Don't Wait for the Wood to Show Before You Paint!

Postponing painting is like putting off payment of taxes. You are only piling up expense. The wise man paints often, so that there is always a protecting film of paint between his house and the elements. The more durable the paint, the less often this must be done.

CHRISTOPHER DIES AT MISSION HOSPITAL

Alleged to Have Been Called to the Door and Shot—Warrant is Issued for His Slayer.

William Christopher, of the Upper Dutch Cove section of Haywood county, who is alleged to have been called to the door of Phoebe Christopher's home a few nights ago and shot, died yesterday morning at 7 o'clock at the Mission hospital, to which he was taken immediately following the shooting. According to a special to The Citizen from Canton last night, Deputy Sheriff Lee Duckett and Constable C. G. Brookshire, of that place, left Canton yesterday afternoon with a warrant calling for the arrest of James Christopher, who is charged with having fired the shot from the darkness which resulted in the death of his cousin. Immediately following the death of the patient at the local hospital, Jesse Christopher, of Haywood county, the dead man's father, was notified of his son's passing and Coroner J. M. Russell, of Canton, came to Asheville yesterday afternoon and took charge of the body. Arrangements were made for the removal of the corpse to Canton today. From that place it will be taken to the home of the deceased for interment.

It is not known yet whether or not an inquest will be held over Christopher's body, but if it is decided to hold one the jury will hear the evidence in connection with the case at Canton today.

Upper Dutch Cove is about twelve miles from Canton and the killing has aroused a great deal of interest in that section. No motive has been assigned for the alleged murder and it is not known whether or not the man charged with the killing has made an effort to escape.

MUSICAL COMEDY AT MAJESTIC THEATRE

"Hotel a la Carte," a musical comedy which comes to this city highly recommended by the booking agency which furnishes attractions for the Majestic theatre will open an engagement at that amusement house this afternoon. The attraction has been presented in several of the larger southern cities and has been received with enthusiasm. It has been very favorably criticized and the management of the Majestic feels that it has secured an excellent attraction for its patrons.

In addition to musical comedy, the usual number of pictures will be shown this afternoon and tonight.

HEAVY DOCKET FOR TRIAL THIS MORNING

Judge Junius G. Adams, of the city police court, has a busy morning in store, sixty-six cases having been docketed for trial at this morning's session of the police court at midnight last night. These cases include arrests which have been made by members of the local police department within the past two days—since Saturday morning's session of court. Alleged gamblers will be out in full force this morning, twenty-two who are alleged to have been willing to take a chance, having been taken in various raids. The other charges include the alleged violations of various city ordinances and out of the large number of cases on the docket none of the defendants is charged with the commission of a very serious crime.

LOBBY COMMITTEE ISSUES SUBPOENA

elect certain congressmen because they would be favorable to certain legislation, such facts should be made known, because members of congress have the privilege of the floor of the senate and are able to influence legislation there.

"The senate resolution introduced by Senator Cummins in response to President Wilson's statement that efforts were being made to influence legislation in this congress. It was rather limited to lobbying now going on. Since then there have been disclosed evidences of extensive lobbying that I think we ought to inquire into fully.

"We have found there is a new kind of insidious lobbying; testimony has been given to show that great interests have been getting together behind certain men to get their own committees where their opinions would control legislation, though there might be no actual corruption of the individual. As the inquiry goes on it brings out the fact that there has been lobbying going on that was not suspected."

"The senate committee will not renew activity until July 7. Mr. Mulhall has been summoned to appear July 8, but Chairman Overman said tonight the committee probably would finish up with the "sugar lobby" and investigating the character of the "wool lobby" that has been maintained in Washington and elsewhere before taking up the charges made in the Mulhall statement or the Wall street disclosures made by Robert K. Lovett, Representative A. Mitchell Palmer and others. Members of the senate committee declared tonight they could see no termination to the investigation that has grown out of President Wilson's charge that special interests were trying to influence the preparation of the present tariff bill."

