RENSBERG DISPATCH SAYS SE-VERE FIGHTING OCCURRED
DURING BRITISH
RETREAT.

London, Tuesday, 7 p. m.—A dispatch from Rensburg to the Evening News says severe fighting occurred during the British retreat, the various outposts on both sides suffering heavy losses. It is doubtful if Rensburg can be held.

London, Feb. 13.—A private telegram received here says: "The force commanded by General Wood has moved up from the southward and seized Zoutpans drift, which it now holds." The cessation of war news from South Africa is taken to indicate that British preparations for a move from Modder river are about completed and that important events can be anticipated with a few days.

Interest centers almost wholly upon Field Marshal Roberts, especially since Buller's report of his withdrawal from Vaalbantans came for the first time through Roberts, showing that all the different operations will hereafter be more completely co-ordinated.

A dispatch from Modder river announces the arrival there of 1,400 refugees from Barkley West district. They were ordered away by the Boers because they refused to join the republicans.

It is learned that 200 Boers were killed or wounded during General McDonald's reconnaissance.

There is no confirmation of the reported sortie of British troops from Ladysmith nor of an outflanking movement.

A report comes from Durban that British artillery, ordered to evacuate their camp at Hlangwani hill, south of Colenso. It would be an important addition to the force if the British were able to occupy that position.

The absence of General French from the Rensburg district seems to have given the Boers opportunity for renewed activity. They have apparently concentrated at Ladysmith and are British lines, in regard to the probable course the Boers will pursue in the event of his capture.

Dr. Leyds, the intermediary between the Boers and the British, has stated that the Boers do not intend to kill Rhodes, but added that they would certainly hold him as a hostage until an indemnity for the Jameson raid was paid. In view of developments since the raid, the Boers have also decided to double the amount of indemnity demanded, so Rhodes' friends will have to hand over two million pounds sterling before he is released.

It is learned definitely that Jameson is still at Ladysmith.

GREAT CONTRAST BETWEEN TO-
DAY AND THAT COLL THIR-TEENTH LAST FEBRUARY.

The thermometer registered 53 degrees at noon today, which is about 65 degrees above what it was February 13 of last year, today being the anniversary of the coldest day Asheville experienced in the memory of the oldest inhabitant.

On that memorable day the street cars suspended operations in sessions of the city schools were held, and frozen noses and ears were the portion of a majority of those who ventured forth in the cold muck of the day.

The Flower Mission had the busiest period in its history, and almost innumerable calls for coal, wood and provisions were answered. A supply of coal was kept at city hall to supply callers as needed, and arrangements were made for the distribution of provisions from the center of town. All day there was a long line of applicants at city hall, and the great difficulty was in getting enough teams to attend to the demands.

There was a generous response to appeals for help and more than $100 was subscribed during the day, besides gifts of provisions. The suffering in the city was great. At one place visited by a city official a sick man huddled in bed with his wife and baby beneath a covering of rags, while the snow lay thickly upon the entire floor. In another tenement an old woman appeared on steps and begged for food and clothing for her children who were in like destitute. Several of the churches were kept open and stayed on the night.

But today, one year later, well, the weather is fine enough for even the groundhog to be seen working most of the day, and the smite of spring is over everything.

EUGENE V. DEBS ON LABOR AND LIBERTY

Noted Labor Leader Lectures at Grand Opera House.

Closely Followed by a Very Large Audience.

SPEECH FULL OF EPIGRAMMATIC SENTENCES, EACH A MARVEL OF CONCISENESS AND
FORCE.

Eugene V. Debs, the noted labor advocate, spoke to a large audience at the Grand Opera house for two hours last evening, his subject being "Labor and Liberty." Those in attendance included not only the laboring men of the city, but business and professional men, and men of all classes. There were some four hundred in all.

The speaker was introduced by Hon.
Locke Craig, who said that he wanted to thank his friends of Central Labor union for the honor of introducing Mr.
Debs to that magnificent audience. Mr.
Debs, he said, was a man with convictions, and with the courage of his convictions, and neither civil nor military authority could prevent him from speaking them.

Mr. Debs said: "Ladies and gentlemen: The privilege of addressing you this evening under the auspices of Central Labor union is appreciated far more than mere words can express." He said that however much those present might differ in their views on the subject of the day, he trusted he would hope his lecture would be fruitful of good results. In the discussion of these questions as now employed except that of prejudice of the audience, but would address himself to its reason.

CENTURY CLOSING STRUGGLE.
This century, he said, was closing in the greatest and most significant history of the world. Centralization and competition were the master forces of this age.
Mr. Debs cited "The Man With the Hoe" as showing the degraded condition of the laboring man. He recalled the master of the product of his labor.
He inveighed against the competitive system. It was brought about, he said, by the fact that men, who were once to the latter he ascribed all the social evils of the day.

"A thousand years ago," he said, men were free simple tools. They sold employ themselves and as he controlled the tool which he worked, he was the master of the product of his labor. The harder he worked the more he gained.
He produced solely for private profit.
No man is now employed except that there is a profit on his labor. When labor was done by hand, there was not a tramp. How to make a living then was not a matter of life and death. A few instances now men are walking hunger tanks, their wife a rag, and their children starving. In every one of hand labor, men looked forward to being the employer instead of the employed. Now, however, in some parts except in a few instances which simply prove the rule.

DEMOCRATIC PLAN DECIDED ON AT LOUISVILLE CONFERENCE.

