DID MOSES MAKE MISTAKES?

INGERSOLL THOUGHT SO, BUT DR. WHITE SAYS NOT.

Ingersoll is Capable of Making Some. It Seems—A Large Attendance Last Night to Hear Dr. Murdock—Tomorrow's Topics and Other Matters.

THIS EVENING. Dr. J. M. Gregory lectures tonight at the First M. E. church on "The Bible and Civilization."

PROGRAM FOR WEDNESDAY. 9.30 a. m.—First Presbyterian church. Subject, The Times of Joshua and the Judges. Instructor, Prof. H. A. White.

Central M. E. church, Juvenile Bible School. 12 m.—Central M. E. church. Prayer-meeting. 4:30 p. m.—First Presbyterian church. General Conference, subject, "The Bible and the Sabbath, on the church side. 8:30—First Baptist church. "The Three Civilizations at the Cross."—Rev. A. S. Andrews, D. D., LL. D.

MINISTERS AND THE LAITY.

They should act as Corrective Forces on Each Other.

The threatening clouds and rain did not prevent a large audience assembling at the First Baptist church to hear Rev. F. J. Murdock, D. D., of Salisbury, N. C., on "The Bible and the Ministry." Fitch Taylor led the singing and after a well rendered solo by Rev. J. T. Betts, Gen. Eaton introduced the speaker.

Dr. Murdock expressed great pleasure in returning to his native county after an absence of nearly a quarter of a century, to see so many studying the word of God and so anxious to advance the Kingdom of Jesus Christ. There was only one danger in studying the Word of God, and that was that other means of grace might be neglected, for example, prayer. The ministry was as much an appointment of the Almighty as the Word of God. He had observed in the Scriptures that the people were not to find out doctrines themselves, but that ministers were appointed to do this. The Pharisees looked for eternal life in the Scriptures instead of looking for the source of eternal life. The admonition to the Pharisees given by Jesus applied to the ministry, also. When Jesus left the world he imparted all the knowledge necessary to his Apostles to go about and preach the gospel. They didn't have to search the Scriptures to know, for example, if Jesus rose from the dead. They knew this before he started. The ministers should be instructed in matters of doctrine and faith before they go out into the ministry. The apostles were to go out and preach the Word. Paul did not tell Timothy to search the Scriptures but to teach what Paul had taught. This institution of the ministry by our Lord was for the preservation of faith and doctrine. Take the Presbyterian ministry for example, were they not teaching practically what they taught 200 years ago? Read the sermons of a Baptist minister today and one of 200 years ago, and they differ no more than the sermons of two Baptist ministers of today. So the ministry does preserve the doctrine of faith, etc., taught therein.

people. Suppose, then, the laity should search the Scriptures to see if these things were true. Then in the course of time it would be bound to follow that we would agree.

"One point in conclusion: As it is the duty of the ministry to hold up doctrine and truth, so it is the duty of the laity to search the Scriptures. What would the people of Asheville think of their ministers if they knew they had not written their Bibles for a year? Yet it is as much the duty of the laity to search the Scriptures. "H," said the speaker in conclusion, "we ministers, neglect our duty we have a fearful account to give. Yet in this good old State I think I could find many of the laity who never search the Scriptures."

TIMES OF MOSES.

Dr. White gets in a word at Ingersoll in His Talk.

The Times of Moses was the topic that Dr. White took up this morning at the Bible school, with an attendance of probably 400 people. The topic was divided into: One, Deliverance of the Nation. Two, The National Covenant. Three, The National Organization. Four, The National Ideal for the Nation.

The lesson began with a map exercise; the physical geography of the land of Egypt was put very clearly before the class; and a glimpse of the secular history in the time of the Shepherd Kings as given in the II, the Pharaoh of the oppression of the Israelites, was given. Dr. White said that 11 years ago the ruins of the city of Piton, one of the store cities built by the Israelites for the Egyptians, and the ruins of the arsenals, were found. Passing rapidly over the 10 plagues and showing that each plague sent by Jehovah put to confusion one of the Egyptian gods, Dr. White led the thought through the ages to the wilderness of Mt. Sinai, and took up the second point,—the National Covenant.

