

SENATORS CANNOT BREAK HABIT OF MAKING SPEECHES

After Making Good Progress, Beverage Gets Floor And Work Stops

TELLS OF EXACTIONS OF TOBACCO TRUST

Says His Party is Catering to Monopoly And Filling Its Coffers

(By Associated Press.) WASHINGTON, June 24.—A short time before adjournment at 7 o'clock the senate returned to the consideration of the schedule of the tariff bill after devoting the greater part of the day to listening to prepared speeches, and adopted amendments increasing the duty on shoes from 15 to 20 percent ad valorem and increasing the duty on sole leather from five to ten percent ad valorem, the lower figures representing the house rate in each case. An amendment also adopted during the day there were three prepared speeches all of them being of considerable length. Beginning when the senate convened at 10 o'clock Senator Beveridge talked for about four hours and was followed by Mr. Bailey at almost as great length. Mr. Newlands was the last of the orators of the day and he had not long surrendered the floor when the senate adjourned.

Attacks Tobacco Trust. Declaring that the American Tobacco company, which is ordinarily spoken of as the Tobacco Trust had been the recipient of many millions of dollars which otherwise would have gone into the national treasury because of the failure of the government to require a change in the size of tobacco packages when the war revenue law was repealed. Senator Beveridge spoke at length in support of his amendment to the tariff bill correcting this omission. Mr. Beveridge declared that if adopted his amendment would give the government more than $21,000,000 of revenue and correct the wrong which the people had suffered for eight years. "When," he said, "the tariff bill increased the tax on cigarettes a poor miserable increase. Yet the finance committee of the senate actually has

MRS. GOULD ENTERS GENERAL DENIAL TO ACCUSATIONS

Tells Court All Testimony Against Her Is Tissue of Slander

HUSBAND LAUGHS AT HER TESTIMONY

Farnum Also Declares There Were no Improprieties Between Him And Plaintiff

(By Associated Press.) NEW YORK, June 24.—Katharine Clemons Gould was called back to the stand for a final ordeal today, to explain away if possible the damaging testimony given by the witness for her husband in her suit for separation and alimony of $250,000 a year. For two warm hours Mrs. Gould looking for the first time somewhat uncomfortable in her smothering black satin gown, answered the carefully framed questions of her counsel, repudiating with a monotonous flat denial all testimony and insinuation charging her with excessive drinking, profanity or other impropriety. Chauffeurs, grooms, stable men, shop-keepers, laborers and other servants and employees were alike branded with the short and ugly epithet "Things She Never Did."

Getting down to specific instances, she told her counsel that she never tried to hitch up a pair of mules, never ordered a table full of dishes and food thrown from her St. Regis apartments, never referred to Dustin Farnum as "my new beau," never quarreled with her husband before company, never had a coachman's arm about her waist to hold her on the carriage seat, never discharged an employe in anger, never became intoxicated aboard the Niagara, never consumed two quarts of cocktails in two days.

Mrs. Gould's explanations of her friendship with Dustin Farnum naturally took up a considerable portion of her time today.

Whatever intimacy there was between her and the actor, she said, was accounted for by her desire to have his advice regarding her plans to return to the stage.

"My home had been broken up," she said, "all authority had been taken from me, my happiness was gone

CLUES APLENTY TO MISSING CHINESE BUT LEAD NOWHERE

Elsie Sigel's Slayer Seemingly Has Escaped In Labyrinth of Oriental Life

STOP THE GRILLING OF HIS ROOMMATE

Money He Borrowed Came From Chinese Reform Association It Appears

(By Associated Press.) NEW YORK, June 24.—With all tangible indications of any near approach to a solution of the murder of Elsie Sigel narrowing to the vanishing point, whereas a fresh crop of rumors springs with each hour of added uncertainty, another day of the three-fold investigation by the police, detectives and district attorney ended tonight. Chung Sin, after thirty-four hours of steady grilling, with but one intermission for sleep, had a day of rest at last. Either because the police despair of squeezing more information out of him, or because they believe that if he is left for a space to forget the details of his first answers he may entangle himself in more contradictions, they did not question him today.

Find Clues a Plenty. The same stream of hopeful but unsatisfactory clues kept pouring in from Chinatown itself, from Newark and the suburbs, and even from the cliffts of the Pacific coast, but as far as the police here could determine tonight, none of them proved to have any substantial basis.

A rumor that a war between the Chinamen was impending because of Chu Gain's revelations to the police found momentary confirmation in the arrest late today of a lone Chinaman with a revolver tucked in his blouse, but the police said tonight that they were unable to connect him with any concerted plan for an uprising.

