

TAFT EMPHATIC IN VIEWS REGARDING JUDICIARY RECALL

President Speaks Publicly in Most Pronounced Fashion Against Idea

WOULD MAKE JUDGE ALMOST NONENTITY

Systems of England and America Compared to Disparagement of Latter

NEW YORK, May 13.—President Taft came out publicly tonight in most pronounced fashion against the recall of the judiciary. In his speech at the Hotel Astor before the conference on reform of the criminal justice system, the president made his attitude plain. Most of his speech had been devoted to a comparison, highly unfavorable to this country, of the judicial systems of Great Britain and the United States. He lamented the tendency manifested even in England, but more particularly in this country, to put limitations on the power of the judge.

Makes Judge a Nonentity. "And now," he said, "not content with reducing the position of the judge to one something like that of the moderator in a religious assembly or the presiding officer of a political convention, the judge is to be made still less important and to be put still more on trial and to assume still more the character of a defendant and a provision of law under which, if his rulings and conduct in court do not suit a small percentage of the electors at his district he may be compelled to submit to the question of his continuance on the bench during the term for which he was elected to an election for recall, in which the reason for his recall is to be included in two hundred words, and his defense thereto to be equally brief.

The statistics which show the crimes that go unpunished in this country as compared with those in England," said Mr. Taft, "are startling and humiliating to any son of America who has pride in his fellow countrymen as a law abiding and law enforcing people.

"Wherein is the great difference, then, between the effectiveness of the two systems? I believe it to exist in the character, experience and learning of the judges, in the power which they maintain and exercise in the course of trial for the saving of the law.

ATTACK UPON CITY OF MEXICO FEARED AT MOST ANY TIME

Garrison Troops Kept on Alert During the Whole of Yesterday in City

STUDENTS WITHIN ARE ALSO GIVING TROUBLE

Throughout the City the Idea of Self Defense is Growing Among Americans

MEXICO CITY, May 13.—With a large part of the Mexican capital's population controlling the outskirts of the city to ward off possible attack by rebels, and the remainder of the guard ready to assist police in quelling a riot in the downtown district, residents of this cosmopolitan town had their thrills of the revolution today.

Feared an Attack.

Acting upon information received at the department of war and at police headquarters that the revolutionists were planning an attack upon the suburbs, presumably Talpam or San Angel, and that the long talked of students demonstration was to take place this afternoon, every precautionary measure was taken but the attack by the rebels did not take place and the students' demonstration was again postponed. Under present circumstances the rebel attack could not have succeeded but the great danger was from within. It was feared that a demonstration of the students might precipitate a general disturbance. The ruffian element would be sure to join in, and this, coming at the moment of an attack by rebels, even though few in number, would present serious difficulties.

Throughout the city the idea of self defense is growing. Preliminary steps looking to an organization have been taken by the committee representing the American colony, although the action has not found unanimous approval.

From Acapulco the government today received news of the capture of that port on May 8. An army of more than two thousand rebels engaged the little garrison of 200 soldiers, and although the garrison was supported by the guns of the cruiser Demostri, the taking of the place was easily accomplished.

The government reports the burning of a textile factory by federalists. Acapulco is in the state of Guerrero, one of the states controlled by the Figueroa brothers.

SOUTH CAROLINIAN DESPONDENT KILLS SELF AT MARS HILL

Archey Linley Comes From S. C. Pursued by Demon of Self Destruction

WITH SHOTGUN BLOWS TOP OF HIS HEAD OFF

Ministerial Student Leaves a Note for Brother Saying He Could Not Help It

After borrowing a shotgun from a merchant at Mars Hill, Archie Linley, of Anderson, S. C., aged 24, retired to his room and blew out his brains at 2:30 yesterday afternoon.

Linley, after arriving in Mars Hill yesterday about 2:30 o'clock, and eating lunch and arranging for his meals for the summer, walked up to one of the stores of the village and borrowed a shotgun shortly before sundown. He retired to his room in the home of Mrs. Kate Woodrow, who was a close friend of the dead man, and when he was sitting alone in his room he soon put an end to his life.

