WHITE MAN INDICTED ON KIDNAPING CHARGE

GRAND JURY TAKES QUICK ACTION IN CASE.

Many Causes Were Disposed of in the Superior Court—Other True Bills Are Returned to Court.

Sam Edwards, a white man, who is said to reside on Little Ivy, was yesterday indicted by the Buncombe county grand jury on the charge of having kidnaped Toy McCanson, a 15-year-old boy, about a month ago.

The youngster says that he was kidnaped in Asheville and carried to Edwards' farm and forced to work. He made his escape and went to his home at Sulphur Springs.

Many other important cases were considered by the grand jury at its session yesterday. A true bill was returned against Mrs. Helen Miller, charging her with assaulting with a knife Mrs. Goldsmith.

J. L. Sherrill, charged with the betrayal of Anne Kraft was indicted. Mrs. Lizzie Shaft was also indicted in connection with the case.

Ben Morris, indicted on a dozen or more different charges recently, and who was out on bonds in the sum of $1,125, was taken in charge and ordered by the court to give a justified bond in the sum of $1,500 for his appearance in the superior court when his cases come up for trial.

During the present term of the court, Judge Frank Carter presiding, a total of 52 criminal cases have so far been disposed of by Solicitor Robert R. Reynolds. The criminal term will continue through July 19. The grand jury, which has also had a busy session this week, will probably finish up tomorrow night.

The following cases were disposed of yesterday, all of the same being jury cases:

- Alton Mitchell, simple assault; not guilty.
Alfred Snyder, charged with larceny of a set of harness belonging to Judge J. C. Pritchard; guilty, 16 months.
Homer McGehee, charged with being an accomplice to larceny; 12 months.
Melvin Whitson, charged with being an accomplice to larceny; six months. Whitson went on the stand as a witness for the state. All three of these men are white.
Will Swink, charged with retailing, was convicted but sentence was not pronounced. Same defendant, charged with assault upon Joe Coche, convicted; sentence not pronounced.
Harry Bradley, charged with frequenting a disorderly house; convicted and fined $25 and costs. Defendant pleaded guilty to a charge of gambling and dismissed of the charge upon the payment of costs. The court required the defendant to make a good behavior bond in the sum of $500 for three years.
Today's docket in the superior court follows:
Seven charges against Joe Metcalf; one charge against Jack Ricard.

WANTS JURY TO PASS ON DRINKING PLEDGE

PROCEEDINGS FILED BY DEFENDANT IN SUPERIOR COURT.

Tony Hemphill, Through His Counsel, Contents He is Being "Unlawfully Detained" by Sheriff.

For the purpose of having a jury pass upon the question of whether or not he violated the terms of a temperance pledge, which is alleged to have been made before Judge Junius G. Adams, of the police court, several months ago, Tom Hemphill, through his attorneys, has instituted habeas corpus proceedings before Judge Frank Carter, in the superior court.

Hemphill is being unlawfully detained, as is alleged in the petition, in the county jail by the sheriff of Buncombe county, on commitment orders from the police court. The hearing was set for yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock, but upon the request of the solicitor a continuance was made until this afternoon.

The case is rather an unique one. The petition for the habeas corpus proceedings states that the defendant was arrested by the police on May 12, 1913, charged with being drunk; that he was given a sentence of thirty days on the county roads, but was allowed by the police court judge to take a plea of temperance, the road sentence being suspended. It is further alleged that the petitioner was again arrested on July 7, also charged with being drunk, was given another sentence of thirty days on the county roads, and that the old sentence of the same period was ordered invoked upon the ground that he had broken his pledge not to drink. Hemphill contends that he was sent to the county jail, and has not been given what he contends are his constitutional rights in having a jury pass upon the question as to whether or not he violated his pledge. An appeal had been noted, the defendant avers, to the decisions of the police court judge.

POSTOFFICE MAKES A FINE ANNUAL REPORT

Receipts of the Asheville postoffice for postage during the fiscal year, ending June 30, 1913, amounted to $92,174.14, which is an increase of $11,174.41, or between 13 and 14 per cent. These figures are contained in a report of the local office which has just been compiled. A total of 24,821 money orders were issued during the past twelve months by the Asheville office, amounting to $141,212.09, and has paid 18,007 such orders, which amounted to $171,075.53. The increase for money orders issued over the preceding year was 915.

