Unqualified Success

This fair has been a success from the "word go," in spite of the fact that the weather man misbehaved on the first day. That the Western North Carolina fair will be an annual offering is assured and already arrangements are being made for the offerings next year. Mr. Hayes and Mr. Arthur having placed their applications for the entire skating rink building next year, in case the Riverside grounds are used. The stockholders, it is thought, will be able to see that they have invested in something which is far from a losing proposition from a business standpoint, to say nothing of the many educational advantages which they have given to the people of Western North Carolina.

counsel for the defense made the argument against accepting Nelson as a juror, after he had been challenged on grounds of bias, earlier in the day.

"No section of the criminal code can change a man's constitutional rights," was his opening statement; "a defendant must be tried by a jury, not by a ratification meeting. Never before have I seen an officer of the state asking the defense to take a juror who has sworn that he has held an opinion for months as to the defendant's guilt or innocence, and that it would be strong evidence to remove that opinion." He intimated that a ruling adverse to the contention regarding Nelson would be considered ground for appeal and it was upon this point that Horton in his address reassured the court.

"I don't think the court cares to consider the possible action of a court of review," interrupted Judge Bordwell and all counsel seemed to agree.

McNamara throughout the afternoon sat against the rail, clasping his knees with his hands and looking steadily at his counsel.

There will be a two hours' session of court tomorrow.

LAST ASSEMBLING OF WARSHIPS WITH U. S. OF A. SECOND

Atlantic and Pacific Fleets Will Mobilize at Los Angeles and New York

GERMANY MAY MOVE A NOTCH HIGHER UP

Unless Congress Authorizes More Additions to U. S. Navy Than at Present

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—The mobilization of the Atlantic and Pacific fleets at New York and Los Angeles October 30 to November 2 will mark the gathering of the greatest naval force that ever floated in the waters of this hemisphere. This probably will be the last assembling of present day warships with the United States of America standing second in the list of great maritime powers. For it is certain that at the rate of development of the ship building plans of Germany, that nation within three years at least, will move up to second place, unless congress should see fit to authorize each year additions to the American navy at least double those now provided for by the existing naval program, which contemplates the construction of but two battleships yearly. The navy department today made public the full list of the vessels to be assembled for the great reviews at New York and Los Angeles and while the number combined does not equal the 135 vessels reviewed by the German emperor at Kiel last summer, the 126 American ships with their tremendous displacement of 693,844 tons, are really more powerful than the German fleet.

game, but are determined to score on the college men and if they go that, they will not count the trip a disastrous one. The team is in good shape. The average weight is 153 and the players are willing, anxious and determined. However, a number of the new men are not as fast as further development will probably make them and today a game will be played under the disadvantage of new signals, made necessary on account of the fact that two of the Carolina players under the disadvantage of new are familiar with the signs of the local aggregation.

The result of today's game is awaited with interest in Asheville. After the game, the players will take a trip to Durham where they will be the members of a box party at the Durham theatre tonight.