PRESENT DAY FIGHTERS ARE NEAR MOLLYCODDLES

So Declares Bob Fitzsimmons, Discussing Methods of Present Champs.

NEW YORK, June 29.—Too much money for too little fighting is taking the edge off the old sport, declares Robert Fitzsimmons, ex-champion of the world, in The Atlanta Journal. When I first came to America very good men in all classes were glad to fight for anything from a hundred or a couple of hundred dollars. Only the big champions got big money.

Fighting was a rough game then. It wasn't so much the money that drew men to the ring. Most of them fought because they'd rather fight than do anything else. Why, among the old-time lightweights Joe Gans, Del Hawkins, Kid McPadden, Kid McFarland and that lot—any one of whom would be a world's champion today—used to fight for purses of $100, $500 or $1,000. And they'd fight winner take all and be glad to get the chance.

Now look at the lightweights today and what they get and what they expect. Ad Wolgast is a good little fighter, but he isn't any better than a whole lot of the old-timers. Wolgast got into the habit of demanding something like $25,000 for his "end" whenever he was asked to make a match. He got the money madly and got it bad.

After Ritchie beat him and took the title one might expect to hear of Wolgast's being willing to fight all the best lightweights as fast as he could get them, for any fair purse offered, to work back into the title again. He didn't do it. Even after he was beaten by Tommy Murphy he had an idea that he was worth as much as ever in the ring. Wolgast has probably broken off and refused more matches than any title holder in the business. Perhaps he's unlucky; but I know some old-timers who wouldn't have called off a match for a dislocated thumb, the way Wolgast has called off his match with Featherweight Dundee at the last moment, and called it off for good.

We didn't call off matches for anything less than a broken leg when I was fighting. I remember the day I boxed Jack O'Brien in Philadelphia. That match was on once and I trained for it and got into good shape. Then the match was postponed and I was finally notified that it was all off. I got out of training and didn't do a stroke of work for several weeks. I was notified that the fight was on again in a couple of days. I learned that O'Brien had been boxing it. He had been training down at Atlantic city all the time getting ready to put it over the "old man" when he caught him out of condition. I didn't call it off. I went down to Philadelphia and had O'Brien on the floor, whipped and practically out, when the police jumped in to save him with half a minute of the round still to go.

The night I won the light-heavyweight title from George Gardner I was in poor shape to fight. I had run so much on the road in my few days training, taking off weight in a hurry, that I had blistered the entire soles of both feet. I could hardly walk. Every time I moved around my shoes filled with blood. I didn't call it off. I walked to the ring without limping and fought twenty rounds without letting him know I was half crippled. And in the fourth round I mashed my right hand hitting him on the side of the head, driving the first two knuckles back a full inch and splintering the bones. I didn't let him know that until it was over either. I beat Corbett with a dislocated thumb, and fought Jeffries with two smashed hands. When I fought Johnson my right arm was twisted by Jeanette in training and all the ligaments torn away from the elbow. I couldn't even block with that arm, and in the dressing room a doctor drew off a pint of fluid to take down the big swelling. I fought Sharkey and Rubin when I was so full of malaria fever I didn't half know where I was, and knocked them both out. We didn't call the fights off for little things in those days.

Comparing the chances we used to take with the careful way managers nurse along their boxers now, I can't help thinking that this no decision, short bout thing, with big money paid both men and no "winner take all" fighting, is making what my friend Theodore Roosevelt calls "mollycoddles" of what might be a lot of good men.

