But Official Washington Conspicuously Ignores The Explorer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Dr. Frederick A. Cook, the Arctic explorer, announced tonight shortly after his arrival from New York to deliver his lecture here, that he will acquiesce in the proposition that the University of Copenhagen be asked to waive its claims to a prior examination of his records, in order that American Geographical societies, and other scientific bodies in this country may be enabled to review his data. He said he would be satisfied to have the decisions of all of these tribunals announced simultaneously.

Dr. Cook reached Washington at 6.40 o'clock this evening and was driven immediately to the new Willard hotel where he had dined and talked with newspaper men, before going to a local theatre to deliver his lecture.

May Look For Another.
Francis characterized Dr. Cook's answers to every question asked by the newspaper men, although the explorer added but little to what he already has said and published since he returned to civilization. When asked if he would in the future fit up an expedition to go to the South pole, Dr. Cook said he was not yet prepared to answer that point, but he added that discovery of the South pole would be rendered much easier than the North pole, and would be attended by far less dangerous risks. He pointed out that a probable route to the South pole would be along stretches of land on which stations might be established, and that this would mean a quicker discovery.

Through Greets Him.
An enthusiastic crowd of several thousand people greeted Dr. Cook upon his arrival at the Union station, and throngs in their eagerness to see or get near him were kept back with difficulty by several scores of police and detectives. At the station (Continued on Page Three.)

ONLY TWO OFFICERS TO HOLD DOWN LID

Will Have Plenty of Work to do to Carry Out Plans of Administration

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Washington will soon be in the full swing of governmental work under the direction of the heads of the departments.

Two members of the president's cabinet—Secretary of the Navy Meyer and Secretary of Agriculture Wilson—are tonight "sitting on the lid" of the government and two others—Attorney General Wickersham and Secretary of Commerce and Labor Nagel—are expected Tuesday.

Secretary of State Knox, who spent most of the summer at his country home at Valley Forge, is expected in Washington the last week in October. He will consider the Hankow railway loan question and the re-organization of the bureau of the department and will decide whether the United States should protest against the two treaties recently negotiated by China and Japan involving Manchurian issues.

Secretary of the Treasury MacVeagh is at Dublin, N. H., near the White mountains. With the improving situation in the treasury the question of the issue of certificates of indebtedness under the discretionary authority given by congress has been pressed into the background for the time but this, together with other matters of financial import will be discussed in his annual report.

Wickersham's Tasks.
Attorney General Wickersham is to participate in the argument of the government's suit against the American Tobacco company, for alleged violation of the anti-trust laws in the Supreme court of the United States on October 12. The proposed legislation of a sweeping character to overcome the weaknesses of the present interstate commerce law for which a bill incorporating the administration's ideas has been tentatively drafted, the conservation of anti-trust prosecutions, the least ends of the re-organization of the executive depart-

PRESIDENT SHOWS

Declares Churches Growing
Together in Contest For Righteousness

PORTLAND, Oregon, Oct. 3.—President Taft today preached another sermon, this time at the cornerstone laying of the First Universalist church in East Portland. The president handled the silver trowel and worked hard to see that the stone was properly adjusted.

The president's train left at 10.10 p. m. over the Southern Pacific for Sacramento, Calif. Mr. Taft attended the morning services at the First Universalist church in Portland, and listened to a sermon by Rev. W. G. Elliot, Jr. Afterwards he was the guest of honor at a luncheon by Senator Bourne.

In the early afternoon the president visited St. Mary's Roman Catholic school and made a five minute address to the school children in which he declared that loyalty to a church meant fidelity to country.

Recalls Temple Episode.
At the cornerstone laying he said: "I don't know that any one questions the propriety of my being here and officiating on such an occasion as this, or that an explanation of any sort is called for. But I want to say that I believe it to be the duty of the president of these United States to welcome and to suggest every instrument by which the morals and religion of the community may be elevated and maintained. Not long ago I officiated at the cornerstone laying of an orthodox congregational church in Washington. Then I appeared in the pulpit of a Jewish tabernacle at Pittsburg. But a few days ago I helped to lay the cornerstone of a Catholic institution at Helena, Mont.

"And now it is my great pleasure to assist here today in laying that cornerstone of this Universalist church which like my own, the Unitarian church, is known as a liberal one.

"I am glad always to be present at such occasions as these, for I believe (Continued on Page Three.)

