

ON FOURTH BALLOT MRS. PATTERSON IS MADE FREE WOMAN

She Sprang to Her Feet When Verdict Was Read and Gave Attorney Her Hand

OVERWHELMED WITH CONGRATULATIONS Jurors Accepted Her Story That She Shot Husband After Being Knocked Down

DENVER, Col., Nov. 29.—Gertrude Olmstead Patterson, accused of the murder of her husband, Charles A. Patterson, when she shot to death while the couple were walking together in a suburb on Sept. 25, today was declared not guilty by a jury in the district court.

As the clerk finished the reading of the verdict Mrs. Patterson sprang to her feet and caught the outstretched hand of her attorney. From outside the court room came a roar of cheers, but inside the room the crowd was quiet. But as court adjourned and Mrs. Patterson stepped forward to thank the jurors, the crowd overwhelmed her with congratulations.

Her Family Happy. On the arm of her attorney, Mrs. Patterson struggled through the throng while men tried to shake her hand and women strove to kiss her. Behind her, waving both hands, went her father, shouting his joy.

Fourth Ballot Unanimous. The fourth ballot was unanimous for acquittal. Because of the funeral of Judge Biles all courts had adjourned. Word was sent to Judge Allen at the cemetery, but it was two hours before he reached the court room.

The verdict hung, it is declared, on Mrs. Patterson's trip to Europe with another man after she had married.

BIG CORPORATIONS ESSENTIAL TO THE DEVELOPMENT OF THE COUNTRY

Argument Along This Line Made by Gary Before Senate Committee, But he Says That Government Should Take Control of Them Through a Corporation or Trade Commission With Absolute Power of Regulation.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—Elbert H. Gary, executive head of the United States Steel corporation, made a plea for "big business" today before the senate committee of interstate commerce which is searching for a solution of the present trust problem in the United States. Big corporations are essential to the development of the country and the maintenance of business prosperity, he said.

Political Situation. Mr. Gary dwelt at length on the political situation. He said he had no particular president in mind but that he believed fewer elections and less reason for seeking public or private support for political purposes would aid greatly in keeping business at a level.

Mr. Gary thought not, but he said the business difficulty lay in deciding beforehand what amounted to a "restraint of trade." The famous "Gary dinners" where steel men gathered to discuss their affairs, were not to fix prices but to disclose their business condition to each other, he said.
