

The Asheville Citizen

BY THE CITIZEN COMPANY. Every Afternoon Except Sunday

One Year $4.00 Three Months 1.00 One Month .50 In Advance

TUESDAY, JANUARY 23, 1900.

It is entirely fitting that a man, who for the sake of a few miserable dollars, violated his oath and assessed his own property at a ridiculously low figure, should now become a Black-and-Tan. Merely a matter of conscience, you see.

In those Western North Carolina counties, townships and villages where the Republicans are in the majority how many negro officeholders are there at present? It is a good thing for the counties, townships, cities and villages of middle and eastern North Carolina to have negro officeholders, is it not just as good for the counties, townships and villages of Western North Carolina, especially those in which the Republicans have the majority?

POISONED MILK. The Atlanta Journal of recent date contains an article clearing up the mystery that has surrounded the sudden illness of many residents of Atlanta of late. It is claimed that the milk furnished those people by a certain dairyman, contained the poison known as tyrotoxin.

Attention is called to this matter because it may serve to make Asheville buyers of milk more particular as to the quality of their supply, and it should make the dairymen who furnish milk in Asheville very particular in all their handling of milk, as well as in the handling of their cows.

ABUSE OF THE SUFFRAGE. When the bill to extend the suffrage to the negroes in the District of Columbia was before Congress, and the extension was urged both as a tract and an example, Congressman Buckner of Pennsylvania said: "Our ancestors placed suffrage upon the broad common-sense principle that it should be held in and exercised by those who could use it most wisely and most safely, and most efficiently to the advantage of which government was instituted.

GRINDING THE NEWSPAPERS. From the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. The Fulton Sun puts the case against the trusts very neatly: "In 1899 the white paper the Sun was printed on cost us $1.90, says the Sun. In 1900 the same paper (same in quality and same quantity) will cost us at present prices $2.180, a difference of $29 in the cost of one item—white paper. Type and ink have also advanced in price, and the wages to employ cannot be made any lower. The Sun is between two stones and the mill is grinding."

WHERE GENIUS HALTS. From the Chicago Record. Why can't some one invent a Christmas without any day after?

THE SUFFRAGE AMENDMENT.

From the Washington, N. C., Gazette-Messenger. Senator Morgan, in his great speech delivered in the Senate, on the constitutionality of the amendment to be voted on next August, expressed himself as being confident that a vast majority of the white people in the United States would vote to give the Southern States the right to control their own affairs without negro interference.

HOW MANY? In those Western North Carolina counties, townships and villages where the Republicans are in the majority how many negro officeholders are there at present?

POISONED MILK. The Atlanta Journal of recent date contains an article clearing up the mystery that has surrounded the sudden illness of many residents of Atlanta of late.

ABUSE OF THE SUFFRAGE. When the bill to extend the suffrage to the negroes in the District of Columbia was before Congress, and the extension was urged both as a tract and an example, Congressman Buckner of Pennsylvania said: "Our ancestors placed suffrage upon the broad common-sense principle that it should be held in and exercised by those who could use it most wisely and most safely, and most efficiently to the advantage of which government was instituted.

GRINDING THE NEWSPAPERS. From the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. The Fulton Sun puts the case against the trusts very neatly: "In 1899 the white paper the Sun was printed on cost us $1.90, says the Sun. In 1900 the same paper (same in quality and same quantity) will cost us at present prices $2.180, a difference of $29 in the cost of one item—white paper.

WHERE GENIUS HALTS. From the Chicago Record. Why can't some one invent a Christmas without any day after?

GREAT BUNCOMBE PLAY OF THE DINGLEY BILL.

From the Washington, N. C., Gazette-Messenger. Senator Morgan, in his great speech delivered in the Senate, on the constitutionality of the amendment to be voted on next August, expressed himself as being confident that a vast majority of the white people in the United States would vote to give the Southern States the right to control their own affairs without negro interference.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—[Special.]—The great Buncome play of the Dingley bill is about to draw to a close in the rejection of the objectionable parts of a high tariff which is done away with by means of it, instead of giving our markets to the world, we were to use them in securing a tariff which was to be a tariff of reciprocity. It was a beautiful piece of legislation, but when the time came to vote on it, it was found that the bill had been amended in such a way as to give the tariff the character of a tariff of reciprocity, instead of a tariff of protection.

POISONED MILK. The Atlanta Journal of recent date contains an article clearing up the mystery that has surrounded the sudden illness of many residents of Atlanta of late.

ABUSE OF THE SUFFRAGE. When the bill to extend the suffrage to the negroes in the District of Columbia was before Congress, and the extension was urged both as a tract and an example, Congressman Buckner of Pennsylvania said: "Our ancestors placed suffrage upon the broad common-sense principle that it should be held in and exercised by those who could use it most wisely and most safely, and most efficiently to the advantage of which government was instituted.