CHRISTIAN SCIENTISTS DEPOSE ONLY
POSSIBLE SUCCESSOR TO MRS. EDDY

Mrs. Stetson Who Has Long Been Regarded as Next in Succession to the Head of the Church is Forbidden to Practice Healing and Stripped of Her Authority.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—The most important event which could occur in Christian Science circles outside of the death of Mrs. Eddy is the announcement that the officials of the mother church in Boston have deposed Mrs. Augusta E. Stetson, who has long been the dominant influence in the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in this city. Her card has been removed from The Christian Science Journal and her license as a practitioner has been revoked by the officials.

For a long time Mrs. Stetson has been regarded by many people as the logical successor of Mrs. Eddy as the head of the church, in spite of the fact that most Christian Scientists declare that Mrs. Eddy can have no successor and the action taken against her indicates that the prevailing idea in the church at this time is that Mrs. Eddy shall have no successor. The principal charge which was made against Mrs. Stetson was that she obtruded her own personality into her teaching, and endeavored to obtain a personal control over her pupils which is closely allied to hypnotism and which is strongly condemned by Christian Science. In addition to this it is declared that she was trying to build up a single church in this city which was to be the one and only church in this city whereas the by-laws of the church provide that when a church membership outgrows the capacity of its edifice a new church shall be formed.

Calls Her Church Supreme.
Eugene R. Cook, formerly of Chicago and now head of the publication committee for the Christian Science church in this city, when asked concerning the reported action on the part of the mother church officials, gave out the following statement: "An inquiry under article XII, section 3, of the by-laws of the mother church, has been held by the Christian Science board of directors, which was concluded on September 25, 1909.

"At the inquiry twenty-six persons with whom Mrs. Augusta E. Stetson, of New York city, has held daily meetings called 'practitioners' meetings were summoned as witnesses, and all but one attended but having unavoidably prevented from coming, Mrs. Stetson was not summoned, she having only recently been questioned before the directors regarding her teaching and practice of Christian Science. All but one of the twenty-five persons thus examined were students of Mrs. Stetson and all of them were a select body of students chosen by her, or a board of which she was a member, to be representative practitioners of Christian Science.

Directors' Findings.
"After hearing these witnesses the directors unanimously decided: "1. That Mrs. Stetson teaches her students, or those with whom she has been holding daily meetings, that the branch church of Christ, Scientist, of which she is a member, is the only legitimate Christian Science church in New York city; and she teaches students, or said group of students, not to regard the other branches of the mother church which are in the city as Christian Science churches.

"2. That a considerable number of the witnesses whose testimony as directors have heard exhibit as Mrs. Stetson's teaching an erroneous sense of Christian Science, particularly in regard to the application of Christian Science to human needs and conditions.

"3. That Mrs. Stetson endeavors to exercise a control over her students which tends to hinder their mental and spiritual growth.

"4. That Mrs. Stetson endeavors to obtrude herself upon the attention of her students in such a manner as to prevent their attention from being directed to the teachings of Christian Science.

"5. That Mrs. Stetson practices and teaches pretended Christian Science contrary to the statement thereof in 'Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures,' particularly by treating persons without their request or consent, and by teaching a select body of her students to do likewise.

"6. That Mrs. Stetson attempts to control and to injure persons by mental means, this being utterly contrary to the teachings of Christian Science.

"7. That Mrs. Stetson has so strayed from the right way as not to be fit for the work of a teacher of Christian Science.

"For these reasons the directors removed Mrs. Stetson's card as a practitioner and teacher from The Christian Science Journal; revoked her license or authority to teach Christian Science; forbade her to undertake the work of a teacher of Christian Science until her fitness for such work should be proved and decided, according to article 12, section 1, of said by-laws, and admonished (Continued on page four.)

WORRY OVER LOSS

While Demoted Killed His In-

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—A romantic story has been disclosed by post-office inspectors regarding Harrison Hatfield, of the family of feudists of that name, who died recently in the penitentiary at Mount Vernon, W. Va.

Harrison Hatfield lived near Horseshoe in the mountains of West Virginia. He was widely known as "Old Hatcher", and was a leader of the Hatfields in the McCoy-Hatfield feud which amounted almost to civil war and disrupted several counties on the borders of West Virginia and Kentucky. One of his eyes was shot out during a raid which the Hatfields made into Kentucky several years ago. The Hatfields owned large areas of land in West Virginia from which they realized considerable money.

Warned Against Fire.
"Old Hatcher" deposited $2,554 in the Guyan Valley bank at Logan, W. Va. Subsequently, having heard of the money he authorized Alexander H. Trent, postmaster at Horseshoe, to direct the bank to forward to him the money by registered mail. Hatfield called at the postoffice repeatedly for a registered letter, but when it arrived on April 24, 1907, he had left the office only a short time before to assist an intoxicated friend who could not attend his wife's case. He directed Postmaster Trent to send the money to the postoffice.

