HUNGARIAN STATE HORSE BREEDING FARM INSPECTED

American Commission Sees Some of Finest Horses in the World.

MILITARISM BACK OF THE MOVEMENT

Cavalry and Agricultural Horses Are Given Particular Attention.

MEZOHEGYES, Hungary, July 3.—(Special Cable).—As the guests of the Hungarian government, members of the American commission on agricultural co-operation were shown over the government breeding farm here today. Horse breeding is one of the important industries of Hungary. The most noticeable characteristic of an Hungarian city to the stranger is the appearance of the horses on the streets. Even the cabs are two-horse vehicles and the horses would do credit to many a private turnout in the United States. Militarism is back of the horse-breeding industry, and the Hungarians have done precisely what Major Leonard Wood would like to see done for the American army. The government farm of Mezohegyes is about 25,000 acres. Nearly all of the land is given over to forage crops or pasture. The growth of forage is particularly heavy and its quality very high. There are altogether 2,100 horses on the farm and this is but one of six such establishments in Hungary. The purpose of the institution is to keep up the quality of the horses bred, and to improve the cattle, sheep, and farm stock of the entire country. The exhibition was impressive, more so an effort upon an enormous scale to secure practical results in cattle and horse breeding, than as a show farm of fancy stock.

For Cavalry Use. The horses are bred for cavalry use and to secure a good agricultural breed. The stallions are sent out to government establishments over the country and are at the command of the farmers. The most important stallions of the Mezohegyes farm are the English half-breed and the Anglo-Norman, and the horses are all of robust appearance and strong bone structure, making them admirably suited for agricultural use.

In the breeding of cows an effort is made to secure an animal that will serve both as a dairy cow and as a draft animal, for the small farmers of Hungary work their cows as well as to use them for milk. The Hungarian cow is not now of much use either as a dairy animal or as a beef animal. It is of the long-horn breed, similar to cattle of the western plains. Swiss cattle has been imported and various experiments are constantly being carried on to produce a combination dairy and draft animal. Some excellent types of Hungarian oxen were shown members of the commission.

Special Train. The American commission was taken to the farm by a special train from Budapest. A cavalry post is maintained on the farm and the Americans were quartered in the officers' barracks. In one section of the barracks a group of ten of the Americans immediately established a bachelors' hall.

Before sun-up the next morning many of the Americans walked to the country market and watched the Hungarian peasants begin their market day. The women for the most part do the selling and spread their produce about them on the ground. The impression is being borne in upon the Americans that women do most of the work in Europe.

The government farm requires so many people as herdsmen and stable hands, besides the cavalry post, that it is quite a good-sized village. Here especially the visitor was impressed with the enormous part played by the government in the development of agriculture. Undoubtedly European governments have come to consider agriculture as different from all other forms of industry, of far greater social importance, and as an industry standing in need of government support and protection, to be brought to its highest state of development. The problem of keeping the peasantry upon the soil involves the question of national existence. It is a military problem, an economic problem, a problem to maintain the backbone of the nation. And what is done in Hungary to better the economic and social position of the farmer is done not so much for the farmers' sake as for the nation's sake, and in the belief that without the farmer, without successful and contented farmers, the nation cannot exist.

EMILE OLLIVIER IS 88. PARIS, July 3.—Emile Ollivier, who was prime minister to Napoleon III when the latter declared war against Germany in 1870, attained his eighty-eighth year today. Ollivier's public career virtually ended with the Franco-Prussian war. Since that time, however, he has accomplished a vast amount of literary work, including a stupendous history of France. At the age of four score and eight he still finds himself capable of working ten hours a day. DON'T MISS THE SPORT Go to Riverside Park the morning of July 4th. The athletic events begin at 10 o'clock. The contest is open to all. Cash prizes are offered the winners. Advertise in The Citizen.

NEWS AND GOSSIP FROM CAPITAL OF OLD NORTH STATE

Mitch Lee, Under Two Years Sentence, Is Granted a Pardon.

WIFE AND CHILDREN NEED HIS HELP

Columbus Jones, Charged With Abandoning Wife, Is Also Pardoned.