GRINDING THE NEWSPAPERS. From the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. The Fulton Sun puts the case against the trusts very neatly: "In 1899 the white paper the Sun was printed on cost us $1.90, says the Sun. In 1900 the same paper (same in quality and same quantity) will cost us at present prices $2.180, a difference of $29 in the cost of one item—white paper.

WHERE GENIUS HALTS. From the Chicago Record. Why can't some one invent a Christmas without any day after?

WHERE GENIUS HALTS. From the Chicago Record. Why can't some one invent a Christmas without any day after?

COIN ON MONEY. TRUSTS AND IMPERIALISM.

From the Washington, N. C., Gazette-Messenger. Senator Morgan, in his great speech delivered in the Senate, on the constitutionality of the amendment to be voted on next August, expressed himself as being confident that a vast majority of the white people in the United States would vote to give the Southern States the right to control their own affairs without negro interference.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—[Special.]—The great Buncome play of the Dingley bill is about to draw to a close in the rejection of the objectionable parts of a high tariff which is done away with by means of it, instead of giving our markets to the world, we were to use them in securing a tariff which was to be a tariff of reciprocity. It was a beautiful piece of legislation, but when the time came to vote on it, it was found that the bill had been amended in such a way as to give the tariff the character of a tariff of reciprocity, instead of a tariff of protection.

POISONED MILK. The Atlanta Journal of recent date contains an article clearing up the mystery that has surrounded the sudden illness of many residents of Atlanta of late.

ABUSE OF THE SUFFRAGE. When the bill to extend the suffrage to the negroes in the District of Columbia was before Congress, and the extension was urged both as a tract and an example, Congressman Buckner of Pennsylvania said: "Our ancestors placed suffrage upon the broad common-sense principle that it should be held in and exercised by those who could use it most wisely and most safely, and most efficiently to the advantage of which government was instituted.

GRINDING THE NEWSPAPERS. From the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. The Fulton Sun puts the case against the trusts very neatly: "In 1899 the white paper the Sun was printed on cost us $1.90, says the Sun. In 1900 the same paper (same in quality and same quantity) will cost us at present prices $2.180, a difference of $29 in the cost of one item—white paper.

WHERE GENIUS HALTS. From the Chicago Record. Why can't some one invent a Christmas without any day after?

WHERE GENIUS HALTS. From the Chicago Record. Why can't some one invent a Christmas without any day after?

SEEN ON A TOUR OF BUNCOMBE COUNTY.

From the Washington, N. C., Gazette-Messenger. Senator Morgan, in his great speech delivered in the Senate, on the constitutionality of the amendment to be voted on next August, expressed himself as being confident that a vast majority of the white people in the United States would vote to give the Southern States the right to control their own affairs without negro interference.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—[Special.]—The great Buncome play of the Dingley bill is about to draw to a close in the rejection of the objectionable parts of a high tariff which is done away with by means of it, instead of giving our markets to the world, we were to use them in securing a tariff which was to be a tariff of reciprocity. It was a beautiful piece of legislation, but when the time came to vote on it, it was found that the bill had been amended in such a way as to give the tariff the character of a tariff of reciprocity, instead of a tariff of protection.

POISONED MILK. The Atlanta Journal of recent date contains an article clearing up the mystery that has surrounded the sudden illness of many residents of Atlanta of late.

ABUSE OF THE SUFFRAGE. When the bill to extend the suffrage to the negroes in the District of Columbia was before Congress, and the extension was urged both as a tract and an example, Congressman Buckner of Pennsylvania said: "Our ancestors placed suffrage upon the broad common-sense principle that it should be held in and exercised by those who could use it most wisely and most safely, and most efficiently to the advantage of which government was instituted.

GRINDING THE NEWSPAPERS. From the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. The Fulton Sun puts the case against the trusts very neatly: "In 1899 the white paper the Sun was printed on cost us $1.90, says the Sun. In 1900 the same paper (same in quality and same quantity) will cost us at present prices $2.180, a difference of $29 in the cost of one item—white paper.

WHERE GENIUS HALTS. From the Chicago Record. Why can't some one invent a Christmas without any day after?

WHERE GENIUS HALTS. From the Chicago Record. Why can't some one invent a Christmas without any day after?

Advertisement for No. 1 and No. 2 EXTRA MACKEREL, 35c. and 15c. APIECE. Includes 'GREENER'S' logo and address 53 Patton Ave. 136 Phone.

Advertisement for The Citizen Comp'y, Publishers. What we know about printing has been learned by hard study and actual application to business.

Advertisement for Berkeley Cigar Stand. Southern Railway. Reduced Prices on Suits and Cloaks.

Advertisement for Wood's Maine-Grown Seed Potatoes. Wood's Baking Powder. Safeguards the food against alum.

Advertisement for J. R. Rich & Son. They Feel Good. Founded 1842. STEIFF PIANOS.

Advertisement for Soap. It's safe to use Wool Soap—it keeps the skin well. Senator Morgan's Speech.

Advertisement for MASSAGE AND PACKS. PROF. EDW. GRUNER. For Sale. J. A. TENNETT, Architect and Contractor.