

EXPOSURE OF GRAB LED TO DISCOVERY OF STILL ANOTHER

Acting Mayor McGowan Stirring up Mess That May Have Unpleasant Odor

LIGHT FALLS ON A CERTAIN WATER DEAL

Alleged That Contracts Were "Obscurely Drawn" And Grafting Is Possible

NEW YORK, August 4.—The discovery of one land grab led to the uncovering of another deal yesterday when Acting Mayor McGowan and Corporation Counsel Pendleton, temporarily, if not permanently, held up the Long Island Railroad City land grab pending an inquiry as to how it got through the board of estimates, and whether Water Supply Commissioner O'Brien is to be the only individual who can locally arrange terms.

While the corporation counsel was investigating, the comptroller's office was busy seeking to explain why a second "job" had developed in the proposed grant. It was disclosed that about six months ago Mayor McCellan and Comptroller Metz approved the purchase by the Queens county water company of a tract like unto that sought by the Long Island company for about $29,000.

TARIFF BILLS SIGNED BY MR. TAFT AND IT IS NOW "REVISED"

Not Exactly According to Hoyle But It Is the Best He Could Give The Country.

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—The tariff has been revised and the extraordinary session of congress has been brought to a close. Both houses adjourned sine die officially at six o'clock tonight. The actual adjournment was taken in the house at 5:18 p. m. and in the senate at 8:11 p. m. The bill was signed by the president tonight.

The closing hours of the session were attended by scenes of most interesting character. The occasion had been according to the desire of some, and with the hearty approval of others, and the last two days had been consumed by members of the senate in expressing their satisfaction.