Get Money From Friend. The one bit of authentic information which turned up today did not greatly forward the search for Leon Ling. This information came from Chu Gain, who explained that the $250 advanced to Chung Sin, Leon Ling's room mate did not come out of his private purse. The police have been much puzzled about this loan, because its existence involved a contradiction. Why should Chu Gain,

URGE THAT DENTISTS BE REQUIRED TO BE GRADUATED PHYSICIANS FIRST

North Carolina Dentists Pass Resolution Demanding That the Course of Study Be Lengthened, and That Proficiency in Medicine Be Made Prerequisite to License from State Board.

The dentists of North Carolina in convention assembled at Battery Park made it plain yesterday that they are holding a serious business meeting for the advancement of their profession. A resolution which after considerable discussion was adopted yesterday marks a great advance in the ideals of the profession, in that it is the first step taken in the state to require dentists to be no more than mere pullers of teeth and pluggers of teeth. The resolution, although it has no binding force on the state legislature and does not purport to become effective until 1915, urges that the whole curriculum of a dentist's education be changed so as to make him a physician first and a dentist afterward.

Lively Discussion. The question was raised by an able paper read by Dr. A. H. Fleming of Lenoir County. "Unlearned Men in a Learned Profession." The speaker maintained that men are allowed to practice who have not sufficient education to enable them to become skillful and advocating a four year's course as prerequisite for license. Far too many diplomas are given, he said, by dental colleges whose standards are far too low, and that some of these colleges accept students regardless of education, provided they have the price. The students are not taught physiology nor the ethics of the profession, and it is being filled with men who do measure to a high standard.

Dr. Betts of Greensboro agreed with Dr. Fleming and said that educational requirements should be sufficiently high to ensure the admission only of men competent to learn the practice scientifically.

Oppose Standard too High. Dr. Hughes of the Atlanta Dental college was inclined to disagree to a certain extent with the previous speakers. He said that to exact too stringent educational requirements would deprive some of the best dentists those naturally adapted. He hoped for the time rapidly advancing when the high ideals of Dr. Fleming would be attainable, but at the present time the society should not be too discriminating.

Dr. Whitsett of Greensboro opposed the requirement proposed for a four year course, saying that a premium should be put on brains and that the desideratum was to elevate the standard of the curriculum, and then require it to be met whether one or four years time of the student be necessary.

Dr. J. L. Johnson of Goldsboro, one of the examining board, sharply criticized some of the dental colleges, saying that not only are their requirements low but that they also do not live up to them, that they are after the money apparently.

Moderate in Views. Dr. Gray of Vanderbilt university said that a college education could not now be required as a prerequisite, but that the trend was toward requiring more theory and this would tend to require better education.

Dr. Horton of Winston maintained that the members of the profession, the colleges and the examiners could keep out until men fitly desired.

of medicine since they could not otherwise be fully qualified as dentists. The paper of Dr. J. C. Watkins of Winston-Salem on "Prophylaxis" was heard with interest. It was stated that unsanitary conditions of the mouth and teeth lead to many diseases of the body, and that sanitary methods in the treatment and care of the teeth would prevent 75 to 80 per cent of decay.

Memorial Service. The first part of the afternoon program was a memorial service with eulogistic addresses for the members of the association who have died within the past year. Dr. W. H. Ramsey of Hickory read a very able and sympathetic paper upon "The Life and Character of Dr. J. E. Griffith."

The paper was very carefully prepared and presented the life and work of this well known dentist in a masterful manner. Dr. D. L. James read the eulogy upon the life and work of Dr. E. S. Harris. Like the preceding paper it was one of rare interest and listened to with the greatest of interest.

In the latter part of the afternoon session the convention took up technical and scientific matters. The subjects of "Materials and Appliances" was considered by a number of the dentists led in by an excellent paper by Dr. J. W. Stanley of Wilmington.

Must Be Doctor First. The main matter of the day's proceedings was the resolution adopted unanimously by the convention seconding the action of the Virginia Dentists' Association.

TRY TO UPSET WILLS OF OLD MAN OF EIGHTY JUST BECAUSE HE LIKED GIRLS

Witnesses Say He Wanted to Be Rid of Wife to Marry Lass of 17.

HAD SOME MILLIONS

(Special to The Citizen.) NEW YORK, June 24.—His desire to become freed of his wife so that he could, at the age of eighty, wed a pretty housemaid of seventeen years, was given yesterday as only one of the many eccentricities of the late Samuel Roebuck, a wealthy manufacturer of window sashes, whose three wills have been filed with surrogate Ketchum in Brooklyn, for probate. The surrogate is trying to determine whether Mr. Roebuck, who left a fortune valued at more than $1,000,000, was in his right mind when he drew up any of the documents.

