

Social and Personal

There are two large dances in the wind, which will be of interest to the members of the younger set. The first, it is rumored, will be a very charming St. Valentine's event, taking place in February. The second dance will be one of the first of the Easter dances given. It is said that the members of the former Talleco-estee club will arrange and give the dances. So far nothing is definite but there has been sufficient interest in the rumor to excite quite a good deal of speculation.

The bowling tournament at the Manor will be continued this evening as usual. The scores, which will be published tomorrow, will be read with interest by those who are following the tournament. There are many young people who go out to watch the bowling, and including the numerous guests at the Manor, the Albemarle club house is well filled.

All of the active members of the Asheville chapter of the American Women's league are working hard and making a special effort to secure as many new members as possible during the current week. A telegram from Mrs. E. G. Lewis, the president of the league, was read to the members at the meeting held Monday. The message urged the co-operation of the state and chapter in the final effort to close the Founders' chapter, and a special prize is offered the chapters of each state which secure the largest number of new members. The prize offered is a very handsome table service of the finest porcelain made in the Art school of University City. At Christmas many of the members received as gifts from Mrs. Lewis statuettes, decorated vases and bowls, and various specimens of the work being done at University City. Having had actual proof of the beautiful work being turned out by the Art students at the school, will be an incentive, if one is needed, in securing the prize offered for securing the greatest number of new members.

The symphony society of Boston, its mayor and council, are at loggerheads with the womenfolk of the cultured city because they will not remove their hats when attending the performances of the symphony society. Some time ago Boston passed an ordinance making it unlawful for women to wear big hats at public performances, and ever since the city officials, managers and ushers have been endeavoring to enforce the law without success. The mayor threatens to take away the society's license unless women remove their hats. The women simply smile, and wear their hats. Society attends these symphonic performances ostensibly to hear the music, and also to show their good clothes. The officials will find it a very difficult problem in their endeavor to divorce the two entities, a symphony in "A minor" and a symphony in a milliner's classic confection. The Boston society folk, like the English suffragettes, would rather go to jail than give up their rights as to personal adornment.

The announcement of the marriage of Mrs. J. H. Hull and Mr. Charles Pierce Belote which occurred recently in Memphis, Tenn., will interest the many friends of Mrs. Hull who had the pleasure of meeting her during various visits to Mrs. W. B. Meacham in Hillside street. Mrs. Hull has a very fine voice and sang several times at the churches in Asheville during her stay. Mr. and Mrs. Belote will reside in Memphis.

The History club meets this afternoon at the residence of Mrs. R. F. Smith in Ashland avenue, at half after three o'clock.

The recital at the Auditorium last evening was one of the greatest musical privileges Asheville has enjoyed in years and Miss Dorothy Lethbridge aroused her audience to a pitch of enthusiasm seldom reached in this city. Miss Lethbridge has been heralded as one of the great pianists of the future, but it would be difficult to realize anything more brilliant and finished than her art at the present time. The fine broad intelligence which illuminates every interpretation, the faultless technique and poetic appreciation of each musical composition, raise Miss Lethbridge to the rank of the great pianists of the day.

Constipation

needs a remedy that acts quickly, surely, and, at the same time, safely. A remedy that leaves the system in better condition, than before it was taken—that thoroughly purges and cleanses it from all impurities and poisons, beginning at the stomach and liver and ending at the bowels.

Such a remedy is that old, successful, well-known vegetable liver remedy—

JAMES H. TILLMAN REPORTED BETTER

His Physician Enters Denial of Story Sent Out From South Carolina

The story sent out from Edgefield, S. C., to the effect that Col. James H. Tillman is dying of tuberculosis, and is penniless is strenuously denied by Dr. Charles V. Reynolds, Mr. Tillman's physician. Dr. Reynolds states that he is better now than he has been for four months and he is able to get up.

His sister is here with him for several days. She has been a regular visitor to Asheville since he has been here. Mr. Tillman is at Larkspur cottage, Albemarle park.

Col. Tillman, through Dr. Reynolds, denied extravagant claims of his relatives. He said that he receives many sympathetic letters from his friends in South Carolina, but refused to discuss the state of his finances. He said that his sister, Mrs. M. T. Bush, is now in Asheville and will remain with him indefinitely.

Col. Tillman was very bitter about certain articles which he says have been published in the newspapers regarding him. He said that the press at one time nominated politics in South Carolina, but that the people have at last realized that it is unjust and unfair and put no faith in its opinions and views on matters of any importance.

SENATORIAL DEADLOCK STILL ON IN TENNESSEE

Now Believed That McMillan's Strength Will be Much Weakened Today

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Jan. 19.—The senatorial situation is more complicated tonight than ever before. McMillan's strength, it is said, will be weakened tomorrow by desertions to General Luke Wright, Speaker Nat. Baxter, Jr. of the senate, Austin Peay, late chairman of the democratic state executive committee, and Thomas R. Preston, the Chattanooga banker. The impression prevails that each of these gentlemen, none of whom is an announced candidate, will be voted for by regulars, but McKellar will hold the bulk of the regular vote. The fusionists will, it is said, cling to Entice, while the insurgent republicans will almost surely vote for a republican. So long as the latter hold out there is no chance of an election. No one looks for an election tomorrow.
