their function in Washington was of a ourely representative character. They have defended themselves with the argument that the foundation principle of the American government is majority rule, and that next to this comes popular representation. It was the great idea of the founders of the republic to form a system in which the people could speak through their chosen representatives, and a majority of the ng the destinies of the country. In line with this argument was the thought that it manifestly became the plain duty of the Senator or the Representa-

Wanted By a Man Who Went on His Bond-The Little Magnate May Stay in Jail for 60 Days.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Feb. 8.-Detective Nicholas Bendel who kidnapped Chris von der Ahe, the baseball magnate in St. Louis last evening, is expected t reach Pittsburg with his prisoner late

The arrest was made at the instigation of W. A. Nimick, former president of the Pittsurg baseball club, who went on Ahe's bond when the latter was arrested in this city on a charge preferred by Pitcher Mark Baldwin. The litigation between Baldwin and Ahe commenced in 1891 and grew out of a dispute between the National League and the American association. Baldwin was connected with the Pittsburg club and Ahe was president of the St. Louis association club. The former went to St. Louis to secure Pitcher King and was arrested on a charge of conspiracy preferred by Ahe.

When the case was tried Baldwin was discharged. He then brought suit against Ahe for malicious prosecution and asked $10,000 damages. Ahe was arrested in Pittsburg and Nimick became his surety.

The case was tried twice and verdicts were given both times for $2500. Ahe appealed to the Supreme court, but the lower court was sustained. As nothing was secured on the execution issued against Ahe, and as the sheriff made return that the defendant could not be found in the county, his bondsman, Nimick, decided to have him brought to this city to forestall proceedings for reovery on bond. tions, but I hope these obstacles will If he is surrendered by his bondsman
