THERE were few Populists in Congress but if they had had their way their bills would have appropriated over thirty five billions of money. Where would that money have come from, except fro the pockets of the people?

SIGNIFICANT ESTIMATE.

The Charlotte News says the nation al Republican campaign committee at Washington has decided not to send any money into North Carolina for cam paign purposes this year; that they have abandoned North Carolina to the Democrats as finally committed against Ke publicanism.

This decision seems remarkable at firs examination, especially as the Republic cans are to have the assistance of some of the Populists. But the News says the national Republican committee fig ured it out in this way: The Populists policil.

The Democrats in the last three years have collected and expended for public schools $2,274,674.36.

Harper's Magazine.

What is so cheap as a good magazine Apparently the answer to this question is, "Nothing." Harper's, for example during the past year has printed two novels. "Trilby" and "The Golden House," which, in book form, will sell for the subscription price of the mag-zine, or a little less. Add to these sixty short storics (enough for five books) by the best American and English writers as many illustrated articles descriptive of travel, or of scientific interest, the comments on current events in the "Editor's Study," and the humorous anecdotes of the "Editor's Drawer," and the reader has every year two volumes of nearly a thousand pages each, filled with the best literature and the best illustrative art, in a variety that a large library could bardly surpass.

he Triumphal Procession Still Con tinues-A New Triffe Introduced. ROBBINSVILLE, N. C., Oct. 1 .- Never before was as many people assembled in the little village on the hill as today. More than two-thirds of the voters were present. The Republicans took advanage of the occasion by having their county convention which enabled them o get out a large per cent. of their voters.

The Democrats had spared no efforts, and the unterrified were here by the hunlreds. The Asheville Register was circulated protusely among the Republians, loaded down with its blatant misrepresentations claiming that Pearson had literally annihilated Crawford at Canton and elsewhere. This of course made some believe that there was really self-constituted, self-imposed non-descript politician who has to the present absoodist church and every foot of standing room was occupied and a large number were not able to get into the house. Pearson led off in an hour and a quarter speech. He still, despite his promise, devotes the most of his time to the little frivolous charges against Crawford, which are so familiar to the people that they would become nauscating if I were to repeat them daily. It is evident to all intelligent people that a man was never in more desperate straits for ten-able foothold than Pearson is in attempting to sustain his candidacy. He is now in the last ditch and the lowest place in the ditch. His only hope is in the ignor-ance and prejudice of the people, supple-mented by boodle; for it is boldly stated that money has been offered Democrats to engage in the campaign in his behalf The patriotic, unpurchasable voters in respective of party, will see to it that the Ninth district is not debauched, either by money, false pretense or fraud.

Pearson's effort today was the weak-est he has yet made. He attempted to make the people believe that the Indian appropriation bill carried large sums for Catholic schools and other sectarian schools, when as a matter of fact, there is not a word of truth in in the charge. is not a word of truth in in the charge. It has been the policy of the government for many years, adopted by the Republi-can party, to educate a large number of Indian children, in established schools by contract without regard to the reli-gious views entertained by those in charge of such schools, just as some of our own Indian children were educated at Judson and Trinity. Mr. Crawford exposed this attempt to arouse religious speak, to seeing over a condition that never ex-isted, showing that the government never recognized any man's religion either to qualify or disqualify him to enjoy the therties of American citizenship. Pear son was held up to the scorn and con tempt of the people in a way that made him squirm and twist.

Mr. Crawford gave a spicy and racy account of Pearson's candidacy and nomination, his flirtations with the Third party and his little three legged platform, and scored him unmercitully on his incons stencies and humburgery. Then he took up the tariff bill and in a masterly way pointed out the great benefits to the common people by put-He also pointed out the fact that the present Congress had reclaimed 54,000,-000 acres of the public lands from rail-road corporations. They also repealed the Federal election law; all of which he made Pearson admit that he would have tom a Chicago telegram.

DISLIKE THE TELEGRAPH. The Chinese Regard It as an Instrumen

Two American bleyclers, Allen and Sachtleben, tell in the Century of their meeting with a Chinaman in the heart of the flowery kingdom who electrified them by addressing them in the purest English. "He was one of that party of mandarins' sons which had been sent over to our country some years ago, as an experiment by the Chines government, to receive a thorough American training. We cannot here give the history of that experiment, as Mr. Woo related it-how they were subsequently accused of cutting off their queues and becoming denational-ized, how, in consequence, they were recalled to their native land, and de graded rather than elevated, both by the people and the government, because they were foreign in their sentisomething substantial in the Duke; but as the debate progressed they saw it was they gradually began to force recognitheir lot to follow the leadership of this tion through the power of merit alone lie had now been sent out by the gov-ernment to engineer the extension of lutely refused to endorse any political the telegraph line from Su-chou to party or any well defined principles.

