

SOCIETY FASHIONS WOMEN

Zionist Society Raises Money for San Francisco Sufferers.

The Zionist society of the Jewish church has been active in the last few days in raising money for the San Francisco sufferers. This organization struck upon the unique and successful plan of a drawing. A handsome picture was purchased and chances sold at 25 cents each. One hundred chances were readily sold, which netted $25 to the relief fund. This amount was promptly sent to The Citizen to go to its destination today. Mr. Paul Altman won the picture on the raffle.

Miss Etta London, a member of the Zionist society, was instrumental in arranging the enterprise.

PLAYS AND PLAYERS.

(Citizen's Special Service.)

Olga Netherole's present season closes in Rochester, N. Y., week after next, and the star and her supporting company will immediately sail for England. Miss Netherole is booked for a long summer run in London, and will return to American in November or a tour of the south and west, where she has never been seen. Louis Jansa announces that next season he will present an elaborate production of "The Merry Wives of Windsor."

Sam Bernard's next play is by Edgar Smith. It is called "The Rich Mr. Hoggendelmer."

Theodore Kremer is reported to be writing a thrilling melodrama around the recent San Francisco disaster. It is called "The Last Day of San Francisco."

Following recent examples of the daughters of other famous men, the daughter of ex-President Stevenson has written a play.

Madame Agatha Barsecu, a Roumanian actress, who has appeared in the city, is to make an American tour next season. She will be supported by an English-speaking company.

Rida Johnson Young, author of "Brown of Harvard," has contracted to write two new plays, one for James K. Hackett and one for Charles B. Dillingham.

Annie Russell is to make a brief tour in "Friend Hannah" before the season closes. Before they close the season E. H. Sothen and Julia Marlowe will be seen in six Shakespearean plays in New York.

Margaret Illington will probably play the leading feminine role in "The Lion and the Mouse" when that play is presented in London.

Madame Bertha Kallch, whose admirers are fond of comparing her with Mrs. Fiske, is to take final leave of the Yiddish stage this season. In future she will devote herself entirely to the English-speaking drama.

"MERCHANT OF VENICE"

Critics say that the exquisite and magnificent color effects shown in Ben Greet's Shakespearean performances have never been surpassed on the stage. Mr. Greet says the reason for this is not that his costumes are any more elaborate or costly than those of other managers, but his wardrobe has been carefully gathered from different sources, instead of being ordered from a costumer at so much per yard. His costumes are the real article, and have been made by costumers in all parts of Europe. Rich old fabrics unknown to the ordinary theatrical costumer have caught the artistic eye of Ben Greet and found their way into his wardrobe.

HAIR TELLS CHARACTER.

Color of Hair Said to Indicate a Person's Temperament.
Many people believe that blonde, or light hair denotes affection and dark hair constancy. A person without hair is not devoid of character, far from it. The disposition of the average bald-headed man is to show such solicitude for the welfare of others, that he neglects himself. A germ causes baldness. Prof. Sabouraud, of Paris, France, inoculated a rabbit with Dandruff germs, causing it to become totally bald in five weeks' time. To rid the scalp of these dangerous germs it is necessary to apply Newbro's Herpicide.
