Figuring on mere circulation, newspaper advertising gives more for the same amount of money than any other kind of advertising. In quality, newspaper advertising is not to be compared to anything else.

To a certain extent the standing of the paper is an advantage to the advertiser. If he is using the best paper in town it certainly is an evidence of his shrewdness and enterprise. And if the paper is one that is looked to by the community generally as an authority on the questions of the day, it will make people all the more likely to believe and pay attention to the advertising it publishes.