The discussion took place in the Methorement that the employment of a foreigner in this capacity would only increase the power for evil which the na-tives already attributed to this foreign innovation. The similarity in the phrases telegraph pole and dry heaven had inspired the common belief that the line of poles then stretching across the country was responsible for the long-existing drought. In one night several miles of poles were sawed short off, by the secret order of a banded conspiracy. After several decapitations, the poles were now being re-stored, and labeled with the words:

'Put up by order of the emperor.'" PARIS SEWER BOOTS.

How They Are Utilized in Making Fine

Speaking of the fashions brings us to an odd discovery which has recently been made. There is a small shop on the other side of the Seine, in the Rue des Ecoles, which deals exclusively with the second-hand boots of the mer who work in sewers. These boots, says a Paris letter, are furnished by the state, and come half way up to the thigh, and each man is allowed a new pair every six months. When new they cost nine dollars; when sold second hand they realize the modest sum of fifty cents; but as at least six thousand pairs per annum are sent to the Ruc des Ecoles it makes quite a booming

The leather of these boots is, so to speak, tanned by the alkaline and greasy water in which the sewer-cleaners so perpetually paddle, and they are eagerly sought for by the great Parisian bootmakers; for this leather, being at once tough and light, serves to sustain the curve of the Louis XV. heel. At first this was done by a piece of iron; but that was heavy and clumsy, so finally the ingenious dealer hit upon this substitute, to the delight of the sewer-cleaners, who realized a modest sum, and the content of the fashionable bootmaker, whose shoes profited by the change; but the great ady whose satin-shod feet glide over the earth with such majesty of gait little knows that one of the component parts of her dainty footgear has risen from a sewer to reach her.

THE GRAVE OF LAFAYETTE. An American Flag Has Always Waved Over it.

"While in Paris a short while ago," said a traveler recently, according to the Washington Post, "it occurred to me that it was a fitting act to make a pligrimage to the tomb of that illustrious Frenchman dear to the hearts of all American patriots, Marquis de La Fayette. I asked a number of people before I could find anyone to enten me as to the spot, but after peated inquiry ascertained its location. The grave is situated in old Paris, within the grounds of a convent that the ancestors of La Fayette founded. and where repose the remains of many of the French nobility.

"The first thing that attracted my attention in connection with the hero's tomb was that above it floated a silken flag, bearing the Stars and Stripes. It seems that a good many years ago an American gentleman left in his will a sum of money to be used for the special purpose of keeping an American fing forever flying above the grave of La Fayette. It has done so without intermission from the day the will went into effect, and whenever through the wear of the elements one flag becomes unserviceable, a new one straightway takes its place. Through untold centuries the emblem of the country which in its early struggles for liberty had his beneficent aid will wave above his ashes.

Misunderstood.

'We will go away some where by ourselves, my dear,' I said; 'there will be no flourish, no cards, no ceremony'-here she interrupted me, and, with a dignified sweep of her arm, declared: 'Mr. —, I shall certainly insist upon a ceremony."

"Half-Sick."

It is not the great sicknesses or the great trials that are hardest to bear. It is the little vexations, the petty annoyances, the "martyrdom of trifles."

Take the case of a woman who has constant headaches, nervous break-downs, bilious attacks, disziness, loss of appetite, etc. She is never wholly sich and yet never well. She is expected to be "up and about her work," yet she suffers keenly.

It is simply a case of biliousness and torpid liver, under which her system is running down. She wants, first of all, to take a liver pill which will cause the bowels to discharge all the secreted bile which is poisoning the blood. When the bowles are thoroughly opened she has removed the chief irritant. Now for the next ten days she wants simply a powerful tonic and blood purifier to strengthen the system and repair the waste.

You can get both of these medicines in two separate boxes at one price, 25 cents, by asking your druggist for Ramon's Tonic Liver Pills and Peliets. (If bought separately in any other form they would cost double. They are a sure cure for constipation and biliousness. Try this once.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Sept. 3, 1894.

Rditor of The Citizen:—Will you please give space for this notice at my expense from this date until the next election:

Until recently I did not know that betting or elections was a violation of the law in North Carolina, and I am sure that this injurious custom has been indulged in, by many good and loyal citizens of our State who love her too well to wilfully disregard her laws. To such persons it is only necessary to refer to Section 2717 of the Code and it will be readily obeyed. Should we unfortunately have among us any person who is so wanting in patriotism as to offer or accept a bet upon the result of any election hereafter, to such person I give fair notice that it is both my duty and my pleasure to uphold and enforce all laws of my State, as well as I possibly can, and that disregard of the law referred to in past days will not, after publication of this notice, be taken in any degree as an excuse for a repetition of this offense. Very Respectfully,

T. W. PA Tron.

We heartily concur in the above and will lend all the absistance in our power to the enforcement of the law.
