Rubber Shoes

Are branded on the sole by the maker. The name stands for a first, second or third quality. Some are poor nameless, stray wafers with no brand on. When a rubber shoe breaks or splits by the side, or a hole wears in the heel in a few days they let in so much water and mud they wet the shoe worse than if you had no rubber on. It's an easy matter to get a durable rubber, buy the right makes. That's the only kind we keep.

CARLISLE EXPLAINS HIS PLAN

THE GOVERNMENT DIVORCED FROM BANKING.

Difference Between This and the Baltimore Plan The Ultimate Liability Placed on the Banks, Not on the Government—Elasticity of the Currency.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—Standing at the foot of the long table in the ways and means committee room of the House this morning Secretary Carlisle explained in detail to the banking and currency committee the plan recommended by him for a new banking law. All of the seventeen members of the committee except four were in their seats as early as 10 o'clock.

The hearing attracted a large number of representatives in addition to the members of the committee. Among those present were Wilson, West Virginia; Hooker, New York; Snyder, Kentucky; Turner, Georgia; J. K. Cowen, of Baltimore, member-elect of the next Congress, and Senator Romeo, Mexican minister, were also in attendance.

When the committee was called to order Secretary Carlisle was asked by Chairman Springer to explain what would be the practical workings of his currency plan. In answer Carlisle said he had come to answer questions of the committee and to make a statement of his plan, but not to indulge in a general argument, as that had already been done in his annual report. Proceeding to take up his argument seriatim as they appeared in his report, Carlisle read the first two, as follows:

1. Repeat all laws requiring or authorizing the deposit of United States bonds as security for circulation.
2. Permit national banks to issue notes to an amount not exceeding 75 per cent of the paid up and unimpaired capital, but require each bank before receiving notes to deposit a guarantee fund, consisting of United States legal tender notes, including treasury notes of 1890, to the amount of 30 per cent upon the circulation notes applied for. This percentage of deposits upon circulating notes outstanding to be maintained at all times, and whenever a bank retires its circulation, in whole or in part, its guarantee fund is to be returned to it in proportion to the amount of notes retired.

In explanation Carlisle said it had come to be almost generally believed that that provision of the law requiring a deposit of United States bonds as security for circulation was a failure. He believed it prevented elasticity of the currency.

Passing, without further comment, to the second suggestion, Carlisle said he believed that this provision was perfectly safe in guaranteeing surety of deposit. The treasury reserve, he thought, should not exceed more than one-half of the outstanding circulation of the national banks.

Springer asked Carlisle to explain the difference between his plan for retiring circulation and that of the Baltimore bankers, and the Secretary gave a brief sketch of each. The Baltimore plan, he said, provided for a circulation up to 50 per cent of the capital stock of the banks without any deposit whatever, but subject to a tax, the fund raised from which was to be used in relieving the funds of failed national banks. It did not become large enough, the government is to relieve the fund, looking to the banks for repayment. But the government plan was that a separate fund of 30 per cent of circulation should be held for each bank, and in addition there should be a safety fund, raised like that of the Baltimore plan. But this fund should not prove large enough the treasury department might assess the national banks pro rata on circulation. The government, through this means, could lose nothing.

In further explanation Carlisle said that the banks by his plan are called upon to keep a safety fund intact; in the Baltimore plan, the government was required to do this. "My plan," said the Secretary, "requires the National banking system to support itself entirely, and relieves the government of all connection with the system except to furnish the notes and hold the safety fund."

Carlisle said his plan did away with the present system of redemption of National bank notes. At present the National banks could send their mutilated notes to the treasury and receive in return new notes. By the new plan the government was divorced entirely from the redemption of those National bank notes; the government was relieved of all responsibility in the matter.

In answer to Johnson of Indiana, Carlisle said that the idea of the plan was that the stronger banks should carry weaker. If a bank failed so badly that it could not pay its notes, the ultimate liability was placed by the Baltimore plan on the government; by the plan proposed by himself, the ultimate liability was placed on the banks.

Johnson wanted to know if Carlisle thought the banks would agree to this, and the Secretary answered that the banks must accept for themselves; he was looking out for the interests of the government.

THEY ARE DIVIDED.
WILL Cleveland Call Congress in Extra Session After March 4, 1895?
WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—There is division among the Virginia and North Carolina members of the House on the proposed plan of Secretary Carlisle to settle the financial question. For this reason some of the members from the two States, if not a majority in each delegation, are away at this time to expressing opinions for publication. Naturally they hope the party can get together and do something during the session, so as to have the vexatious question settled while all the branches of the government are controlled by the Democrats.

"If we fail to legislate at this session," remarked a Virginia Congressman today, "I believe President Cleveland will call Congress together in special session shortly after the 4th of March. That would be an unfortunate circumstance, for in such an event the President would have to rely on the co-operation of the Republican party to carry out the financial policies of his administration."