Early on the following morning the postoffice was destroyed by fire, the contents of the safe alone being saved. Hatfield's letter was not in the safe. Postmaster Trent declared he had placed the letter with the ordinary mail, all of which was burned.

An investigation of the fire and of the disappearance of the letter was made by postoffice inspectors. It was discovered that Postmaster Trent had obtained a typewriter from a Chicago concern by fraudulent representations to which he confessed. Later Postmaster Trent and his father were indicted for having stolen the registered letter. Postmaster Trent finally confessed to the theft and made propositions looking to the refunding of the money. He produced from a jar hidden under the barn the sum of $1,250, which, with $500 obtained from his bondsmen was eventually turned over to Hatfield. Trent was convicted of the crime, but escaped from jail and is a fugitive from justice.

Became Insane.
Becoming insane from worry over the loss of his money and the sudden elation at the recovery of a considerable part of it, Harrison Hatfield poisoned his wife, who was an Indian woman. He was sentenced to the penitentiary for life and there he died only a few days ago. It was not until his death that the postoffice inspectors felt justified in revealing all the facts respecting the case.

UPSTATE PEOPLE WILL HAVE CHANGE TO SEE THE PRIMITIVE NAVAL SHOW

Hudson-Fulton Celebration
Take its Way up Hudson River.

HUGHES WILL FOLLOW

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—The Hudson-Fulton celebration after a week of pomp and pageantry in New York has moved up the Hudson and for another week the cities lying to the north will vie with each other in doing honor to the memory of Hudson and Fulton. The Half Moon and the Clermont with the naval escort, now at anchor at Poughkeepsie, will continue their voyage northward stopping at Kingston, Catskill, Hudson, Albany and Troy, where elaborate local celebrations have been planned.

During the week a military tournament by United States troops will be held at Camp Oliver, on Island park near Albany.

Governor Hughes, who attended a sacred concert in Carnegie Hall, New York tonight will begin his up-state trip tomorrow. During the forenoon he will receive a parade at Yonkers going on to Poughkeepsie in the afternoon where a banquet will be given in his honor. On Tuesday the naval squadron, with the Half Moon and Clermont will move on to Kingston. Catskill will be the scene of Wednesday's celebration. A special trip to the haunts of Rip Van Winkle in the Catskill mountains under the auspices of the Hudson society has been arranged for the officers and men of the Half Moon.

Hudson will receive the flotilla on Thursday. The capital of the state will be reached on Friday. As the naval parade passes up the river on the following day on the way to Troy it will be saluted by the Watervliet Arsenal.

At night a chain of signal fires on mountain tops and other eligible points from Staten Island to the head of navigation will mark the end of the two weeks celebration. On the following Monday the fleet will proceed (Continued on page six.)

EIGHT MEN PERISH IN AN INFERNO OF FLAMES AS
GAS EXPLODES IN MINE

Fire Shoots in Air and Sets
Fire to Buildings in Adjacent Mining Town.

WATER SUPPLY OFF.

ROSLYN, Wash., Oct. 3.—At least eight men were killed and three perhaps fatally injured in a gas explosion in coal mine No. 4 of the Northwestern Improvement company near here today.

When the explosion occurred a column of fire was thrown hundreds of feet into the air, igniting the shaft plant and adjoining buildings. Under the intense heat the hoist of the shaft crumpled and fell. Cinders were blown in all directions, several buildings in parts of the little mining town taking fire. The citizens were unable to extinguish the fires and the Roslyn fire department was called out.

The mine in the neighborhood of the shaft was burning fiercely late tonight, flames shooting up from the shaft nearly 100 feet into the air. The electric pumps which supply the town of Roslyn with water were cut off and the water in the city was very nearly exhausted. It was reported that the shaft was caving in and that other explosions might occur at any moment.

Rescue parties will be sent into the mine from the slope connecting with the shaft as soon as it is safe for men to approach.

REVOLUTION IN PARAGUAY.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Revolutionists are active in Paraguay according to advices received at the state department today from Minister O'Brien. The whole republic is incensed, the government forces have lost twenty men and the revolutionists a hundred, according to the dispatch. The government has eight thousand soldiers and the revolutionists fifteen hundred, according to the cablegram, which seems to have been confused in transmission.

SEN. GAZZAM WILL AID
HIS DAUGHTER IN HER
IMPENDING TROUBLES

She Sent Him Flowers
When He was Hurt in Kenilworth Fire.

