Asheville the Place for the Next Convention

And now the talk has begun about where the next Democratic State convention shall be held.

Let's have it in Asheville!

We are a little to the west of the center of the State, to be sure, but the convention meets in hot weather a trip to the mountains would be mighty pleasant, especially for eastern delegates.

Raleigh expects the convention because of its central location and greatest accessibility and its possession of accommodations equal to any town of the State.

In addition to Asheville's being so magnificently situated for the convention and for giving the delegates the time of their lives, we would remind Democrats that Western North Carolina is a mighty big country with a mighty heap of people in it.

Kansas to the Front Again

Kansas is again to the front. This time the revolving wheel of events throws upon the shores of time a man who is about to pilot a band of pilgrims to the Holy Land to seek the Ark of the Covenant spotted in the New Testament.

It was also contained in the same writing that the prophet, being warned of God, commanded the tabernacle and ark to go with him in the mountain and when Jeremy came thither he found a hollow cave, where he hid the ark and the ark and the altar of incense and so stopped the door.

Our Duty to Cuba

Our duty to Cuba has been performing. We have freed her from the Spanish yoke at a cost of some hundreds of millions, and have started her upon a career of constitutional government.

New Chief Justice of Arizona

Washington Cor. New York Sun.) Edward Keck of Colorado, who was today appointed by the President to be Chief Justice of Arizona, is a son of that famous old Whig who was a candidate of his party for the governorship of Maine in the Taylor campaign.

Cuba and the War Tax

Although the President and the Republican majority in Congress have gone along the highway of legislation peaceably enough so far, there now appears some disposition to pull apart on the Cuba question.

With Tar Heel Editors

WHILE ROBBING SCHLEY. Durham Herald. Instead of claiming the victory for the Tar Heel States, Secretary Long might have sent a step forward and claimed it for himself as he is supposed to be the head of the whole push.

A GREAT MORAL QUESTION.

Raleigh Harbinger. We print this week some extracts from the Literary Digest, discussing the question of "whether a man can be a Christian on five dollars a week."

A MOST "AMOOISIN" FIGHT.

Rockingham Anglo-Saxon. "The Democrats are being made by a few dozens of people to stir up a fight against Judge Walter Clark for chief justice of our State."

OUR TEXTILE INDUSTRY.

Wilmington Star. As North Carolina has the lead in the number of textile establishments she will doubtless hold it, for textile manufacturing is profitable and important.

Corporations and the Courts

From the News and Observer. We hear a great deal these days about the wrongs which courts and courts inflict upon railroads and other public corporations.

Southern Woman Suicides

San Francisco, Feb. 4.—The identity of a middle-aged, richly dressed woman who committed suicide in Stockton on Friday night has been established by friends in this city.

Buried in an Avalanche

Graz, Austria, Feb. 4.—An avalanche from Mount Bobrach has partially buried the village of Bielberg, near the town of Villach.

Advertising

(Alfred Edmondson, Morecambe, Eng., in Retailer and Advertiser.) The most salient feature in mercantile success today is the proper use of printers' ink—advertising—good advertising.

The Donkey Who Sized Up Society

By Dorothy Dix in the New York Journal. Once upon a Time a number of Animals who dwelt in a great Forest, perceiving that they were getting it from the Neck of other Animals who had more Dough and a stronger Political Pull than they had, began to put in a sour-bellied murmur and to knock Fate.

Blind Stagger is still raging among horses in several counties in the State. A number have died in Lenoir and adjoining counties. The Kingston Free Press learns that in Hyde county alone about 1100 horses and mules have died of the dread disease, and that they are still dying.

More Shade Trees Needed

From the Tryon Bee. Asheville has had the offer of 3000 Carolina poplars to be planted all over the city by both private citizens and the town. The donor shows his public spirit in rather of an unusual channel, but in a way worthy of emulation.
