He spoke in favor of the resolution of Mr. Weilington, which offers independence to the Filipinos, and against the bill proposed by Mr. Spooner of Wisconsin, conferring authority on the president to govern the Philippines until congress shall have otherwise declared. Incidentally he opposed the tariff proposed on Porto Rican pro-dusta. he was opposed to holding the Phil ippines, because under the law of nations we have no title and never can have complete title except by conquest of the inhabitants. "If we govern them hey will either be citizens or serfs. Whether they labor as our citizens and equals or whether they labor as our po-litical slaves, their labor competes with the labor of our country, and I am opposed to that. I am for expansion. I voted for annexation of Hawaii, but would never have sent 65,000 men ther to compel them to accept our flag. In other words, I am against taking any territory by conquest against a friendly people, and against taking any territory that brings a cheap class of labor in free and open competition with the class of men and women who work in this country."

Adverting to Porto Rico he maintained that when the treaty of Paris was atified the island became a part of the United States and congress had more right to put a duty on her products than it had to put a tariff duty in products passing between New York and Washington.
