NEW YORK, August 17.—Long Island lifesavers after a six-hour battle added another victory against the sea to their long list of remarkable rescues today when they brought safely to land the captain and crew of seven souls in all—from the three-masted schooner Arlington, of Boston, which went ashore early this morning in the driving rain and fog of Long Beach on the south shore of Long Island. The eighth member of the crew, Madden Pierson, a Swedish out of the schooner on a raft with the hope of reaching shore with a line, and was swept out to sea and lost sight of. It is believed that he is dead.

Thought Hotel a Ship.

The rescue from the schooner was witnessed by cheering guests of the Samsun hotel at Long Beach and by hundreds of onlookers. The hotel was indirectly responsible for the vessel's plight, for Captain Ira Small after losing his bearings mistook the shimmering lights in the structure for those of a liner in mid ocean, and mistook, ran aground. The schooner heavily laden with anthracite, struck a sand bar. Pounded by heavy sea while a terrific easterly gale was blowing, she began to yield and finally foundered.

Thrilling Rescue.

The captain and crew climbed out of the bowsprit. The life savers reached the scene soon after daylight, they worked frantically, but in vain trying to shoot a line to the wreck. The high wind and sea made this impossible, but after six futile attempts succeeded in getting a surf boat through the breakers to the lee of the wreck and the rescue of the imperiled sailors followed.

Aside from a broken ankle sustained by the cabin boy, and the suffering incident to exposure which all sustained, no one was seriously injured. The Arlington will be a total loss.

(By Associated Press.)

RHEIMS, August 17.—Limping heavily on a cane and suffering, though uncomplainingly, from a laceration on his right foot sustained when his aeroplane fell during a practice run yesterday, Glenn H. Curtiss, the American aviator, today superintended the repairs to his damaged machine, and tonight had the satisfaction of seeing it entirely restored and ready for flight. Mr. Curtiss is expected to start immediately with the trials, but his friends are endeavoring to dissuade him from taking any chances, declaring that he is likely to incur a permanent disability if he should again fall.

At Rheims, where he is expected to arrive tomorrow, Curtiss is accompanied by Premier Brand, minister of Justice, Baron Minister of Public Works and the Minister of War, both expected to witness the contests Wednesday and Thursday of next week.

PALMETTO STATE

SPOTS LEFT IN IT

Three And Probably Six of
Twenty One Counties
Voted For Dispensary

CHARLESTON FOR IT
BY ABOUT FIVE TO ONE

Election Passed Off Quietly
And But a Small Vote
Was Polled

(By Associated Press.)

CHARLESTON, S. C., August 17.—The unofficial returns from the election held in twenty-one of the so-called "wet" counties of South Carolina today for the purpose of allowing the voters of each county to choose between prohibition and the county dispensary system indicate that the prohibitionists have won victories in fifteen of these counties. Complete returns from some precincts not reported tonight may change the result in two or three counties, but the probabilities are that prohibition has carried in Abbeville, Hamburg, Hartwell, Berkeley, Calhoun, Colleton, Dorchester, Fairfield, Hampton, Kershaw, Lee, Lexington, Orangeburg, Sumter and Williamsburg counties. The dispensary was won in Aiken, Charleston and Richland counties and is leading in Florence, Georgetown, and Beaufort counties.

Small Vote Polled.

The election was without excitement or special incident in any county and a small vote was polled. The majorities for prohibition according to the present returns, which are in most cases practically complete, range from fourteen in Calhoun county to 982 in Orangeburg county.

The largest majority for the dispensary is in Charleston county, where it received 1,525 votes against 205 for prohibition. One-half of the state was already dry and the act under which today's election was held was a compromise measure adopted at the last session of the legislature to defeat a bill providing for statewide prohibition. The general belief is that the prohibitionists will again win the passage of such a law at the next legislature next January.

The election today was on the question of voting in the dispensary, prohibition having been defeated since August 2 last under the bill providing for the election, which permitted the counties then "wet" to vote back their dispensary if they so desired.

