

DIPLOMAT FOUND DEAD AT MIDNIGHT IN LONDON STREET

Was in England in Connection With The Venezuelan Settlement

NO INDICATION OF FOUL PLAY FOUND

Has Occupied Several Important Posts in Diplomatic Service

LONDON, Oct. 17.—William I. Buchanan of Buffalo, N. Y., former American minister to the Argentine Republic and Panama, who had been closely identified with several important American diplomatic missions, met a tragic death last night on a London street. He was discovered lying on a sidewalk in Park Lane, near the American embassy, in a dying condition, a few minutes before twelve o'clock and was carried to St. George's hospital a short distance away. Life was extinct when the ambulance reached the hospital.

Died of Apoplexy. The cause of his death is not known positively but physicians who examined the body state that it resulted apparently from heart disease or apoplexy and that there was no indication of foul play which was suggested. There were no marks of violence on the body, nor had robbery been committed. The body was placed in the hospital mortuary, and the police were notified. The identity of the dead man was discovered this afternoon through inquiries sent out by the management of the hotel where Mr. Buchanan was staying. An inquest will be held tomorrow.

Diplomatic Mission. Mr. Buchanan, who had come to London on a mission for the United States government in connection with the Venezuelan claims, had been here for several weeks. He previously had visited Berlin and Paris. He took up quarters at the Claridge's hotel, one of the most fashionable in the city, which is located about half a mile from Park Lane. He left the hotel last night for dinner early in the evening, attired in evening dress.

No one had been found who knows where he spent the evening, but it is supposed he was on his way home when stricken. Park Lane is a particularly quiet street on Saturday.

MRS. EDDY REBUKES HER DISCIPLES FOR THEIR DEIFICATION OF HER

Warns Mrs. Stetson That That Animal Magnetism Will be Her Destruction

BLAME CLIQUE OF MEN

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—"Awake and arise from this temptation produced by animal magnetism upon yourself, allowing your students to deify you and me. Treat yourself for it and get your students to help you rise out of it. It will be your destruction if you do not do this." Answer this letter immediately.

With such words Mary Barker Eddy, founder of the Christian Science church, addressed Mrs. Augusta E. Stetson, the dominating leader in the First church Scientist in New York city, who was recently prohibited from the practice of her faith by the board of directors of the Mother church of Boston. The communication was made public yesterday in The Christian Science Sentinel.

In this letter the mystery concerning the charges which are said to have been made against Mrs. Stetson are described in a great degree. Although the epistle addresses Mrs. Stetson as "My Dear Student," it is signed "As ever lovingly your teacher, Mary Barker Eddy." It is said by Christian Scientists who read it to evidence a profound in the crisis in the affairs of Mrs. Stetson and the First church.

Friends of Mrs. Stetson stated last night that the letter did not come from Mrs. Eddy, but a chain of men who have usurped her name. It was pointed out that even in the same copy of The Sentinel the signature of Mrs. Eddy is stated that she approves of the by-laws of the mother church and "requires the Christian Science board of directors to maintain and sustain them."

This means nothing more than that these men have arrogated to themselves the powers which Mrs. Stetson and her sympathizers believe are only vested in Mrs. Eddy. And one prominent member of the First church.

It was stated also that night by other friends of Mrs. Stetson that she would not be surprised that an order

RARE CEREMONIES MARK DEDICATION OF ST. LAWRENCE

Rites of Centuries Agone Impress Enormous Congregation With Their Solemnity.—Notable Assemblage of Citizens.

With all the solemn and impressive rites of the Catholic church, the forms and ceremonies of centuries that have faded and with one of the largest assemblages of people of every denomination that ever witnessed an ecclesiastical event of like character in this section, St. Lawrence's magnificent church was dedicated yesterday by the Right Rev. Bishop Hald, assisted by Bishop Northrup of Charleston and a number of visiting priests from widely scattered sections of the country. From the Benedictine monastery at Belmont came the Right Rev. Monsignor Hentemeyer, vicar-general of the diocese, Father Thomas, Father Ignatius, and Father Eugene. Other members of visiting clergy were Father Leo, of Salisbury, Father Joseph of Charlotte, Father Huddis, Charleston, and the Rev. Father Lanigan, of Charleston.

Assisting in the sanctuary were Father Deenen, Wilmington; Father Powers, Boston, Mass.; Father Leo, Salisbury; Father Kenner, New Brunswick, N. J.; Father Duggan, Princeton, N. J.; Father Eker, New Castle, Pa.; Father Petrie, Newcastle, Pa.; Father Jackson, Atlanta, Ga.; Father Leahy, Princeton, N. J.; Father Price, Nazareth, N. C.; Father Irwin, Newton Grove, N. C.; Father Gallagher, New Bern, and Father Hannon, Fayetteville.

