BY THE CITIZEN COMPANY. PRINTED DAILY, EXCEPT SUNDAY. SUBSCRIPTION RATES: One Year, $6.00; Six Months, $3.50; Three Months, $2.00; One Month, in advance, 50c; One Week, paid to carrier, 15c.

FROM THE STATE PRESS.

Rev. Baylus Cade, the well known Populist editor, is reading law at the University, and when licensed expects to go into the practice of law.

Heavy rains, 90 pounds to the yard, are to be put down within the next 60 days on the division of the North Carolina railroad between Greensboro and Salem.

Some persons from the West are in Raleigh with a view to the establishment of a wholesale drug depot in that city, from which to supply Virginia, North Carolina and South Carolina.

Editor James P. Cook telegraphed his paper, the Standard, from New London, Stanly county, that a four pound chunk of pure gold was found on the Fesperman place, near the celebrated Ingram mines, on Saturday evening.

The American Tobacco company is starting some cigarette factories in South Africa. Mr. Hal Durham of Durham, is now at work putting machinery in a factory at Johannesburg which he says is a city with 60,000 white population, 7,000 feet above the sea.

The monitor Nantucket sailed from Wilmington for Southport Monday. Several officers of the monitor Amphitrite went on the Nantucket to report on the efficiency of the reserves as to their ability to handle the ship. The reserves entirely manned the old monitor.

L. B. Alexander of the Fourth regiment of North Carolina National guard, has written to President Collier of the Cotton States and International exposition, asking for space near the exposition grounds for a camp for 10 days. The regiment expects to encamp during the exposition.

The Raleigh News and Observer says: "The Daily Press springs a 'quadruple' story. Mrs. Charles Flower, formerly of Madison county, now of Naugh, Tenn., says that paper, 'recently gave birth to four oods. The latest reports say that all are getting on finely.' This news first appeared in THE CITIZEN.

Lenoir Topic: During the summer of 1895 20 large buildings, either dwelling houses or store houses, have been either erected or are in course of erection in Lenoir. The late census, taken by the town authorities, is 1046. Lenoir is the smallest town as to area in the State. The corporate limits on every side are only half a mile from the court house.

Wilson correspondence Raleigh News and Observer: The approaching tobacco season bids fair to be the most successful since the market was established here. Preparations for handling the immense crop are going forward rapidly. An English syndicate is erecting a large stemming factory in which they will employ some 200 hands. Three large four-story prize houses are also being built near the Planters' warehouse.

A number of armed men from Stokes county went to Davidson county to make Dr. Hill, a young physician who stands charged with tuning a young lady at Walnut Cove, promise to marry her or settle the matter to the satisfaction of her people. The physician secured a deputy sheriff and a number of his friends, who met the party. Both factions were well armed, but the sheriff and his party came off victorious. The mob was arrested, tried before a magistrate and bound over to court.

FATAL SKIRMISHES. The Cuban Insurgents Winning and Losing in Their Struggle. HAVANA, Aug. 7.—Captain General Martinez Campos arrived here at 1 o'clock yesterday morning. A dispatch from Santa Clara says the column of Spanish troops under command of Lieutenant Ruiz had an engagement at Paila with a band of insurgents in which two of the rebels were killed. A band of rebels in Santiago province yesterday morning ambushed a train on which were a number of miners and fired several shots, wounding one of the miners. The attack occurred in the vicinity of Ponop. In returning from Sando with a body of Spanish troops to force the rebels, the railroad had been torn up near Ponop. One of the miners was killed.

MANTAZAS, Aug. 7.—A party of 17 civil guards was attacked on the fourth instant by a force of over 100 insurgents at Monticordo owing to the superiority in numbers of the rebels, the guards were forced to retreat. Three of them were killed and all of the rest were more or less seriously wounded. The loss of the insurgents was heavy.

NO TRADE WAS MADE. That is What Pritchard's Man Friday Says About It. ASHEVILLE, N. C., Aug. 2, 1895. To the Editor of the News and Observer.

Dear Sir:—In your issue of July 31st appears a special purporting to come from Goldsboro charging that pending the election of Hon. J. C. Pritchard to the United States Senate, there was a trade made between Maj. H. L. Grant, Hon. J. C. Pritchard and myself by which Maj. Grant was to be made Secretary of the Senate in consideration of certain votes that he might control in the Senate.