Just here Dr. White digressed a little to controvert Col. Ingersoll. In an article in the North American Review a year or so ago, he said Col. Ingersoll made the statement that at the time of the worship of the golden calf a number of people (he thought the colonel gave the number 30,000; at any rate it was not the number given in the Bible) were cruelly slain for violating a law that had never been given them. The class, Bible in hand, found with Dr. White the accounts of the giving of the law to the Israelites four times and their acceptance of the law with the words "All that the Lord hath spoken we will do." The law was copied into the book of the covenant 12 altars built, and the covenant sealed with the blood of sacrificed before the breaking of the commandment, "thou shalt not make unto thee any graven image, etc." referred to by Col. Ingersoll. Then the people were not slain without mercy, but were given a chance. Moses who had descended from the mountain and found them worshipping the golden calf, called for all those who were on the Lord's side to come out from among them, and only those who persisted in idolatry were slain.

The consideration of the national administration, civil and religious, brought about a discussion among the faculty, as to teach what Paul had taught. This institution of the ministry by our Lord was for the preservation of faith and doctrine. Take the Presbyterian ministry for example, were they not teaching practically what they taught 200 years ago? Read the sermons of a Baptist minister today and one of 200 years ago, and they differ no more than the sermons of two Baptist ministers of today. So the ministry does preserve the doctrine of faith, etc., taught therein.

On the other hand it is evidently intended that the laity shall search the Scriptures. It was so in the time of Jesus and in the time of the Apostles. It is of great importance that the laity shall preserve the doctrines, but it is also important that the laity shall search the Scriptures to find out if these things are so. There is no difference in the following the Bible and following the Pope if they are not going to search the Scriptures to find out if these things be so. Christ demands that men and women shall cross-question the pulpit by searching the Scriptures. The minister has a tendency to add on and on and on, things that are not matters of doctrine and faith, unless questioned by the laity who search the Scriptures. The history of the church shows that in all countries the ministry has added new doctrines and practices that were not necessary for salvation and were unheard of in the Bible. It would have been different had the laity searched the Scriptures, had they cross-questioned the ministry by so doing. We can see this tendency in the Roman Catholic church today. The same tendency was manifest in England (episcopal church). The main trouble is from those who add on, and this they will do unless brought to book. On the other hand what would be the tendency if the minister had to go to the Bible to find out what he had to believe? There could be no settled doctrine. Three hundred years ago in England there was practically one church and one religion. Last year there were 282 different bodies worshipping in England. In every case of the other 280 they have given up something which the church of England holds. They all teach what the church of England does, less some particular thing. There is very little difference between the Baptists, for example, and the church of England.

While on the one hand the ministry has a tendency to add on, yet if there were no ministers, then the people will leave off and leave off. Here are two divergent tendencies, one to add on, the other to leave off. Can these two forces correct each other? There are two forces as regards the sun and earth in their relations. If one should cease the earth would fall into the sun and burn up. If the other should cease the earth would go off into space and freeze. In personal religion there are two forces, love and fear. If there were only fear we would be driven off from God. If only love we would fall into presumption. Only in both does the soul hold with reference to the Almighty the place it should hold. So these two forces tend to correct each other. The ministry must keep the people from leaving off, and the people must keep the ministry from adding on. We need men who will search the Scriptures, who will study and find out if there is any difference between the ministry and the Scriptures and bring the ministry to book. The ministry should find out what things were taught by those who obtained the body of doctrine from the Apostles, to make sure they are leaving out no part of the things taught them.

In this day we are praying that there may be a unity of the churches. How could this be better brought about than for our ministers to turn back and study the early doctrines. Suppose all ministers should do this and should tell all the

ELECTRICITY DID NOT KILL THEM

SECRETS OF THE NEW YORK STATE DEATH CHAIR.

Two Cases at Least Wherein the Criminals Did Not Die by Electricity And Were Partially Revived—Killed by Drugs, a Doctor Says.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., July 23.—Dr. P. J. Gibbons of Syracuse, discussing the resuscitation of victims of electrocutions, last night said:

"They don't kill the victims by electricity; they kill them by the knife or otherwise, barring cases of specific weakness, an aneurism of the heart or weakness in the brain, in which case the shock might produce death. I was in the Auburn prison when they killed the negro Johnson. This is a chapter which has been kept a secret long enough. After the current had been applied to Johnson I was allowed to apply the simple means of artificial respiration, and did so.

