now a joint inspection.

Further than this, it is understood that the Southern is gradually going away with Point Rock as a station for re-billing freight. When this is done freights will go through over this line without stop unless it is decided to have "the Rock" remain as the end of the run. However, this is something as yet unsettled.

The longest train ever brought over the Asheville and Spartanburg road came in yesterday afternoon. There were 44 cars in the "string," mostly empty coal cars, and the unusual sight is said to have caused a deal of excitement among the natives along the route. The train was hauled by Nos. 510 and 558, two of the consolidation engines.

The annual midsummer excursions will be run to Asheville and other points in Western North Carolina tomorrow and Thursday. There will be two sections of No. 13 tomorrow and probably several extra coaches Thursday. The excursionists come from all parts of the South and their tickets are good till October.

Cabbage shipments from Hendersonville are increasing daily and there is a cry for more cars to satisfy the shippers. An average of three cars a day are sent west, but the number will be larger a little later. These cabbages find a ready market in South Carolina, Georgia and Florida.

There is a shipper at Sandy Bottom who has told the company he does not want yellow cars to ship in. Nothing but red cars, and newly painted ones, too, will be recognized by him.

Chief Dispatcher Newell is a stiff-necked official, but it is on account of a car-buncle that is giving him a deal of discomfort.

There is nothing definite yet about the restible, but something is expected before a great while.

DEATH IN MARION.

W. P. Blanton, Formerly of Asheville, Dies This Morning.

W. P. Blanton died at his home at Marion this morning at 2 o'clock of typhoid fever. Mr. Blanton's brothers here, Chas. D., Cepha, and J. D. Blanton, had been notified of his critical condition and left for his bedside last night, but he died before they reached him.

Mr. Blanton was formerly in business in Asheville, being connected with the management of a shoe store and a livery stable, and had many friends here, who who are all pained to hear of his death. He was about 32 years old and had a wife and five children. His remains will be interred at Marion.

For Superior Court Clerk.

W. B. Gwyn also has a card in today's paper announcing himself a candidate for this office, subject to the convention's action.

Lightning Killed Mr.

NORFOLK, Va., Aug. 14.—During the thunderstorm in Norfolk county yesterday afternoon Miss Mary Harper, the 15 years old daughter of C. W. Harper of the Norfolk and Carolina railroad, was struck by lightning while sitting at an open window of her residence near Piner's Point and instantly killed.

CLEVELAND AND SILVER

FIGHTING GROUND OF THE TEXAS CONVENTION.

Dallas Fall of Untried Democracy—Candidates Galore—Nominations Will Not be Reached Before Wednesday—at The Earliest.

DALLAS, Tex., Aug. 14.—The Democratic State convention met here at noon today. There were 1,500 visitors present. The convention organized by the election of J. R. Flemming of San Antonio for temporary chairman.

Every office except treasurer has from two to six candidates.

The questions of endorsing Cleveland and the silver issue are being fought over this afternoon. The nomination of candidates will not be reached before tomorrow.

AN URGENT APPEAL.

The Flower Mission Asks Help at Once for Needy Ones

Miss Anna C. Aston, first vice-president of the Flower Mission, issues the following appeal on behalf of the needy in Asheville:

"The Flower Mission, Asheville's associated charity organization, feels constrained to make a strong appeal in behalf of the needy within our city limits. For three months the officers and superintendents of the organization have been furnishing supplies from their own nurses, refusing to give orders to grocers and druggists, said orders to be met by the Flower Mission treasurer. An entertainment was given meantime, under auspices of the Flower Mission, and by these methods it was hoped that no special appeal through the press would be necessary. But there are several instances of sorest need in different parts of the city, particularly near the factory district. These cases, were they related in detail, would melt a heart of stone, and the members of the Mission are doing all that is possible to assist, but as this is one of Asheville's associated endeavors, it is not expected nor desired that the members should assume the whole burden of responsibility, therefore we know that it is only necessary to let the facts be known in order to have friends come to our aid. In every emergency experience we have found the generous public ready to assist, therefore we feel sure of being immediately relieved of embarrassment by telling our tale of woe. Upon two former occasions during winter severities, our treasury was reimbursed to the amount of several hundred dollars. We now would feel sufficiently relieved by a contribution of $100 and hope that every one will share in this fund, leaving contributions with THE CITIZEN at once, as the need is immediate. Mrs. Eli Mustin, treasurer of the Flower Mission, will call at THE CITIZEN office tomorrow afternoon, hoping to find a liberal response to the foregoing appeal."

A BAD BANK MAN

He is Gathered Into Jail in Maryland.

BLAIR, Md., Aug. 14.—Mr. Burnett, cashier of the First National bank of Richmond, came to Blair yesterday and identified George P. Sage, alias Horace D. Baker, now in jail here, as the same man who deposited a forged draft in the First National bank of Richmond in the early spring of 1893. He defrauded several persons in Richmond and Petersburg after having won the confidence of many through his work with the Christian Endeavor society, the Young Men's Christian association and the Good Templars. He was then known as Harvey Blair. Burnett says the prisoner is the most dangerous man in the United States to banks generally.

THE CONVENTION

It Will Meet at 8 p. m. Tomorrow in the Opera House.

Once more the hour for the assembling of the Ninth district Democratic Congressional convention tomorrow has been changed, as will be seen by the following notice:

"For the convenience of delegates, and at the solicitation of a large number of them, the Congressional convention will be called to order at 8 o'clock p. m. August 15, at the Grand opera house, instead of 3 p. m. as heretofore announced. "M. E. Carter, Chairman."

Great Rush For Whiskey.