Louisville, Feb. 13.—It is reasonably certain that the political situation which remains in its present quiet state until a decision is handed down by the Court of Appeals clearing the title to the office of governor. Before Judge Cantrill at Morgantown tomorrow the Democrats will bring a suit, equity asking an injunction to restrain Taylor from exercising any of the functions of the office of governor. It is expected that a temporary injunction will be granted.

In case the Republican executive disregards the action of the court as in the case of Alonzo Walker he has corpus writ and injunction against interference with the legislature, the Democrats will not press proceedings for contempt but will take the case to the Court of Appeals.

This plan was decided upon this morning at a conference of Democratic legislators. The Republican legislature will remain in Louisville and it is believed the Court of Appeals will sit here instead of at Frankfort, as long as there are any soldiers or armed men about the state buildings at the capital.
The assembly is proceeding with legislative business. The Republican legislature passed the concurrent resolution which had already passed the house for a committee to investigate conditions at Frankfort.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 13.—The lower house of the Republican legislature today adopted a resolution returning thanks to the Ohio league of Republican clubs for sympathy and encouragement extended Governor Taylor in the present crisis.

Body Discovered Outside the

LAST SEEN IN WASHINGTON WHEN THE VOTE ON THE FINANCIAL BILL WAS TAKEN.

New York, Feb. 13.—Congressman Charles A. Chickering of Copenhagen, N. Y., was found dead outside the Grand Union hotel, this city, today. He had either fallen or jumped from the fourth story window.

The body had been lying there some time, as the clothing was saturated with rain.

Chickering had been at the hotel all day yesterday. He complained of rheumatism, but nothing irrational in his actions was observed.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—Members of congress were greatly shocked by the news of Mr. Chickering's violent death in New York this morning. News of his death was kept from Mrs. Chickering for fear the shock would prove too great, but she left for New York at noon.

Chickering was well known and one of the most universally esteemed men in the house. He was last seen here when the vote on the financial bill was taken. He insisted on coming on crutches in order to record his vote for that bill.

Cartney of New York

The news of the death of James Mc-Cartney, commissioner of street clean-regret by many persons in Asheville who met Mr. McCartney during his visit here last fall. Mr. McCartney came here to place his daughter in the Asheville college, and while here became interested in the work of the Good roads association. On Mr. McCartney's return to New York he presented to the association the sum of $500. The association then had a luncheon at the hotel where Mr. McCartney remained until Christmas, when she returned home and has remained there on account of the illness of her father.

Exciting Day on Cotton Market

The trading was larger than it has been in several years.

New York, Feb. 13.—The cotton market opened 19 to 22 points higher on near months and 10 to 18 points higher on new crop positions. Though the rise was largely in sympathy with the London market, the official rating of "steady" for our opening was hardly in keeping with events.

The market was very excited all through the morning. With springs of prices frequent and violent, the smaller traders became nervous and withdrew, pending a return of normal speculative conditions.

Leading bulls continued to offer aggressive support on the assumption that Egypt is still staggering along with an enormous short interest unprotected, while conservative bears withdrew on the theory that the advance in prices for the past six weeks had exceeded all reason and that an emphatic reaction should ensue for the best interests of the market.

Contradictory explanations are made of Liverpool's advance. By some cables the strength abroad was credited to manipulation from the East. It is noted in some parts of the continent that continental shorts and New Orleans interests had been forced by the market to buy in Liverpool at a time when that market was exceptionally strong, and sellers were in a position to demand an increase in price of 1 to 4 higher on re-demand from exporters and domestic spinners.

Soon after call prices broke 9 to 12 points under an influx of realizing orders and weaker subsequent English trading caused a further decline. By another upward spurt on strong late cables and renewed heavy buying here, trading was by far the largest in several years.

ATTRACTION SCHOOL ROOMS

The Effort Being Made at the Orange Street School.

EDITOR THE CITIZEN:—The subject of school room decoration is one that is receiving widespread attention just now, and justly so. Parents are usually of the opinion that the child's education is just the matter, and that the unattractive interiors of school rooms are not calculated and cannot be expected to be productive of the best educational results. If we consider the child's mind as a garden, the school room is the soil in which the seed of knowledge must be sown.
If the soil is unattractive and unhealthy, the seed will not grow. It is, therefore, of the highest importance that we should make the school room a place where the child can be pleased and interested. The most attractive text books, it has been found, are not sufficient. The whole atmosphere must be one of interest and pleasure. The child must find there food for his whole being, or his will be a onesided education.

It is a sad thing to see a child becoming aware of this necessity and hundreds of thousands of dollars are being expended in the purchase of text books, and in the decoration of school rooms, when the child is not receiving the education which he needs. It is, therefore, of the highest importance that we should make the school room a place where the child can be pleased and interested.

THE MACHINE

The machine approved. First came the subdivision of labor, and the specialization of work. When the machine appeared it pushed the working men out of the street, first to the work of the machine, and later to the work of the machine. The machine attempted to destroy the machine, but it increased, and a new machine could ever be made that would not be destroyed.

CROWD AT THE MOUNTAIN

The lecture by Prof. Hamill, general secretary of the International Sunday School Workers' association at the First Baptist church last evening had a very small attendance, owing to the heavy fall of rain at the time. The lecture was also to be given in the afternoon but was omitted as Prof. Hamill's coming was delayed by the wreck at Black Mountain.

Those who attended the lecture last evening, however, were well repaid for whatever inconvenience they experienced. Prof. Hamill proved to be a very interesting speaker. His remarks related to the best and most approved methods of instructing Sunday school classes. In connection with his lecture was a blackboard outline of his methods. The Sunday school teachers present received a great deal of valuable instruction.

Prof. Hamill left for his home in Illinois last night.
