

SOCIETY AND PERSONAL.

Mrs. L. L. Jenkins' card party yesterday afternoon at her residence on Chestnut street was a charming affair. The house was decorated lavishly with crimson and white. The card game consisted of the common sort—some appearing in the rose design used on the table cards. The table in the dining room was handsomely decorated with a center piece of roses. The colors used were red and green. Mrs. Jeter C. Pritchard, Miss Lulu Moore, Miss Alice Davidson, and Miss Genevieve Carter assisted Mrs. Jenkins in receiving the guests and in serving the refreshments. There were thirty or more guests.

The Bingham club will give, within several days, a large dance at Bingham, which will be of intense interest to the girls of the younger set. This will be the first dance which has taken place since the holidays and will be as delightful as the Bingham dances are usually. The details have not been definitely decided upon, but it is understood that the dance will take place the latter part of this week or the first of next, which date will be duly announced.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Jellard have returned from a business trip to St. Louis, Mo., where they went to see Mr. Lewis at University City, concerning business connected with the American Woman's league. The meeting of the City Board of Missions yesterday afternoon at Central Methodist church was of special interest and well attended. Dr. C. W. Byrd presided and after an address on the subject of the juvenile court, introduced Mr. Z. V. Curtis, who read an unusually interesting and instructive paper on the subject. Mr. Curtis has given a great deal of thought to the subject and is well posted on the methods introduced by John Lindsey, of Denver, which have been carried out in a number of the larger cities of America with astonishing success. He explained the manner in which the committee would best begin and how to go about having a bill introduced for state legislation. Rev. W. A. Newell, of Haywood street church, who has recently been to the city jail to the interest of the juvenile court movement, and seeing the conditions under which the children are incarcerated, etc., gave a talk on his interesting experience, and his report made a deep impression. Mrs. Turner made an appeal for the children and gave instances of the harm the present indiscriminate method of incarceration results in to the youthful miscreant and criminal. The committee which was appointed by the Pen and Plate club and the Wranglers, will confer with a committee appointed at the meeting yesterday afternoon composed of Mrs. Turner, Mrs. Dunham, Miss Guffin, city missionary; Rev. Mr. Newell and Dr. Byrd. The committee will endeavor to draft a bill asking for state legislation providing for the establishment of juvenile court and present it before the close of the present term. The committee will also have charge of the arranging of a mass meeting and press publicity.

Mrs. Reuben Robertson has issued invitations for a dance which will be given at the Country club Friday evening in honor of her guest, Miss Cist, of Cincinnati. The subject of the afternoon will be Rebecca Hable.

Mrs. James L. Alexander entertained this afternoon at the Battery Park hotel with a large bridge party in honor of Miss Beattie Parkinson, of New York. Miss Parkinson is one of the most charming and attractive visitors of the last several seasons and has been very popular during her stay in Asheville. Mrs. Alexander has invited quite a number of her friends to meet Miss Parkinson this afternoon and it is understood that the party will be one of the prettiest of the winter.

Last evening Miss Jennie Pearl Garren, the charming and accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Garren of Fairview, N. C., and Mr. Gren Hollins Lipe of Biltmore, N. C., were married at the home of the bride's parents, Rev. M. B. Phillips of Fairview officiating. Miss Garren has for the past two years filled the position as stenographer and book-keeper for the Williams-Brownell Lumber company of Biltmore and during her stay there won many friends. Mr. Lipe is the second son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Lipe and has for many years been connected with the Southern railway company. The bride entered the parlor on the arm of the groom to the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding march and under a wedding bell which was suspended from a bower of ivy and galax the ceremony "I Love You Truly" was effectively rendered by Miss Anna Patton accompanied by Miss Sallie Patton. The bride wore a becoming suit of blue cloth with hat to match. The parlor, hall and dining room were very artistically decorated with evergreens, lighted with candles which shed a soft, mellow glow. The bride received many beautiful and valuable presents, among which was a beautiful chest of silver, a gift from the bride's brother, Mr. Walter Garren of Columbia, S. C. Immediately following the ceremony, a sumptuous dinner was served, after which the happy couple left on train No. 19 for Columbia, Charlotte and other southern points. The invited guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Patton, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Freeze and Misses Annie and Sallie Patton of Flat Rock, N. C., Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Penland and Mr. Walter Garren of Columbia, S. The Arab Steed.
An Arab steed of pure breed would probably be outpaced in a race by an English thoroughbred, but in other respects it outshines its western rival. It is so docile that it is treated by its owner as one of the family, and it has an iron constitution, for it sleeps out at night without covering or shelter. Nature protects the Arab horse with a thick, furry coat, which is never touched by brush or comb and which falls off at the approach of spring, when the body and legs, which had been shaggy as those of a bear, again resume their graceful beauty and glisten in the sun like polished marble.—London Chronicle.

No Place For His Talents.
At St. John's a man stowed away upon Harry Whitney's yacht, bound for an Arctic hunting trip. He was discovered too late to return him to the little Newfoundland port, but Whitney deputed to make him work his passage. He wasn't successful at this, however. The stowaway simply couldn't see any sort of work. Short of personal violence he couldn't be made to button his collar.

"By thunder," Whitney said one day, "I've a notion to leave you here at Etah." The stowaway seemed mournful.

"Beetle me, Mr. Whitney," he said euphatically, "you haven't made me so welcome on board your jiggered old yacht that I want to stay. But what could I do up here?" He swept his hand around at the Eskimo tent, half roof and the rest hole in the ground.

"What is your business, anyhow?" Whitney asked curiously.

"I," said the stowaway, "am a second story worker."—Cincinnati Times-Star.

A Pathetic Banquet.
Jacob A. Rills was discussing in New York his experience as a police reporter.

"They were intense experiences. The pathetic ones had, indeed, such an intensity that they couldn't be used in literature. They'd seem overwrought. For example, one cold and dreary Thanksgiving evening as I passed a famous restaurant I saw a little urchin standing before the area. Through the area gratings, could be seen, the cook, in his white dress, basted a half dozen great brown birds.

"'Hi, 'Emmy?' the urchin cried, and a second youngster turned toward him.

"'Hi, 'Emmy, come an' eat yer crust in the smell from this here kitchen. It makes it taste just like roast turkey.'—Detroit Free Press.
