THE CHURCH TRANSFER.
 Riverside Congregation in Its New House of Worship.

The transfer of the church building formerly used by the congregation of the First M. E. church, South, the prettiest of those churches situated a way from the central portion of the city. Rev. W. H. Willis, the pastor, and his congregation may congratulate them selves upon the new house of worship acquired.

The price paid for the church property, which is at the intersection of Haywood and Buttrick streets, near Patton avenue, was $3300. The former owners were H. S. Harkins of Asheville and S. V. Pickens of Hendersonville. The latter purchased the edifice on Buxton street, lately used by the Riverside congregation, paying therefor $1200.

The first service of the Riverside congregation in its new property were held yesterday. The congregations were double their usual size, the Sunday school was well attended and, altogether, the change seems to be regarded as a most auspicious one.

Mrs. Willis requested the ladies of the congregation to meet her in the basement of the church Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock to consider the furnishing of the parsonage, and it is probable that a Parsonage Aid society will be organized.

THE PALAIS ROYAL.
 Opening Today at Meyers' New Store On South Main.

This was a rather inauspicious day for an opening, but Meyers' Palais Royal on South Main threw open its doors to the Asheville public, nevertheless, and many were attracted there. The windows are handsomely and artistically dressed, and the arrangement upon the interior is in keeping with the window display. There is an almost endless profusion of ladies' fine dress goods, furnishings for ladies and gentlemen, and children's goods—in truth, such goods as a shopper would look for in a five goods house of the first class. The stock is all new and just opened and at prices that will be sure to suit.

Mr. Meyers' assistants are E. L. Brown, Miss Belle Fortune and Miss Minnie Levy, the latter being the cashier. The Palais Royal starts out well as one of Asheville's business institutions.

AN AMERICAN CITIZEN BOUNCED
 PRESIDENT DOLE BECOMING VERY BRASH.

A Citizen of the United States sent Home To Reflect On His Conduct In Honolulu—An Explanation WILL Be Demanded.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—The reported exile of Americans from Hawaii without trial if entirely substantiated promises to bring matters between the administration and the new republic to an acute stage. The United press despatches giving the statement of Cranstow's harshness are corroborated officially at the State department by the following telegram from W. F. Peterson, U. S. Consul at Vancouver, dated yesterday:

The British steamer Warrimou arrived today, having on board J. Cranstow, a destitute citizen of the United States, banished from Honolulu with out trial.

It is understood at the State department that Cranstow had been given asylum at the consulate until this government takes up his case.

Although no official statement as to Secretary Gresham's action can yet be obtained, there are reasons to believe that prompt redress will be demanded under article 8 of the treaty between the U. S. and Hawaii. The case was concluded in 1849 and still in force, which prevents summary action similar to that reported in Cranstow's case.

In addition it is said that every principle of international law would be violated by such banishment. No dispatch has been received from Minister Willis regarding the affair, but the officials have no doubt that he communicated by the Warrimou, and that letters will be received from him within the next five days.

Not Asking Aid Now.
 A report having come to the knowledge of Mayor Patton, to the effect that contributions were being solicited for the Children's Home, the Mayor requests THE CITIZEN to say that no one is authorized to ask these contributions. The Home is a county institution, and in one sense is a charity. There are times when contributions of clothing, etc., are desired, but in times like this the institution gives way to those which have to do the work of looking after the poor.