MONSTER IN CRIME
CONFESES TO THE
MURDER OF COUSIN

Took His Money And Had a
Good Time on It While
It Lasted

WHEN MONEY WAS GONE
BECAME FRIGHTENED

Then Waylaid His Aunt And Almost Killed Her And Robbed Her

(By Associated Press.)

BAITIMORE, August 17.—Oliver Harris, the young man who some days ago acknowledged having murderously assaulted his aunt, Mrs. Clara Harris, this afternoon confessed that on July 22, he murdered his cousin, Hanson Poole, whose terribly decomposed body was found on Saturday afternoon in a closet in the little cabin in which he lived alone near Rockville, Montgomery county. The confession, which followed two hours' sweating by Baltimore detectives—Harris having been brought here largely for that purpose, it is said—was taken down by a stenographer and a typewritten copy of it was signed by Harris. In it he says that he went to Poole's cabin about five o'clock in the morning, July 22, to buy some whiskey and that a quarrel arose over the question whether he or Poole put water in the liquor.

Claims Self-Defense.

The confession continues: "He came toward me and I knocked him down. When he got up he grabbed for the rifle, I then grabbed the rifle and shot him and hit him with a hammer. I did not want him to make any noise and draw any crowd. I shot him twice more while he was on the mattress. I then dragged him to the closet and shut the door."

Harris further said that he took two quarts of whiskey and $52 in money which Poole had, together with his keys, and went away. Subsequently he went to a fair at Rockville and to Washington, where the money taken from Poole was spent. Poole not having been seen for about three weeks, his father became uneasy and on Sunday began the search which ended in the finding of the body of his son in his home.

Robbed His Aunt.

While the stolen money lasted, Harris seems to have given no thought to the possible consequences of the crime. Firmly realizing something of his position, however, and needing money with which to get away from the neighborhood, his thoughts turned to his aunt, Mrs. Clara Harris. He knew that she usually kept some money at her home, but took it with her whenever she left there.

Snatching her word that a relative was ill and needed her, Harris waylaid her in a field and almost killed her. Robbery alone was the motive for this crime, Harris says. Mrs. Harris was shot and beaten very much as was Poole. This and the fact that Harris appeared to have been the last person to see Poole alive three or four hours after he was murdered, soon brought out his confession. It is understood that he will be taken back to Rockville tomorrow.

MARION, N. C., August 17.—Miss Shaver, aged twenty years, attempted suicide in Marion yesterday, at a boarding house on State street, by drinking the contents of a four-cent bottle of laudanum and was only saved from death by the heroic efforts of Dr. B. L. Amos.

Sunday evening Miss Shaver walked into a local drug store and asked for a few cent bottle of laudanum to cure a severe toothache. At the time one of the clerks said that she was very pale and that the medicine in her face was tightly drawn. She snatched the laudanum and walked to her boarding house on State street. From the house she went to a spring about one hundred feet distance and drank the contents of the bottle. She was discovered there by John Hansen. He smelled the drug and then she told him what she had done.

Due to Faulty Indexing
Acts of Assembly.

NO JURY WAS DRAWN

(Special to The Citizen.)

GREENSBORO, N. C., Aug. 17.—Following the fact that the Guilford county bar and board of commissioners did not discover until the middle of last week that the last legislature changed the time of holding the August term of Superior Court from August 27 to 17, so as to give two weeks instead of the regulation week, Sheriff Jones was forced to announce to the court yesterday morning that no jury had been summoned to appear until next Monday, and that this state of affairs before him Judge Hays, after hearing several motions adjourned court until next Monday.

Before adjournment John N. Wilson, attorney for the county, said Jones, stating that he would like to say a few words in explanation of that fact. He stated that when the commissioners went to draw a jury for the August term of court they found no change in the court for Guilford county, indicated in the editions of the acts of the general assembly of 1909. They then examined the Superior Court calendar in 1909, which gave reports and they then found that Guilford court was August 17, one week ahead of time. They then drew a jury for the one week term beginning August 27, which is next Monday. I had several court hours that under the index of Peterson and Jones a notice the law is changed so as to give Guilford a two weeks' term beginning August 17.