A Section of Brazil Visited by Upheavals for Three Days.
New York, Dec. 10.—A special cable from Guayaquil, Ecuador, says: "Earthquakes with heavy loss of life are reported to have occurred in Brazil along the Japur river. The water rose enormously. The shocks were of brief duration, but continued three days."

Couldn't Give the Bond.
Kinston, N. C., Dec. 8.—The Populist candidates for county officers failed to give bond, though the county commissioners were in session Monday to give them an opportunity to do so. The Populist candidate for clerk of the superior court will probably give bond. The other county officers will be Democratic.

EX-SHERIFF WORLEY DEAD.

He Had Been Afflicted Mentally And Physically a Year or More.

Ex-Sheriff W. J. Worley, one of the best known citizens of Buncombe county, died at his home in West Asheville Saturday afternoon at 9 o'clock. Mr. Worley had been in ill health for several years, and his familiar figure was seen on the streets more and more infrequently. A year or more ago his mind became affected, and from that time he was almost constantly under the watchful eye of some member of the family.

Ten days ago, Mr. Worley, while there was no one with him, fell into the fire and was badly burned before the accident was discovered. This, it is believed, hastened his death.

The funeral services over the remains were conducted yesterday afternoon by Rev. J. R. Cannon, on Sandy Mush, where the interment occurred at 4 o'clock.

Wiley Jackson Worley was born in Sandy Mush township, Buncombe county, about 67 years ago. He lived on his farm until the campaign of 1888, when he was nominated for sheriff of Buncombe by the Republican ticket. He was elected, and since that time had made his home near Asheville. He was too "easy" a man for the position—he could scarcely refuse a man when asked to put off the collection of taxes (this was before Buncombe had a tax collector in a separate office) and the good old man seriously injured himself financially by reason of holding the office.

Mr. Worley was a veteran of the Mexican war, having served in the late Col. Fagg's regiment. He was also in the Union army a year. He was a kind-hearted man, and everybody who knew him was his friend. In the earlier part of his life he had been one of the county's leading farmers. His demise in the cause of universal regret on the part of his wide circle of friends.

Mr. Worley married Miss Rachel Reeves, who, with several children, survives him. Among the children are Mrs. Frank Fanning, Miss Lella and Ida Worley and Messrs. W. M. and James Worley.

WANTED CHRISTMAS.
A Quintette of colored boys held two stores Sunday.

Five colored boys, realizing the approach of Christmas and having a contempt for the law, Sunday morning about 7 o'clock pried open a rear window of 49 Patton avenue, occupied by the stocks of R. H. Hudson and H. A. Lindsey, and proceeded to help themselves. The young pillagers took from Mr. Hudson a lot of firecrackers, big and little, candies, figs, and other things calculated to help on the Christmas cheer—in all $18 or $20 worth. From Mr. Lindsey they carried away a ring and several pairs of shoes.

A part of the delegation went off to hide their portion of the goods, leaving the boys holding down a box of oranges and goodies. A colored man of the name of Ballard came up and noticing something suspicious plied the boys with questions. While he examined the stores the boys took to their heels and escaped, Ballard going to inform Mr. Hudson.

But for the appearance of Ballard the thieves might have gotten away with the articles, but they had not time to hide them and a good proportion was recovered—some being found in the rear of the stores and a quantity where it had been hidden in rear of Moorman's factory, near Water street.

Lone of the boys were recognized and the police are after them.

"WAY UP ON THE HILL."
The Battery Park New Club, and Other Items Thereabouts.

Chief Joseph Flick and his corps of cooks and bakers, who arrived at the Battery Park last week, are already adding the praises of the Park's guests to their reputations. The new force have been with Mr. Seavey, late of the Ponce de Leon, for several years. A striking illustration of the excellence of the work was given in the tempting dinner bill yesterday and the luncheon today.

It is believed that the latter is one of the best regular luncheons served in the South.

Beginning today luncheon is served at the Park from 1 to 2:30 and dinner from 6:30 to 8:30.

Messrs. Fant and Bearden now reveal in new carpeting and other improvements in the clerk's territory.

AN INTERRUPTED PROMENADE.
One Colored Man Fights Another for Walking With His Girl.

Luther Boss and Wm. Bradley, colored, were before Justice Frank Carter today, charged with a disturbance of the peace and dignity of the city. It appeared that Bradley was out walking yesterday with Clara Dougherty, which action was against the wishes of Luther Boss, an admirer of the girl who had been keeping company with her for eight or ten years. Boss came up to them in the southern part of the city and argued with Bradley that he could not do the supping act with impunity. The altercation followed, and when Justice Carter had heard the evidence he bound Boss to court and discharged Bradley.