Registered letters dispatched during the past year by the local office numbered 13,932, in addition to 1,450 insured parcel post packages, which have been handled since January 1, when the parcel post system was instituted. These two combined show a very decided increase over the registered business of the year previous.

LUMBERMEN PRESENT PETITION ON RULES

OBJECT TO THE MILLING IN TRANSIT REGULATIONS.

Vast Amount of Technical Testimony is Heard Before Special Examiner from Washington.

With a brilliant array of counsel, which is employed on both sides, fighting for every inch of legal grounds, a hearing commenced in Asheville yesterday on the milling in transit regulations of the Southern railway.

The hearing is being conducted in the federal court room by Examiner Marshall, of the Interstate Commerce commission, who came to Asheville from Washington for the purpose of hearing the testimony in the proceedings brought up by an association composed of a majority of the lumbermen of Western North Carolina.

The main contention of the lumbermen is that the regulations of the railway company should be removed, claiming the same is having a bad effect upon the lumber industry of this section and that the regulations are useless. No decision is expected now as the special examiner must report back to the Interstate Commerce commission.

A number of witnesses were heard yesterday, the mass of testimony, mostly of a strictly technical nature, greatly interesting to lumbermen and railroad officials, but of little interest to the public in general. Thomas J. Harkins, of Asheville, and W. H. Phippen, of New York, the latter traffic manager for the National Lumber Dealers' association, are conducting the case for the lumbermen, and the other side is being represented by a corps of Southern railway attorneys.

The milling in transit rate on lumber, which was formerly in force, allowed of the shipping of lumber between any two points in the section on a local rate, and then after the milling was done the lumber could be shipped out to eastern points on a through rate, from which was deducted the excess of the local rate over the through rate for the local shipment of the same lumber, thus providing a through rate for milling in transit shipments. All common lumber was put on an equal basis.

Recently new regulations have been provided by the railway concerning these shipments, which, it is claimed, make the cost of such shipments prohibitive. It is claimed that such a rate is absolutely necessary for the life of the small sawmill and lumber dealer of the section, and it is claimed by the lumbermen now that the charges for milling in transit lumber is excessive, illegal, discriminatory; further that the regulations and rules imposed have increased the labor and expense of handling such shipments as to make them prohibitive.

According to these regulations all common lumber is no longer handled on a common basis in the fixing of rates, and where mixed cars are handled each kind of lumber contained in it must be considered separately. Where the weight of any kind is less than 1,000 pounds, no credit for the local rate is given to it and no refund is made from the ensuing through rate. Besides this daily reports have to be made by the dealers for each kind of lumber on hand, the reports on each requiring four forms. In addition to this monthly reports are required, these latter to be made oftener than once a month if the railway requests it. This, it is claimed, adds greatly to the cost of book-keeping and labor of other kinds, and the restriction to 1,000 pounds or over is said to cause a big loss continually to every small dealer. It is claimed further that it is practically an impossibility to make all the reports required.

IMPORTANT CASE IS DECIDED BY JUDGES

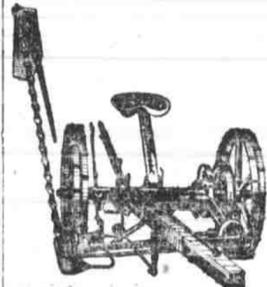

Yesterday in the United States circuit court of appeals, sitting in Asheville, an important decision was handed down in the case of the Carolina Glass company, plaintiff in error, vs. Dispensary Board of South Carolina, defendant in error. The suit was instituted to recover something over $12,000, alleged to be due the company for goods purchased by the South Carolina dispensary under the management of the board. The lower court held that the state was a necessary party to the suit, and this being the case the suit would be inhibited by the eleventh amendment to the constitution. The circuit court here affirmed the decision of the lower court, holding that the suit is against the state of South Carolina.