Linley was apparently in his right mind during the few hours he spent in the village, therefore no cause can be assigned for his deed. Shortly after arriving at Mars Hill he took lunch with Mr. T. C. Hollowell and appeared in a cheerful mood. Just before dark he took dinner with Mrs. Lottie Blackstock, with whom he made arrangements to take his meals during the summer. Before going to his room in the home of Mrs. Woodrow, a friend of the dead man, who had provided for his occupying the house, Linley took a walk of a few hundred yards to the store of Mr. J. M. Jervis. Stating that he was a stranger and had come to the village to spend the summer, he borrowed a shotgun with some ammunition, saying that he wanted to amuse himself by making a few shots. It is said that shortly before borrowing the shotgun he endeavored to borrow a pistol from a Mr. Sprinkle. Within a few minutes after he left the store, the report of the gun was heard in the room which he was occupying.

Mr. Columbus Hudgins and Mr. Horace Carter, both of whom live within a few yards of the house in which the young man took his life, were on the scene a few seconds after the shot was fired. They found the man in a dying condition dressed

GUNS OF HIS OWN MEN ARE LEVELED AT THE BREAST OF FRANCIS I. MADERO, JR.

Schism, Strife and Dissension Raise Their Ugly Heads in the Ranks of the Victorious Insurrectos—Madero, Calm and Unflinching, Dares the Men to Shoot Him—Finally Triumphs

JUAREZ, Mex., May 13.—The supreme test, the clash between the military and political authorities was experienced by the provisional government of Mexico today and Provisional President Francisco I. Madero, Jr., tonight is complete master of the situation. After a day of thrilling incidents, during which the lives of Madero and his chiefs were in danger, General Orozco in a moment of passion, ordering the arrest of the little rebel leader and demanding the resignation of the provisional cabinet, the capital of the provisional government is quiet.

General Navarro, the defeated federal commander, whose life was threatened early today by angry mobs of insurrectos, was spirited away by Francisco I. Madero, Jr. in person, to the American side of the Rio Grande and tonight is safely ensconced in the home of friends in El Paso.

Deeply Laid Plot. A plot quiet, deeply laid, is suspected by the rebel leaders as the cause of the riot in front of the Madero headquarters today, and some of the Maderos assert that it was a sinister scheme on the part of those who are trying to break up the organization of the revolution to foster the opinion throughout Mexico that the movement is one of anarchy.

Provisional President Madero, in a statement issued tonight, charged that General Orozco's actions were incited "by persons interested in bringing about disunion among us."

Early today General Orozco called on Provisional President Madero and the two talked alone for some time. Suddenly their voices were raised and the other rebel political chiefs rushed into the room only to find themselves held back by some of Orozco's men. A throng of soldiers had gathered outside the building and Senator Madero determined to appeal to them. Six shooters had been drawn and rifles were leveled, but Senator Madero stood before the crowd and slapping his breast shouted:

"Shoot me, shoot me, if you dare."

"Viva Madero!" General Orozco was at his side. His men ostensibly had been summoned to take part in the coup d'etat but as Madero stepped forth and talked in his reassuring way, the affection which has been ripening among his men since the revolution began crystallized in a mighty shout "Viva Madero."

There are all sorts of stories in regard to the clash today, but at bottom it was apparent that dissension among the military was the cause of the disturbance. Colonel Villay was said to have insisted on General Navarro's life, while General Orozco also was said to have been displeased with the naming of a civilian as minister of war. Tonight all is harmony, Senator Madero has impressed upon General Orozco that the choosing of a cabinet and the management of a government is quite outside the function of the military. Appreciation for the safety of General Navarro stirred the sympathy of General Madero after the incident at the municipal building, and he determined at the risk of his own life, to save the brave federal commander. He was whisked away in an automobile to where General Navarro has been staying since he was captured and after a brief explanation conveyed General Navarro to the river front where the latter waded the river and soon was safe on the American territory.

Save Navarro. American troops were ready to protect him, if necessary, but the insurrectos were ignorant of Senator Madero's move till it was accomplished.

General Navarro gave his word of honor that he would return to Mexico and was required to do so by Madero. If the feeling against Navarro among the insurrectos, because of alleged acts of cruelty in previous battles, becomes stronger, it may be that a court martial will be ordered. Some of the rebels want a court martial, but the disposition of Senator Madero and his supporters is to save General Navarro from any harm.

Madero Gives Explanation. Senator Madero tonight gave out the following explanation of the day's events:

"Orozco, excited by the victory, probably from the adulation and bad advice of persons interested in causing dissension among us, committed a fault which fortunately had no consequences.