CONFEDERATE MEMORIAL.
Beginning of a Movement to Collect Southern War Records.

RICHMOND, Va., Dec. 10.—Tonight there will be a conference here between the Veteran Camps Historical societies, the Memorial associations of Virginia, and Charles Broadway Rous of New York in regard to the contemplated establishment of a Confederate national memorial association and a depository for Confederate records, relics, etc. This movement was begun by Rous, and has secured the sympathy and support of all the old soldiers who were gray. Many distinguished Virginians will take part in this meeting.

WHAT A SWEET THING IS SUGAR!

HAVEMEYER CLEARS MILLIONS BY A RECENT DEAL.

Puts On a Poor Mouth Over the Lack of Protection, Discharges His Workmen, Depreciates the Stock, And Then Buys It In at a Low Figure—A Shrewd Game.

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—The most heartless trick yet played on the people of this country came to a climax Saturday on the stock exchange. H. O. Havemeyer, the head of the sugar trust, and his friends have finished their game and pocketed their immense gains, thought to reach into the millions. For weeks Mr. Havemeyer proclaimed that the sugar industry was practically on the edge of bankruptcy; that it was rapidly succumbing to the ill treatment he alleged it had received from the Congress, and finally he made his bold stroke of pretending to discharge all hands from the sugar refineries of the trust, and talked of closing these vast hives up for an indefinite period.

All this talk was a mere stock-jobbing ruse intended to do nothing more than to break the price of sugar certificates in the stock market and so enable Mr. Havemeyer and his followers to get back at a low figure the stock they had sold out to the public at prices far above par. The price of 70 or 75 was whipsawed as the proper figure to which sugar should slump, and it started to waver at that point at a rapid gait. There was a strong opposition, however, and it reached a low turning point at 84, and then for several days there were cleverly scattered points about a reduction of the quarterly dividend which was due about this time.

Friday the managers got together to decide on the dividend. After the full day had been used by Havemeyer through his well-posted brokers, and sugar had climbed to 89 on transactions of about 175,000 shares, came the voice from the board room that the dividend should remain as at present—7 per cent. per annum on the preferred and 12 per cent. on the common. In declaring the common dividend the explanation was tacked on to the declaration that the dividend was "an earnings prior to Sept. 1."

This is one of the fattest monopolies the world has ever known. The stock has been kept in violent ebullition on the stock exchange, and Havemeyer has there, so that a grand profit of $50,000,000 would not be out of the way as representing a lot of sugar lions brought to the Havemeyer purse.

CAROLINA STATE BAPTISTS.
Foreign Missions, Educational, and Other Reports.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Dec. 8.—Mr. H. C. Dockery of Rockingham read the report of the board of foreign missions, which stated that it was 70 years ago last May when the first Baptist foreign missionary society was organized with Adoniam Johnson and wife. They were sent to India. Since that time the Baptist Missionary Union of America has increased to 141 missionaries, 580 churches, and 31,572 members; of the foreign church, 32 missionaries, 28 churches, 2,971 church members; Assam, 87 missions; 77 churches, 48,815 members. In the Telugu, in France, China, Japan, Africa, Germany, Denmark, Sweden, Finland, Norway, Russia and Spain, the report is most encouraging. The Southern Baptist convention has been a body since 1844.

The figures shown in the report of the Board of Missions are extremely gratifying to the Southern convention.

Wake Forest college report of the board of trustees was read by the president. Dr. Taylor stated that the college was the oldest child of the convention. The attendance at this institution this session is 207, and many improvements have been made during the past year.

A collection for the endowment of the royal professorship at Wake Forest college was taken up, and more than $5,000 was obtained.

St. Louis, Mo., Dec. 10.—Private telegrams received here last night announced the death at Springfield, Mo., of Guy Cope, aged 24, a former traveling salesman. Cope's father is a banker in Springfield, and his only brother is cashier of a bank in Paducah, Ky. All the family are prominent in social and financial circles in the South and West.

September 13 last Cope returned to this city from a business trip and was short $1000 in cash received. He was arrested, indicted and confessed, stating that he was soon to be married and had used the money in preparing for the event. He applied to his father to help him without success, and the case was approaching trial.

COOKED BY ELECTRICITY.
Horrible Death of a New Orleans Business Man.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 10.—Joseph F. Zamorek was cooked to death on Canal street last night in the presence of a large crowd. A broken electric light wire fell on him.

Lamorek was a large furniture dealer. He had lived in New Orleans five years, and, it is thought, came from St. Louis. He was an Austrian.

The Carrier's Win.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—The United States court of claims today announced judgments in 225 letter carrier cases in favor of the carriers for extra pay for overwork under the eight hour law.

Republicans Concede Nothing.
SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 10.—The Republican leaders have decided to contest the election of James H. Budd, Democratic governor-elect of California.