"It was not very long before Johnson gave a gasp and showed unmistakable evidence of returning consciousness. The warden intervened and prevented the further prosecution of the attempt, and of course, the symptoms of returning life ceased. A little later they performed the autopsy on Johnson. It was agreed among those present that the facts should remain one of the secrets of the death chamber. They might as well be known now, and there they are.

"About two months before Johnson was killed," continued Dr. Gibbons, "they experimented on another negro Taylor. You will remember that in Taylor's case it was announced that the armature of the dynamo burned out, and that it was necessary to obtain current from the city lighting plant to complete the operation.

"Such was not the case. The armature burned out, to be sure, after the current had been applied fully, but when they applied the current the second time, 53 minutes later, they applied it to a dead man. Taylor came to himself sufficiently to move and talk and walk. Deadly drugs were administered to him and he was killed by these drugs, and, as I say, when the borrowed current was applied it was applied to a corpse, made such by the administering of deadly drugs. There is another secret of the electric chamber."

THE DURANT TRIAL.

No Opportunity Afforded the Crowd to Get at Him.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 23.—Theodore Durant whose trial on charge of having murdered Miss Blanche Lamont in the Emmanuel Baptist church began yesterday morning, was taken from his cell in the county jail, shortly before 9 o'clock in a buggy to the city hall. The police, by this means headed off the crowd.

Durant came into court looking remarkably well, much better than he did at his preliminary examination. The advice from Jackson County, where Judge Murphy opened court precisely at 10 o'clock. Mr. Dufrey, of counsel for the defense, commenced the proceedings by making an application for a change of venue, to support which he produced a number of affidavits which he desired the court to consider and read and place on file. Judge Murphy objected and ordered that they be read. The reading was proceeded with.

According to Mr. Murphy the reading will occupy all of Wednesday.

WILL M. WILKINSON RELEASED

ALTHOUGH HE IS BOUND OVER AS A WITNESS.

Wilkinson Before Judge Ewart Here Today—Several Witnesses Examined—Jennys Out on $5000 Bond—Criminal Court News.

Will M. Wilkinson was before Judge Ewart in the Criminal court room today on a writ of habeas corpus, the purpose being to inquire if Wilkinson was properly detained. He, it will be remembered, was held after the coroner's inquest recently conducted over the body of Mrs. Robert Louis Jennys in Cherokee county, where Wilkinson and Mrs. Jennys were fired upon from ambush while on their way to Murphy.

A number of witnesses from Cherokee were examined. One testified that Wilkinson's pistol, taken after the shooting, had rust in the muzzle and all of its chambers were full. Wilkinson was also put on the stand.

After the submission of testimony Judge Ewart discharged Wilkinson as principal in the case and fixed his bond for appearance as a witness at $500.

Wilkinson was represented by Duff Merrick, Davidson & Jones of Asheville and Edmund B. Norcross of Murphy. R. L. Jennys, who is believed to have done the shooting, is at his home near Murphy, having been released on a $5000 bond.

The hearing of argument in the Circuit Criminal court on affidavits for a removal of the case against Jesse Sumner, charged with murder, was continued from yesterday afternoon until today in order to give time for filing court affidavits. The matter was resumed this afternoon when court reassembled after the noon recess.

Court was busy all the morning on the case of State vs. Albert Robertson, colored, charged with embezzlement. It was alleged that Robertson had taken about $35 worth of jewelry, etc., from J. W. Glaser, a North Main dealer, but the jury acquitted him.

AN INDIAN WAR.

Idaho Settlers Entrenched Awaiting an Attack.

POCATELLO, Idaho, July 23.—From present indications a conflict between settlers in Jackson's Hole, in northeastern Idaho and northwestern Wyoming and the Indians is not at an end. It is now known that at least four Indians are killed. Just a week ago word was received at the Bannock agency twelve miles north of here that several hundred Bannock and Shoshone Indians had come in conflict with the settlers, and all the available Indian police were sent out to bring hundreds of hunters back. Today the wanderers arrived once more on the reservation, but the bucks are far from being in a peaceful frame of mind; as when they left for home in a wagon accompanying the returning band were the bodies of four dead ducks.

Advice from Jackson's Hole indicate that the position of the settlers is becoming very critical, and unless the troops get there quickly it is probable a general massacre of the whites will take place.

The latest advice from Gov. Richards state that Princeton geological survey party is safe so far. Cavalry troops are pushing to the scene of hostilities with all possible speed. Meantime the settler are entrenched awaiting an attack by the Indians.