JOHNSON LEAVES FOR EUROPE

MONTREAL, June 29.—Jack Johnson, the negro pugilist, accompanied by his white wife, Lucille Cameron Johnson, left for Havre on the Allen line steamer Corinthian at 3 o'clock this morning. They boarded the steamer last night in the presence of Canadian immigration officers who will watch Johnson's progress Europeanward until he is beyond their jurisdiction. Just before going on board, Johnson reiterated his declaration that he had no intention of forfeiting his bail bond in Chicago, and was going to Europe to resound by boxing contests, the losses he has sustained in his trials. He declared he would be in Chicago when his appeal for a white slave conviction is argued in November. Johnson took with him two automobiles, a limousine and a high-powered touring car.

MAKES NEAR ATTEMPT TO COMMIT SUICIDE

H. W. Franklin Proves Poor Shot, Missing Himself Twice in the Same Place—Slightly Hurt.

H. W. Franklin, a young man registering from Greenville, S. C., made a near attempt at committing suicide by shooting at himself in a room at the Oxford hotel late last night. Outside of the fact that he held the pistol in his left hand and placed it as near the edge of his right side as he could without missing entirely, the attempt was almost a success. A superficial wound under the skin on the right side was the only result of his effort.

Franklin was evidently a poor shot. He emptied three chambers of a revolver at himself (at close range) succeeded in bruising himself with one bullet, putting one bullet just beneath the skin along his right ribs, and missed entirely with the other bullet.

People in the Oxford hotel were startled about 10 o'clock last night by the sound of three shots, fired inside the hotel. A hasty investigation showed Franklin stretched out on a chair, apparently fainting.

Dr. Arthur E. Reeves was called to attend the injured man, and found on his arrival that Franklin was not seriously hurt, only one bullet having taken effect, and it was quickly removed. Dr. Reeves said late last night that Franklin is in no danger and will be out in a day or two.

After the wounds were dressed a bystander asked Franklin how he happened to hold the pistol in his left hand in his effort at self-destruction.

Franklin proudly replied that he is ambidextrous.

The police, as yet, have taken no action in the case.

SUPPRESSION OF OPIUM TRAFFIC WILL BE SOUGHT

1909 and paved the way for the more official gathering of delegates at The Hague in December, 1911. This conference after two months hard work agreed upon the form of a general convention, which, broadly speaking was calculated to put an end to international dealing in harmful drugs. There were twelve powers party to this agreement, America, China, France, Germany, Italy, Japan, the Netherlands, Portugal, Russia, Siam and Persia.

IMPORTANT MEETING WILL BE HELD TODAY

An important meeting of the Children's Playground association will be held in the auditorium of the Y. M. C. A. at 10 o'clock this morning, for the purpose of discussing plans for playgrounds in various parts of the city, and plans for a central playground for the children. The meeting is called by Rev. W. A. Newell, president of the association, and, while a business meeting, various matters for the consideration of the association will be introduced: the Y. M. C. A. and the W. Y. C. A., Ministers' association, Children's Welfare association, Civic Betterment league, Teachers' association and the school board have all been co-operating to make the plans for a central playground a success, and all are expected to be represented at the meeting this morning.

ANTI-AMERICAN MEETING.

TOKIO, June 29.—At an anti-American meeting last night a resolution was adopted declaring the Japanese cabinet had failed in settling the California question and that the time had arrived for the people to assume a more determined attitude and extend the national prestige. The meeting was attended by a number of agitators and two opposition members of parliament and it was decided to continue the attempts to arouse public opinion by further anti-American meetings and the distribution of manifestoes.

TITLE BATTLE.

NEW ORLEANS, June 29.—Claim to the welterweight championship title will be made by the winner of the bout between Young Denny, of New Orleans, and "Wild Cat" Ferns, of Kansas City, to be held here July 4. Each has defeated several prominent title aspirants, and with the field open promoters in charge declare they will be justified in proclaiming a new champion at the end of the Independence day fight.

HARNESS HELD.

Members of the police department are holding a practically new set of harness at the city hall, which was taken several days ago on Charlotte street. The man who had the harness, it is said, stated that he didn't know where it came from. It bears the initials T. F. L., and it is believed that the property was stolen.