"He complained that the troops did

MOONSHINERS ARE CAUSING TROUBLE IN NORTH CAROLINA

Commissioner Cabell Says That State Officers Are Not Doing Their Duty

MOST OFFICERS IN ASHEVILLE DISTRICT

National Democratic Committeeman From N. C. Says Wilson Is Man

By H. E. C. Bryant, Citizen Bureau, Congress Hall.

WASHINGTON, May 13.—R. E. Cabell, commissioner of internal revenue, has said a remarkable thing about North Carolina moonshiners. He wrote a Tar Heel congressman, who was appealed to for aid from a constituent, as follows: "It is a matter of common knowledge that the illicit manufacture and sale of distilled spirits is distressingly prevalent throughout the greater portion of the state of North Carolina. The internal revenue force is not very large in numbers. We have the largest force of officers assigned in the Asheville district that is appointed to any district in the United States, and the records will show that a surprisingly large number of illicit plants are captured every year. The records of course would show that there are also many men captured and tried, with not a few convictions. Were our revenue force ten times as large as it is, however, it would be impossible to entirely break up the practice complained of."

"I am informed that the state laws of North Carolina are very drastic relative to the manufacture and sale of distilled spirits, but it appears that state officers do very little to prevent or punish for the violation of the law, though I suspect there are one hundred state officers to every internal revenue officer."

This is a most serious charge against the state.

Representative Webb has returned from Gastonia, where he speaks on the 15th.

"What sort of a time did you have in Gastonia," Mr. Webb was asked. "Delightful, I never saw a more successful memorial day in my life. The good ladies of Gastonia had arranged an elaborate program and had invited all of the old soldiers in the county to attend and they did so in large numbers—something like two hundred being present. The songs of the choir, and the quartette, the presentation of confederate flags to the graded school, and unveiling of the flag, the speech of acceptance, the solo, the prayers—all were in elegant taste, beautifully and impressively rendered."

"The exercises took place in Gastonia's splendid new court house. The merchants and bankers closed their doors and all joined in to make the exercise pleasant and memorable. The graves of the dead heroes were decorated with beautiful flowers by loving hands, and the old soldiers were treated to one of the finest dinners I ever saw, consisting of three kinds of meat, all sorts of salads, pickles, three or four kinds of cake, ice cream, coffee and other good things too numerous to specify. JOHN HAYS HAMMOND IN HUFF LEAVES COURT AND STARTS FOR COLORED TOWN

Lie is Passed While He is Being Examined by Attorney Before Examiner

SULLY IS SUING HIM

WASHINGTON, May 13.—After the lie had been passed today to John Hays Hammond, special ambassador from the United States to the coronation of King George of England, in the proceedings over the Doremus cotton gin patent case, Mr. Hammond angrily left the examiner's room, declaring that, unless ordered by the court, he would not answer any more questions of John F. Gittings, attorney for Daniel Sully, who brought the suit. Mr. Hammond declared, in response to Mr. Gittings' remark, that he was not answering questions directly, that it seemed to him an effort was being made to prolong the hearing so as to keep him away from the coronation. Mr. Gittings then told him that he did not care where he went. Mr. Hammond will leave for Canada tomorrow, it was stated by his attorney tonight, in preparation for his departure for England. This he will do in spite of the fact that a subpoena was served on him late today to appear next Wednesday before Examiner Hopper, who is taking testimony for the court in the case. His attorney explained, however, that in their opinion this cannot be considered as contempt of court, as the subpoena was not served directly by the court.

FIGHTING IN MOROCCO.

Quick orders were turned on the tribesmen who were dispersed with a loss of twenty killed or wounded. The French had one Spahi wounded. The night tonight was twice crossed by the shots from the outpost. A company from Mehdia on its way to Salis was attacked by a swarm of horsemen. The Spahis charged, slaying many of them. The native Kabili, operating with the French, had two of his men killed. The enemy's dead numbered twelve.

