"POLLY OF THE CIRCUS" ADEQUATE PRODUCTION
Miss Ida St. Leon Scored Great Success at Auditorium Yesterday.
Large Audiences.

Ida St. Leon, in her interpretation of Margaret Mayo's "Polly of the Circus" is all that could be desired in the title role, and her two performances at the Auditorium yesterday were witnessed by large audiences. Her support was capable, Joseph Harris as the Rev. John Douglas, handling his part with the required dignity, without being too sanctimonious as most "stage ministers" are. The production was well staged, the three scenes in the final act being especially meritorious. These scenes were good representations of circus life, the first being behind the scenes just outside the main tent. The next was the circus in operation, there being bareback riders, clowns and acrobats doing real stunts. Then came the circus lot and a way off in the distance the circus wagons leaving for the next town, leaving Polly behind to take up a new role, that of the minister's wife. The story is familiar to nearly every theatergoer, and Miss St. Leon's presentation of this popular production compares very favorably with former presentations of the piece here. Her vivacity is contagious, her slang is appropriate and spontaneous, while she at the same time leaves the impression that she will make a suitable wife for a minister, such a minister as Rev. John Douglas, whose broad-mindedness together with his courage, makes him a tower of strength among the narrow, bigoted members of his congregation.

Miss St. Leon will be given a hearty welcome in future appearances in Asheville, whether as Polly or in some other role.

FRIGHTFUL SUFFERING OF A WOMAN
Mrs. Garrett, of Vandervoort, Describes How She Suffered and How She Got Relief.

Vandervoort, Ark.—Mrs. Dora Garrett, of this place, says: "I suffered every month, for a year, and got weaker every day. My head and back would ache so bad, I could not sit up. I tried all kinds of medicines, and they all failed to cure me. Then my mother told me to take Cardul. When I had taken one bottle, I was able to do all of my work. I can recommend Cardul to be the greatest woman's remedy in the world. I have used it and know what it will do."

When a woman is ill, the real trouble is generally some derangement of her constitution, and the headache, and backache, etc., are merely symptoms of her womanly weakness. The proper treatment, therefore, is Cardul, the woman's tonic. No other medicine or tonic, has exactly the same results as Cardul. No other has the record of so many years of successful use in cases of womanly ailments.

If Mrs. Garrett had taken Cardul sooner, she might have been spared the long sickness and much suffering. A few doses of Cardul at the right time will often save serious suffering and prevent a long sickness. Don't delay. Begin to take Cardul at once.