The Procession. It was 10.45 when the procession of the dead monks and clergy headed by a cross-bearer left the sacristy to begin the ceremony of dedication. The vestments of the bishops and priests in red, purple and gold, was a rare blending of color. Monsignor Hentemeyer was master of ceremonies. The blessing of the walls, the singing of the litany as the procession moved round the church, and the opening of the doors by the bishop, preceded the finishing exercises inside the church. A large crowd saw the exterior services, and all hats came off, regardless of the religious views of the owners, as the head of the procession came in sight.

Episcopal high mass before Bishop Hald and Bishop Northrup followed, the celebrant being Father Powers; Father Kenner, deacon and Father Deenen, subdeacon.

Ceremonies dating back to the earliest days of the church followed each

OFFICIALS OF NEW YORK CENTRAL ARE CAUGHT IN WRECK ON THEIR LINES

President Brown, Ex President Newman, and W. K. Vanderbilt on Board

ONLY ONE FATALITY

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Oct. 17.—One passenger was killed and fifteen others were injured when the rear section of train No. 28, the western express on the New York Central railroad was wrecked at Rhinebeck early today.

President Brown of the New York Central was on board the train but was not injured. With President Brown were W. H. Newman, former president of the road and W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr., a director, all returning from an inspection of the company's lines. Just south of the Rhine cliff station, the right side of the train was thrown from the track by a broken rail. The smoker and one of the day coaches pulled over on their sides and James Krogher, a publisher, twenty-one years old of New York, was hurled through a window and crushed to death when the car fell on its side. The injured were occupants of other coaches, breaking his neck. They were taken to New York in a special train.

In the wreckage Moses Wright, the engineer, found a woman with five children, one a baby, pinned under a seat. Before he could help her out excited men tried to take the torch away from him to look for articles they had lost. The engineer drove them back under threat and extricated the woman, whose arm was torn but not broken.

KILLED BY BLOW.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 17.—With the first blow Edward Goodwin instantly killed Eugene Williams this afternoon, breaking his neck. The men quarreled, it is said, over a dollar alleged to have been given Williams by Goodwin, with which to buy whiskey.

RADICALS ALL OVER THE WORLD DENOUNCE FERRER'S EXECUTION

Crisis in Spain's Troubles Hastened by Socialists and Anarchists Who Encouraged Revolutionists. Meetings Held in This Country and in England. Hold Alfonso Up To Execution.

LONDON, Oct. 17.—The red flag was raised in London this afternoon and a large mob moved upon the Spanish emblem to make a demonstration of its disapproval of the execution of Professor Francisco Ferrer, the convicted revolutionist at Barcelona a few days ago.

Several bodies of police drove off the crowds. While no blood was shed considerable excitement and uneasiness prevailed the neighborhood. The groans and howlings were plainly heard in the embassy and at Buckingham palace nearby.

The trouble began with a mass meeting in Trafalgar square which was organized by several socialists and labor leaders.

A black bordered banner was raised against the Nelson column with big letters that could be read from afar:

"TO HELL WITH THE MURDERER ALFONSO!"

A telegram was read from the Countess of Warwick, saying: "No words are too strong to express European horror at the murder of Ferrer."

Victor Grayson of Manchester, the socialist member, capped the climax of the speeches by declaring that if the head of every king of Europe were torn from his body it would not pay half the price of Ferrer's life—the Russian emperor "a dirty monster," and said that King Edward who could have prevented the execution, was responsible for whatever might happen in England as a result of it. He demanded the expulsion of the Spanish ambassador.

RESORT TO BOMBS.

LIBRON, Oct. 17.—Cable dispatches from Barcelona state that the situation there is increasingly disquieting. Twenty seven bombs have been thrown in the last four days, five persons being killed and twenty-one wounded. On Saturday an unsuccessful attempt was made to rush the fortress of Montjuich to release the prisoners.

ROME EXCITED.

ROME, Oct. 17.—All indications point to the fact that the extremists in Italy are determined to undertake an anti-clerical campaign more vigorous even than that in France. This is being directed by the Free Masons, whose grand master has issued a most violent manifesto in behalf of Ferrer and against the church. An international subscription has been opened for the purpose of collecting funds to establish in the piazza of St. Peter's facing the vatican, Ferrer's modern school, which was suppressed in Barcelona.

EMMA GETS IN IT. NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Aroused by the fiery speech of Emma Goldman, whose anarchistic tendencies have earned for her the title "Queen of the Reds," one thousand men and women, socialists, anarchists and other radicals, packed an East Side hall this afternoon and unmolested by the police, adopted resolutions denouncing the execution of Ferrer. "Alfonso the assassin," was muttered in three tongues—English, Spanish and French—as the succeeding speakers attacked the Spanish monarch and hinted that revenge was yet to come.

POLICE INTERFERE.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 17.—Attempts to hold a monster memorial meeting to protest against the recent execution at Barcelona, Spain, of Francisco Ferrer were frustrated in this city tonight by the police who refused to allow a large hall near the center of the city to be opened although those in charge of the proposed meeting had paid the rent in advance and held a lease for the property. Balked in their attempt to use the hall the speakers and many of their followers adjourned to the radical library. Here they started to meet the meeting under way when the police again interfered and compelled them to leave the building.