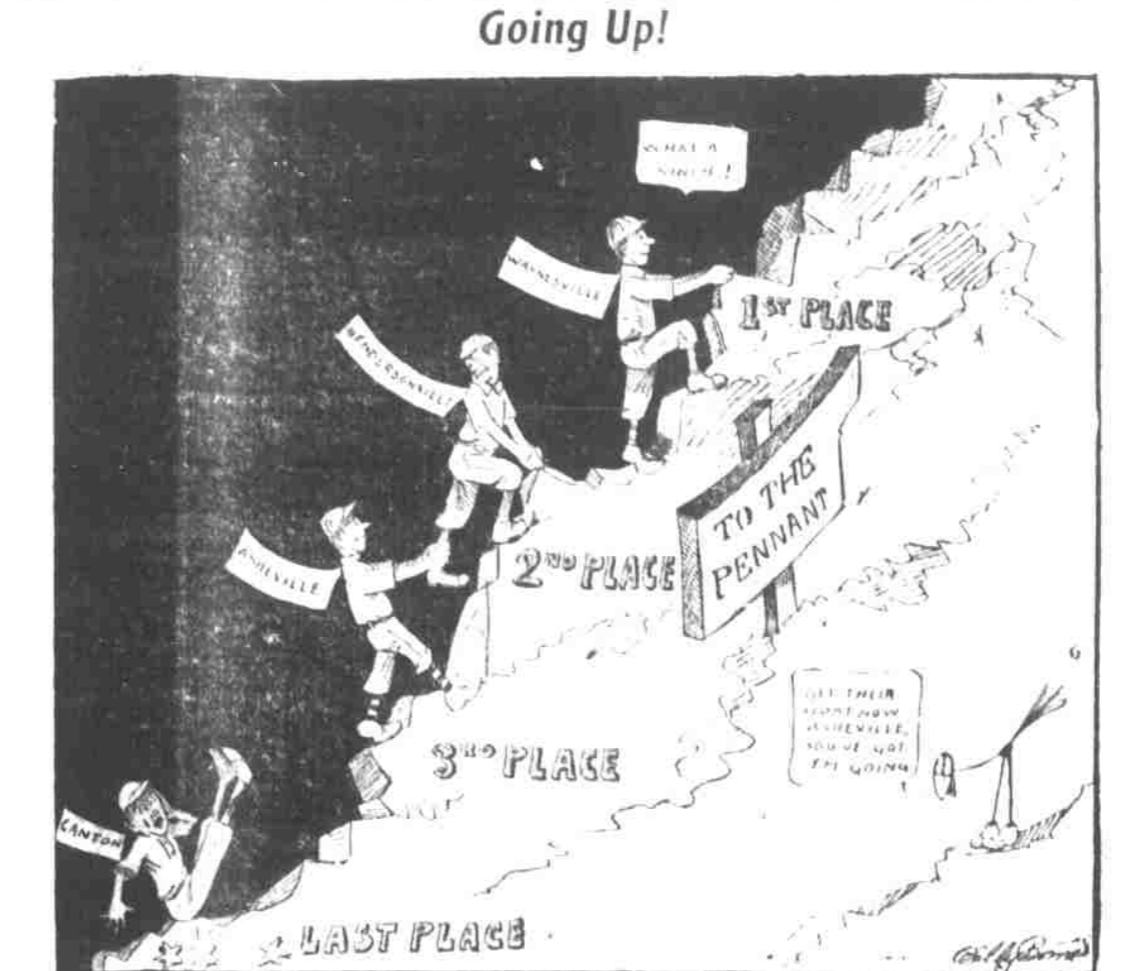

The closing hours of the session were attended by scenes of most interesting character. The occasion had been according to the desire of some, and with the hearty approval of others, and the last two days had been consumed by members of the senate in expressing their satisfaction.

Senator Taft of Florida, in rather a plaintive tone, said: "Mr. President, you are not going to sign the bill with that paragraph in it." He referred to the fact that he secured an increased duty on pineapples in the senate, which was eliminated in conference.

"What would you have, 'ma' dar? Shall I strike out pineapples altogether, or just write in a rate for rail ton?" Asked Mr. Taft laconically.

Senator Fletcher of Florida, when telling the president goodbye, soon after, was demurely with a "goodbye" and pineapple take care of yourself.

When the senate and house committees were appointed to inform the president that congress was ready to adjourn, called at the president's room, the tariff bill had not been agreed. Senator Aldrich made his brief and formal announcement.

LONG DAY SPENT ON THE TRAIL OF NOTES DISCOUNTED BY BANK

Former Teller S. T. Dorsett Has One Busy Day on the Stand and Was Still There When Court Adjourned for the Day—Crowd of Two Spectators Filled the Court Room—Proceedings Tedious.

District Attorney Dalton yesterday took up the trail in the Dorsett-Dickerson case of the notes discounted by the failed First National bank, and had his witness, former Teller S. T. Dorsett, track and trace the proceeds of these notes, showing how the money they produced went first into one account, then another and another, all finally rebounding to the government claim to the benefit of defendants Breese and Dickerson.

Mr. Dorsett then related something of what happened in the bank the night before the bank failed, July 30. He said that he and Breese were in the bank, Dickerson and Penland being there also at times and of Breese handing him a placard with directions to post in on the front door next morning if he did not get in cash in the meantime. Witness said that next morning he hung out the sign which was dated July 30, 6 P. M., and said in effect that at a meeting of the board of directors it was decided to close the doors, the stringency of the times and inability to collect debts making this course imperative.

Witness had previously told of the considerable overdraft appearing on the books against defendants and was asked if he had any specific instructions from President Breese about overdrafts to which he replied that he had none but he knew Breese wanted to keep them down and he acted accordingly.

PRESIDENT SAYS TARIFF BILL IS NOT PERFECT BUT-

It is "A Sincere Effort by Party to Make a Downward Revision"

DID NOT PROMISE FREE TRADE BILL

Calls It the "Payne Bill" And Appears to be Well Satisfied Therewith

WASHINGTON, August 5.—President Taft tonight gave out a statement embodying his views of the new tariff act, which he designates officially as the "Payne bill" in accordance with past custom of giving first recognition to the framer of the measure in the house of representatives.

The president declares that while the bill is not perfect by any means, it is a sincere effort on the part of the party to make a downward revision and to comply with the promise of the platform.

What He Says. The statement in full follows: "I have signed the Payne tariff bill because I believe it to be the result of a sincere effort on the part of the republican party to make a downward revision, and to comply with the promises of the platform as they have been generally understood, and as I interpreted them in the campaign before election. The bill is not a perfect tariff bill, or a complete compliance with the promises made strictly interpreted, but a fulfillment free from criticism in respect to subject matter involving many schedules and thousands of articles could not be expected. It suffices to say that except with regard to whiskey, liquors and wines, and in regard to (Continued on page seven.)

DISTURB THE BONES OF THE DEAD ARCHITECT IN THAW INSANITY HEARING

The Unsavory Accounts of White's Depraved Actions Are Repeated.

THAW TESTIFIES

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., August 5.—More of those stories which have stained the memory of the eminent architect, Stanford White, stories that parallel the tale of the Madison square garden tower case as told by Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, were related at Thaw's sanity hearing before Justice Mills today. They were told first by witnesses called in Thaw's behalf and then by Thaw himself.

Between those unsavory accounts, like a jewel held up to view between soiled fingers, came an illustration of another love and filial affection that brought tears even to the eyes of those seated in the courtroom when returned to leave the court room when earned of the kind of testimony that was to come. This was the appearance on the stand of Mrs. Mary O'Connell Thaw, the prisoner's white-haired mother.