Many physicians who attended Mr. Roebuck during the last ten years were called yesterday to testify regarding his mental condition. Several were of the opinion that the wealthy manufacturer had not been competent for several years prior to his death, which occurred on February 9.

MINERS ARE BURNED IN EXPLOSION IN SHAFT OF BLUEFIELD COAL MINE

ONE LIKELY TO DIE

BLUEFIELD, W. Va., June 24.—News reached here tonight from Huger, thirty-five miles west of Bluefield, that seven miners were badly burned, one so seriously that he probably will die, as the result of an explosion of gas in the Dixon Escobedo coal company's mine early today. The explosion was caused by a blow out shot in one of the main workings of the mine. The gas saturation was very slight, otherwise the results would have been more serious. Only fifteen men were at work in the mine at the time.

FIREMEN CLOSE CASE BEFORE BOARD

ATLANTA, Ga., June 24.—The firemen closed their case before the arbitration board of the Georgia railroad strike at noon today. The railroad at once began its testimony, announcing that unless the cross-examinations were prosecuted it would rest its case by noon tomorrow. Argument will then be heard and it is not unlikely that the board's decision will be given Saturday. The railroad summoned many of its officials and executives to testify that negroes were competent and safe firemen, that there was little or no responsibility resting upon a fireman any how and that his one duty was to keep up steam.

DEATH AT HANDS OF ADMIRER PENALTY OF HER FRIVOLITY

Protogee of Ex-Sec. Gage Brutally Murdered And Body Thrown Into River

MOTIVE FOR CRIME REMAINS A MYSTERY

Man Who Is Supposed to Have Done Deed Is Arrested And Is In Jail

(By Associated Press.) ST. MICHAEL'S, Md., June 24.—Practically the entire eastern shore of Maryland was aroused and searching tonight for one Emmitt E. or John T. Roberts, wanted in connection with the brutal murder of Mrs. Edith May Woodill, wife of Gilbert Woodill, an automobile dealer of Los Angeles, Cal., whose nude body, the skull crushed in from a blow apparently delivered from behind; the face horribly disfigured; the entire body swollen from the effects of several days immersion, and weighted with a dozen bricks was yesterday discovered by boys who were crabbing in Back creek, a tributary of the Choptank river, not far from the home of Mrs. Woodill's foster father, Captain Charles H. Thompson, a few miles from here.

Description of Man. Roberts was with Mrs. Woodill when she was seen for the last known time, and he is accused of having committed the murder. The motive for the crime is at present a mystery.

Roberts is Captured. At 11 o'clock last night word reached here that Roberts had been surrounded in the house of John H. McQuay, at Coymon, seven miles from here and about one and one half miles from the bungalow where the murder was committed. A posse left here in automobiles at midnight. Roberts is believed to be heavily armed.

McQuay noticed a skulker near his home late in the night and called to him. He came to the house and asked for water. Recognizing him as Roberts; McQuay invited him into the house and sent his wife secretly to notify neighbors, by whom the house was surrounded. He was captured after midnight tonight and lodged in jail at Easton.

Was a Summer Visitor. Mr. and Mrs. Woodill came here early this month, the latter with the intention of spending the summer with her foster father. Her husband remained only a few days, leaving her, it is understood, for Detroit whence he intended to return to Los Angeles. From that time Mrs. Woodill and Roberts are said to have seen much of each other. Last Saturday, Mrs. Woodill went to Easton to have some dental work done, and it had been arranged that Roberts should meet her at Royal Oak and return with her to her home. Roberts missed the train for Royal Oak and drove to Easton, met Mrs. Woodill and drove with her back here to the landing where his launch was moored. They entered the launch and Mrs. Woodill was not seen again alive, so far as has been learned.

Sent Forged Letter. Since her arrest Roberts has made a trip to Baltimore, from which point a letter was received by Captain Thompson.

OBNOXIOUS NEGRO DIES AN ACCIDENTAL DEATH

Mob Had Him, but It Is Claimed He Fell from Bridge Afterward.

(By Associated Press.) TALLADEGA, Ga., June 24.—After being taken from his home Saturday by a posse the body of a blind traveling preacher was found near here yesterday in a creek. The preacher whose name had not been learned, had made speeches which angered the whites in his neighborhood, and probably indignation against him was further inflamed by the fact that he stopped at the home of the negro William Crocker, who was lynched on Tuesday night for having killed William Leonard a white man. Saturday with a posse of whites was searching for the preacher with the intention of starting him away from the community. The preacher is said to have warned negroes not to work for whites.