I wish to say there is no truth in the charge whatever. In fact I did not know until recently that Maj. Grant wanted the place; but I am free to say that I would be glad to see him have the position if he wants it, or some other place equally as good. He made a bold, manly fight for fusion, which resulted in the overthrow of the opposition and the election of Senator Pritchard, and I think he deserves recognition and assistance from him.

Bicycles and Ankles. From the Charleston News and Courier. To the pure all things are pure, and why a preacher should not be able to stand the unintentional and purely modest display of a woman's ankle without having all his wicked and lustful thoughts aroused is one of the queer things about religion that we cannot appreciate. But, perhaps, Dr. Hawthorne is right. If a preacher of righteousness and purity, such as he, could think the thoughts that he has suggested, we cannot imagine to what lengths the "filthy-mouthed sensualists" may have gone.

And while the women who ride bicycles—the majority of whom are confessedly modest and pure—are rushing headlong to hell, it must afford Dr. Hawthorne and the rest of us pious and clean-mouthed men a great deal of pleasure to sit on the curbstone and see them go by. We should be careful, Dr. Hawthorne, however, that we do not beat them in the race.

Ages in Salisbury's Cabinet. From Public Opinion. In Lord Salisbury's cabinet of nineteen ministers there are nine Oxford graduates, three from Cambridge, and one from Dublin, as contrasted with eight Oxford men and six from Cambridge in Mr. Gladstone's cabinet. The average age of the present cabinet is 58 years, while that of Mr. Gladstone's was 56.

Huntley & Palmer's Imported Sagar Waters. A. D. Cooper. It seems to us that no member of the city government who chanced to be on the Square or its immediate vicinity yesterday forenoon could have a doubt that what Asheville imperatively needs is another street sprinkler. The present one has a genius for not being in running order when it is most needed. The question is, Shall hundreds of persons be tortured by dust every now and then when our one sprinkler seeks the seclusion of the repair shop?

It is really a matter of greater moment than appears on its face. Such a cloud of dust as blew around the square yesterday to the discomfort of hundreds, as we have said, means positive distress to a large proportion of our visitors; it means the possible spread of disease; it means more or less damage to merchandise in the stores; it means that the city is maintaining a nuisance that can easily be put down. Another sprinkler, in short, is needed and badly needed, and even in the present condition of the city's finances the aldermen will be justified in securing one without more waiting.

NOT PERTINENT. Nearly the whole of the New York World's editorial page was taken up Monday with quotations from John Stuart Mill's essay "On Liberty." The presumable application of this broadside, which contained many admirable sentiments that all citizens would do well to ponder, is to the alleged encroachment by the State excise law on the personal rights of such New Yorkers as wish to drink beer and other liquors on Sunday. Now if these nearly axiomatic principles of Mills were presented for the study of the New York Assembly they would be pertinent. But as there is no Assembly in session, and will not be for some months, they are not pertinent as addressed, supposedly, to the New York City police commission which is just now making a determined and very nearly successful effort to enforce the excise law. The law is not a good one for the reasons so well laid down by Mill, as follows:

"The disposition of mankind, whether as rulers or as fellow-citizens, to impose their own opinions and inclinations as a rule of conduct on others is so generally and so powerfully supported by some of the best and by some of the worst feelings incident to human nature that it is hardly ever kept under restraint by anything but want of power; and as the power is not declining, but growing, unless a strong barrier of moral conviction can be raised against the mischief we must expect, in the present circumstances of the world, to see it increase."

"The only freedom which deserves the name is that of pursuing our own good in our own way, so long as we do not attempt to deprive others of theirs, or impede their efforts to obtain it. Each is the proper guardian of his own health, whether bodily or mental and spiritual. Mankind are greater gainers by suffering each other to live as seems good to them, than by compelling each to live as seems good to the rest."

REAL ESTATE CHANGES.

Asheville Property Sold by Auctioneer Turner Recently. Auctioneer Wm. Turner has sold the building and lot on the north side of court place and being between the store house occupied by A. D. Cooper on the west side and one on the east formerly owned by Mrs. Maria W. Cooke. Miss Mary Penland purchased the property and the price paid was $8,000.