HALF MILLION DOLLAR FIRE IN BALTIMORE

BALTIMORE, Oct. 17.—Fire today starting in the large six story double building at the southeast corner of Baltimore and Eutaw streets, did damage approximating $400,000. By the falling of a large section of one of the walls upon an adjoining building six firemen were slightly hurt and four others at various points suffered minor injuries.

The fire appears to have started from some undiscovered cause, in the sixth floor of the structure, which belongs to Charles W. Abel and Mrs. J. T. Homer. This portion of the building was occupied by J. Schenckman, manufacturer of pianos, and the establishment of Haldenberg brothers, manufacturers of clocks. The entire eastern half of the building was occupied by Frank and Adler, dealers in shoes. The flames were confined to this building, but damage was done by water and smoke, in several other parts of the city.

While the fire was hottest there was an accumulation of gas from broken gas pipes and almost the whole of the eastern wall of the Friedwald building above the fifth floor crashed down upon 227 West Baltimore street, wrecking it to the level of the second floor. This structure was occupied by Rheinbart, Meyer & Co., wholesale clothing and the Monumental Custom Tailoring company.

TAMMANY FOUND IVINS POOR ENVOY IN EARLY CAMPAIGN

Raking up History in Heat of The Fight For Mayoralty In New York

HEARST'S ALLY IS GETTING IT HEAVY

Once Willing to Rake "Figger's" Chestnuts Out of Fire Says George

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Taken from the graveyard of forgotten campaigns, a political skeleton, covered with the dust of twenty-three years, was brought forth and rattled in New York tonight, adding intensity to the three-cornered struggle for the mayor's chair of greater New York, a position sought by William J. Gaynor, democrat; William R. Hearst, independent, and Otto T. Bannard, republican. It had to do with the political record of William M. Ivins, Hearst's ardent republican supporter, albeit his opponent four years ago.

The new twist in affairs came in the form of a statement issued tonight by Henry George, Jr., son and biographer of the famous single tax reformer, who charged in effect, that Ivins went to his father in 1886 to induce him to withdraw from the mayoralty race against William R. Grace. As a matter of history George refused to be side tracked and entered the contest only to meet defeat.

George Had No Chance. Mr. George referred to a statement printed in his biography of his father as having been made by the latter just before his death. It read:

"Before my nomination had formally taken place in 1886, I received a request from Mr. William M. Ivins, then chamberlain of the city, and a close personal friend and representative of Mr. Grace to privately meet him. I did so, at Seligman's on Lafayette place. We sat down in a private room, unattended and smoked some cigars together. Mr. Ivins insisted that I could not possibly be elected mayor of New York, no matter how many people might vote for me; that the men who voted, knew nothing of the real forces that dominated New York. He said that I could not possibly be elected. He offered on behalf of Tammany and the county demagogue, to buy my vote for $100,000. (Continued on page six.)

REBELS CAPTURE TOWN AFTER SHARP SKIRMISH WITH STATE MILITARY

Revolution in Nicaragua Goes Merrily on and is Mostly Bloodless

USURPS PRESIDENCY

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 17.—Passengers arriving here this afternoon on the steamship Bluefields from Bluefields, Nicaragua, brought further confirmation of the seizure of that city by the revolutionists, headed by General Juan Estrada, who are in revolt against the government of Zelaya. At the time of the departure of the Bluefields from Nicaragua only the seizure of Greytown and Itama, in addition to Bluefields had been reported. News from the interior was lacking.

Among the passengers of the Bluefields was E. W. Trimmer, American consul at Cape Gracias, Nicaragua. Consul Trimmer, who was in Bluefields at the time the revolutionists set up the standard of Zelaya, states that no shots were fired and that there was no bloodshed.

A special from Bluefields via wire- less from Colon says: The town of Chile, an important point, twenty miles above Nams in the hands of the insurgents. There was sharp firing long before the place was taken. The leaders of the Zelaya forces and of the Estrada forces were both killed.

It is reported that San Carlos, a strategic point on Lake Nicaragua, has been captured by the insurgents.

USURPS PRESIDENCY. BLUEFIELDS, Nicaragua, Oct. 17.—It is reported here that Corinto, the principal port of Nicaragua on the Pacific coast, is in the hands of the revolutionists, which would seem to indicate that the plan of General Estrada and the other leaders embraced a simultaneous uprising at a number of points, especially at the resorts, to prevent the departure of President Zelaya from the country.

The revolutionists are now in possession, if this report is true, of Corinto, Bluefields, Rivas, Cape Gracias, Rama and San Juan del Norte. In addition, they have occupied the telegraph station at Chile, near Rama.

General Estrada, who has proclaimed himself president of the republic, has appointed Salvador Castriño minister to Washington.