LONG ESTRANGED.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 3.—For the first time since his daughter, Miss Antonette Gazzam, whose home is at Cornwall-on-the-Hudson, New York, has been sued for $150,000 damages by Mrs. Marshall Clark of Chicago, for alienation of the affections of her husband, a fortune teller, Joseph M. Gazzam revealed his attitude in the case and his position in his wife's divorce suit, which led to his reported estrangement with his daughter.

Mr. Gazzam is still under the care of a nurse at his home, No. 265 South Nineteenth street, as a result of the injuries he received in escaping from burning Kenilworth Inn at Asheville, last spring. With tears he regretted that he was unable to go immediately to aid his daughter in contesting the suit against her.

"But I doubt if I would be allowed to see her," he said. "There is but little doubt that she has been held virtually a prisoner in the big home her mother willed her on the banks of the Hudson. Telegrams and letters are useless. I have tried this before, even this week, after the suit has been brought. And I know that they are invariably intercepted, opened and then destroyed. I have not heard if she has left her home or has been spirited away from it.

"But I will help her," he added. "Although I am in impaired health, and although her mind has been poisoned against me, I will either go in person or I will send help to her. I am confident she is not guilty of the charges. Antonette, although twenty-seven years old, has had little experience with affairs of the world, and has been made the victim of a deep plot, the aim of which it is either to steal her fortune of approximately $2,000,000, or to gain control of it."

Mr. Gazzam declared that since his first wife, the mother of the girl, and who was a daughter of John S. Readings, a millionaire merchant, had obtained (Continued on page four.)

Old Man Follows Man Who Robbed and Tried to Kill and Shoots Him Dead.

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—Patrick McCabe, twenty-five years old, of Pittsburgh, Pa., was shot and killed here today by Frank Mee, sixty years old. According to the police the murder grew out of an alleged attempt by McCabe and an unidentified companion to kill Mee by throwing him from a moving train near Peoria, Ill., Thursday night, after robbing him of thirty cents.

Mee, whose hands and face are badly lacerated, told the police that he followed McCabe here to revenge himself. Mee said that he found McCabe here Saturday and after securing a revolver shot and killed him today.

"I suppose I will swing for it," said Mee, "but he tried to kill me and I wanted to get even with him."

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Forecast: North Carolina: Fair Monday and Tuesday, not much change in temperature; light to moderate winds, mostly north.

STARVING ESKIMO KILLS
AND EATS HIS OWN CHILD

Then Kills Tribesmen Who Attack Him and Escape
Into Wilderness.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Oct. 3.—Tragedy in the far north formed the burden of the news brought to port today by the Hudson Bay company's steamer Adventure which arrived with the crew of the east Dundee whaler Paradox and the story of an Eskimo who, driven to cannibalism by starvation, ate his child.

The Paradox, one of the fleet of whalers, met the fate of her companion ship Snowdrop when she was crunched in the ice floes off Baffin Land, early in August a year ago. The crew, with scanty provisions, made their way over the broken ice toward the mainland and were picked up this fall by the steamer.

The Hudson Bay mounted police report through dispatches brought by the Adventure, the cannibalism of a starving Eskimo. The man's fishing and hunting season had been a failure and driven mad by hunger he cut the throat of one of his children and then ate the little victim.

When the man's neighbors learned of the horrible crime they attacked him according to the primitive law of their race. The outcast beat off all assailants, shot down several of the attacking party and escaped into the wilderness. His fate is unknown.

DROPPING FROM GREAT
HEIGHT AVIATORS' SPORT

Latham Makes Crowd Gasp
as He Lets His Machine
Fall Three Hundred Feet.

JOHANNESBURG, Germany, Oct. 3.—Aviation week was brought to an end today before a very large crowd which was compensated by a sensational flight after sunset by Hubert Latham. After three failures, he made an easy start two minutes after sunset, and although he reached a height officially estimated at 640 feet, twenty feet higher than the highest record of yesterday, he was abandoned because of the hour.

Latham rose immediately to a great height and flew repeatedly around the field. He hovered above the stadium with absolute stability, and great enthusiasm on the part of spectators. When he reached his highest altitude he stopped the engine and glided down so swiftly that he appeared to fall fully three hundred feet while everybody held their breath. At this point he started his motor again and made a safe and easy landing. Hundreds of spectators leaped the barriers and carried Latham to the stadium where he was the object of approving demonstrations.

Latham estimated that he ascended between six hundred and one thousand feet but the officials signed ed 688.