Mr. Turner has also sold for W. R. Whitson, trustee, a lot just south of the city adjoining lots of T. L. Gates and others. E. T. Clemmons was the purchaser and the price paid $230; a house and lot on French Broad avenue adjoining the Baptist church, which was purchased by J. D. Shearer for $5,500; a lot adjoining lands owned by Mr. Wharton and W. C. Penland on a street running from Patton avenue to Haywood street, purchased by D. Shearer, price paid $500; an undivided half interest in a lot on east side of Church street adjoining J. W. Wilson's line and R. B. Johnston's brick house, purchased by F. Sitkela for the sum of $2625; an undivided half interest in a lot beginning at a street in the turn of the road north of the staiding, containing about 2 1/2 acres; an undivided half interest in a lot located in the eastern part of the city near the Catholic Hill property and on the corner of Ridge street, containing about 4 1/2 acres; also an undivided half interest in a lot bounded by Ridge and Canyon streets, containing about 2 1/2 acres. The purchaser of these three lots was J. L. Coven, the prices respectively being $300, $1000 and $300.

EWART, PRESS MUZZLER.

The Difference Between Two Judges Pointed Out Pertinently. From the Lenoir Topic. Judge Ewart, who was a member of the last legislature, and who helped to create a criminal court for the purpose of getting a job as judge, has got his ear up and is feeling his importance. Week before last the court was in session at Asheville and a murder case was called. The judge removed the case to Henderson county, saying the defendant could not get justice in Buncombe county. For doing this THE CITIZEN criticized him, whereupon the great and learned judge had the editor of the paper up for contempt. The editor claimed that no contempt was intended, but all the same he was fined $250 and 30 days in jail. The editor took an appeal to the Supreme court.

Judge Boykin, who tried the Shemwell-Payne murder case, was criticized for not moving the case to another county, yet you hear of no such proceeding being instituted against those who criticized him. It simply shows the make-up of the two men. Ewart, by virtue of his office, thinks he is above criticism and seeks to muzzle the month of the press, while the other, Boykin, who is a broad minded man, cannot see anything wrong in a paper speaking its honest sentiments. When free speech is denied the press troubles times are ahead for the people in North Carolina.

AN ASHEVILLE MAN GETS IT.

W. A. Townsend instructor in Shoemaking at School for Deaf and Dumb. W. A. Townsend, who has been in the shoemaking business in Asheville several years, now with W. O. Roberts, has been appointed a member of the faculty of the North Carolina School for the Deaf and Dumb, at Morganton, for the next year. Mr. Townsend will have charge of the shoemaking department, and it is predicted that he will prove a capable instructor.

In his new place Mr. Townsend will have a class of 14. This appointment came from the board of directors of the institution, and he will take charge of his duties the 15th of September.

VITAL STATISTICS.

Eleven Deaths in Asheville During the Month of July, With the Causes. There were 11 deaths in Asheville during the month of July, as shown by the certificates of physicians in City Clerk Miller's office. Only one of this number was colored. The causes of death were as follows:

Marasmus, 2; dysentery, 1; cirrhosis of the liver, 1; apoplexy, 1; typhoid fever, 1; valvular disease of the heart, 1; tuberculosis, 2; paralysis, 1; dropsy, 1. Nine of those who died were buried in Asheville, the other two being sent to their homes outside the State. Only one birth has been reported so far, and that by Dr. J. A. Burroughs.

A $10,000 PRIZE.

No American Scientist Could Get It—$10,000 to Paris. WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—The authorities of the Smithsonian Institution have awarded Hodgkins prizes as follows: First grand prize, $10,000, to Lord Royleigh and Prof. Ramsey of London, for their discovery of argon as a constituent element in atmosphere. Third grand prize, $1,000, to Henry De Varigny of Paris, for the best popular essay on the properties of atmosphere. The second grand prize of $5,000 was not awarded, none of the contestants fulfilling the conditions.

Accepts. SAVANNAH, Ga., Aug. 7.—Stockholders of Augusta & Savannah railroad have decided by unanimous vote to accept the offer of the Georgia Central railroad reorganization committee of 5 per cent. on the capital stock. Under the old lease 7 per cent. was paid. There were represented 6700 out of 10,220 shares.

In the Saddle Again. From the Philadelphia Times. As elsewhere the bicycle craze is also extending below Mason and Dixon's line. At any moment the statement may be expected that the South is in the saddle.