RALEIGH, N. C., July 3.—On the special recommendation of Hon. Jno. G. Capers, former United States internal revenue collector, Governor Craig granted a pardon today for Mitch Lee, of Transylvania county, who is serving two years and six months sentence for breaking into the Capers summer home at Cedar Mountain, Transylvania county. A quantity of goods of one sort and another were taken from the house. Mr. Capers writes the governor that he is constrained to ask for the pardon on account of the need the wife and three children of the prisoner have for his help as they are reported to be really in want. At the same time he says he feels that some degree of protection should be accorded the large number of summer homes in the Cedar Mountain section that necessarily stand unoccupied during several months of each year. The pardon is conditioned on good behavior. The governor also pardons Columbus Jones, who is serving a one year sentence for abandoning his wife in Edgecombe county, the pardon being conditioned on his living with and properly caring for the woman. Special Deputy Insurance Commissioner F. M. Jordan reports to the state department of insurance that he has procured from Harvey Murdock, thirteen years old, a confession that he started the fires in Irwell county that burned a number of farm buildings and lumber. The boy is a member of a good family, is afflicted and is found to be a phrymaniac, having a craze for starting fires. On petition of the citizens of Selma, just filed, the corporation commission has served notice on the Southern and Seaboard Air Line Railroad companies to show cause why they should not be required to provide a larger and better appointed union passenger station at that place. Also there is demand for better freight depot facilities. July 7 is set for hearing the involuntary petition in bankruptcy against the Smith Mercantile company, of West Durham, which is pending in the federal court here. The petitioners are Austin-Heaton company, Thomas & Howard company and the Southern Feed and Grocery company. J. F. Howard is restrained from disposing of any assets of the company in the meantime.

PLANS COMPLETED FOR CELEBRATION

Salvation Army Will Hold Its Annual Meeting at Weaverville Today—Large Attendance Expected.

The local corps of the Salvation army has completed arrangements for its annual all-day Fourth of July meeting, which will be held today at the Methodist camping grounds, at Weaverville. It is expected that the meeting will be largely attended and plans have been completed for the holding of several meetings in the grove during the day. Early morning cars to Weaverville, it is expected, will take hundreds of Ashevilleans to Weaverville for today's meeting, while visitors from various parts of this and other counties are expected to attend the celebration of the national holiday. The religious meetings will be in charge of Ensign William Bouterse, of Durham, Captain Marinus Bouterse, of Lynchburg, and Captain Houseworth, of Atlanta. The three army officers are singers and they will assist the Harvey brothers male quartette with the musical program. Instrumental music will be rendered by a brass band and an orchestra. Four ministers representing as many denominations have promised Adjutant John Bouterse to assist him in making the meeting a successful one and it is expected that several other ministers will be in attendance upon the gathering. Picnic dinner will be served in the large grove at Weaverville at noon and the celebration will come to a close late this afternoon. Each year, the Salvation army con-

LIVE NEWS NOTES FROM SALISBURY

SALISBURY, N. C., July 3.—The indications are that if Sheriff J. H. McKinzie keeps seeing liquor and bringing indictments against liquor dealers that the county school board will have money to loan. Almost every day recently several hundred dollars have been added to the school fund through the office of Judge T. F. Kluitz, of the county court, and the working force of the sheriff. The last to pay over heavy fines were Messrs. Teeter & Gabel, of the Southern hotel each handing $250 for violations of the state laws. The Salisbury board of aldermen reduced the license on pawnshops to $100 per year at a meeting held Tuesday night. The aldermen also arranged to have a new set of ordinances printed for distribution in the city. The board has under consideration a new light contract to be made with the North Carolina Public Service company, which is being delayed on account of a large amount of work now being done by the company. At a meeting of the Rowan county commissioners to be held Monday in Salisbury the question of building a public highway from this city to Whitney and Palmerville will be considered. A number of interested citizens living along the two proposed routes for the road will appear before the board. It is believed that the commissioners will favor building the highway at once. After filling an appointment to speak at Lumberton on July 4th, Senator Lee S. Overman will spend the remainder of the week at his home in Salisbury. This will afford the senator a much needed though short rest at a time when he is especially busy in Washington. At Granite Quarry on Friday the members of the Royal Arcanum will hold their annual outing and picnic. Arrangements have been made for a big occasion and many will go from Salisbury to spend the day.

ADDED TO MEXICAN CABINET.

CITY OF MEXICO, July 3.—A new ministry was added formally to the Mexican cabinet today. The new department of agriculture was inaugurated in the presence of the president and the members of the cabinet. The new department will give its attention to the general registration of property, the regulation and preservation of the forests, the work of the meteorological stations and agricultural problems in general.