IN SHADE OF TREES ALONG BANKS OF RIVER MAN AND WIFE TAKE POISON TO DIE

He Was Formerly Noted Newspaper Man Who Had Lost Fortune

FRIENDS TOO LATE

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., May 13.—After notifying friends where their bodies would be found, Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Harrington divided a vial of poison on the bank of the Chenago river here today and died together in a clump of trees. He was a widely known newspaper man, broken in health and finances, and she had been his devoted companion throughout a long married life. Friends who received the letters rushed to the scene only to find them dead. The double tragedy had been carefully planned. Inspection of the Harrington apartment showed that the couple had packed and addressed them to old friends as mementoes. On a table was a note to a physician who has been attending Harrington stating that "the bill was a dead horse and that he was going to a land where money was supposed to be useless." Harrington was at one time employed on the Albany Argus. Later he drifted to New York where he engaged in the publishing business, accumulating a comfortable fortune. Owing to illness during the panic of 1907 he was unable to attend closely to his affairs and his money was lost. He at one time worked on the Washington (D. C.) Times, and had been connected with several papers in New York state.

WOMAN FELL FROM WINDOW.

LONDON, May 11.—Mrs. Sibley Furnaby, a sister of Baron Delamere, was injured probably fatally in a fall from a third story window of her residence in Wilton Place today. Witnesses reported to the police that servants appeared to be making an effort to keep the woman from the window before they saw her drop to the ground. Mrs. Furnaby married Lieutenant Alvern E. Burnaby of the Royal Horse Guards in 1896 and divorced him in 1901 following his elopement with a married woman.

BUILDING COMMISSION NOW INSPECTING SITES

New Administration Building for the State Will be a Beautiful One

RALEIGH, N. C., May 13.—Colonel Ashley Horne, J. A. Long and J. E. Wood Cox, three of the sub-commissioners named by the state building commission to investigate the question of the site for the $200,000 fire proof administration building and report back to the full commission, were in conference here today but made no announcement as to their conclusions. The fourth member, W. E. Springer of Wilmington, was unable to be here today. The four inspected four proposed available sites, these being corner of Salisbury and Morgan streets, where the state owns the corner and would have to buy two adjacent lots; the site of the old hotel property corner of E. Third and Halifax streets, near property by the agricultural department, under the Grimes property fronting E. Third and Wilmington streets. There is to be another conference in about ten days and then the full commission will be called together to receive their report. The sub-commissioners are also to report on a proper location of clerk to the commission and on other preliminary matters.

UNION OF MUSICIANS DID NOT BECOME VERY BITTER

Regarding Arrest of Two McNamoras Simply Ask for Fair Trial for Men

ATLANTA, Ga., May 13.—The convention of the American Federation of Musicians came to a close today after the special committee on resolutions had reported several resolutions which had been submitted to it early in the week. Chief of these was one concerning the arrests of the McNamoras brothers and Chris E. McManis, in connection with the Los Angeles Times disaster and other alleged dynamiting outrages. The resolutions, which were adopted by the convention, explicitly stated that the musicians do not contend the innocence of the men under arrest, but ask that a fair trial be given them and that everybody withhold his opinion until after the trial. Other resolutions referred to the same cause and the relations of the musicians with local labor federations.

CURIOUS HOLES IN MONITOR.

WASHINGTON, May 13.—A naval vessel was attacked while in dry dock at the navy yard here today by some mysterious night explosives, found to have been placed in the hull about eight o'clock last night. The water line of the vessel was damaged. It is supposed that the holes were made by the explosion of a side of water driven into the hull. It also was found that the explosion had done some damage to the hull. The water line of the vessel was damaged. JACKSONVILLE PLANNING FOR BAPTIST CONVENTION

Speculation as to Who Will Preside Over Convention of Southern Church

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., May 13.—The Southern Baptist convention will open its annual meeting here next Wednesday and already there is some talk concerning the officers to be elected. Joshua Levering, of Baltimore, is the president and is serving his third time in that capacity. If he wishes to again stand for president, it is supposed that he will have no opposition. In case he refuses to run there are several well known men who have been suggested for the place. Dr. E. E. Mullins, president of the Southern Baptist Theological seminary, being prominently mentioned. Mr. Burrows, of Georgia, who has been the convention's secretary for nine years. Dr. Wm. E. Hatcher, of Virginia, and Dr. J. Palmer Brooks, of Baylor University, Waco, Tex., are also mentioned. Jacksonville is busy preparing for the reception of the delegates. The marshal and negro exchanged shots and other pistols were fired. Dave Brown, a negro, was found dead on the sidewalk with a pistol beside him. Crul captured McLeod after a chase and took him to jail. No further trouble had occurred at midnight.
