CARTMELL WILL RACE AGAINST DONALDSON

FORMER ASHEVILLEAN ISSUES CHALLENGE TO CHAMPION.

Athletic Director of University of North Carolina is Going After the Sprinting Title.

The following article sent from Raleigh to newspapers throughout the country is of interest locally on account of Mr. Cartmell, the principal, being a former Ashevilleian, and having several relatives and a number of friends here:

"Nat J. Cartmell, athletic trainer of the University of North Carolina, and erstwhile champion short distance runner of the world, has again taken up the cudgel and has challenged the present possessor of the title, Jack Donaldson, of Australia. A message received in Raleigh bears the information that Cartmell is now in training in Portobello, a seaside resort near Edinburgh, Scotland, for the forthcoming race to contest the world's sprint championship.

"The challenge to Donaldson, the Australian sprinter, has been accepted, providing for three races at distances of 130, 220 and 440 yards, the winning of two to decide the world's championship. The conditions of the contest further provide that the two shall run at other distances, afterwards to be decided upon.

"The challenge issued by Nat Cartmell, as appearing in the Sporting Chronicle of England, runs as follows:

"In view of the fact that Donaldson does not seem to look with favor upon the idea of allowing the winning of two out of a series of three matches over distances of 130, 220 and 440 yards to decide the world's sprint championship, yet seems willing to run a match over any one of the three distances for 100 pounds, I wish to announce that I am prepared to back myself in a race over 440 yards for from 50 to 100 pounds, the contest to decide the quarter-mile championship. The match can be run in England, Scotland or Wales, but each runner is to have his course strung off, and the track must not be less than a quarter of a mile, all of which must be cinder footing. Yours, etc., (Signed) 'NAT J. CARTMELL.

"In addition to the news that Cartmell, a native of North Carolina, and athletic director of the University of North Carolina, will engage in the leading race event of the year on the two continents, is the information that Eairy V. Patterson, a mile runner of the University of North Carolina, will engage in the Olympic races. He is the only American distance runner entered in the contests this year.

"Patterson is the fastest mile clipper possibly ever to attend Carolina, and in a contest on the home grounds in 1912 broke a southern record. He is an ardent disciple of Nat Cartmell, and is following with success in his footsteps.

"Early Patterson's home is in Burlington, Alamance county, and he has been a student at the university for the past five years."

AMERICAN.

RED SOX WIN.

CLEVELAND, July 20.—Cleveland lost the first game of the series to Boston today 2 to 1. Boston scored the winning run in the ninth inning when Chapman fumbled Collins' easy grounder. The features were the fielding of Speaker and of Manager Birmingham, of Cleveland, who returned to the game after an absence of two months, due to an injured foot.

	Score:	R. H. E.
Boston	000 100 001—2 4 1
Cleveland	100 000 000—1 7 1

Batteries: Collins and Carrigan; Mitchell and O'Neil. Time, 1:50. Umpires, Hildebrand and O'Loughlin.

PARCE AT DETROIT.

DETROIT, July 20.—A heavy rain began at the end of the first inning today and when play was resumed after more than an hour's interruption the diamond was ankle-deep in mud. The game became a farce, Detroit playing the comedy roles, and New York won 10 to 5.

	Score:	R. H. E.
New York	200 331 001—10 11 1
Detroit	000 110 300—3 9 6

Batteries: Warhop and Gossett; Hall, House, Willett and McKee. Time, 1:46. Umpires, Ferguson and Connolly.

BOEHLING PITCHED.

CHICAGO, July 20.—Boehling was in fine form and had the Chicago team guessing today, Washington winning the opening game of the series here 5 to 1. White started to pitch for the locals, but Smith replaced him and pitched a line game, not allowing a hit.

	Score:	R. H. E.
Washington	110 300 000—5 9 1
Chicago	001 000 000—1 5 5

Batteries: Boehling and Henry; White, Smith and Kuhn, Easterly. Time, 2 hours. Umpires, Egan and Dineen.

PLANK PITCHES FINE BALL.

ST. LOUIS, July 20.—Plank pitched fine ball this afternoon, while his team-mates hit Leverniz when hits meant runs, Philadelphia winning from St. Louis 8 to 0. The locals had men within scoring distance in three innings, but Plank always tightened and prevented a tally.

	Score:	R. H. E.
Philadelphia	010 000 204—8 16 1
St. Louis	000 000 000—0 6 4

INDIVIDUALS IN LIMELIGHT MORE THAN THE CLUBS

Change of Management of Red Sox, and Various Matters of Interest.

WASHINGTON AND PITTSBURGH RISE

Athletics Slump But Lead Is Not Noticeably Reduced—Gossip.

NEW YORK, July 20.—Individuals more than clubs, figured as points of salient interest in the baseball history of last week. The change in the management of the world's champions, the Cobb suspension, the return of Ed Walsh to the game, the advent of the latest "highest priced" ball player in Larry Chappelle, the trouble over the Hal Chase deal and the fight about on the St. Louis bench at a game between the Giants and Cardinals in New York, such developments were sufficient to keep the enthusiasts from devoting all their attention to the progress of the league races.

Ups and Downs.

The games from day to day brought their usual developments in the way of ups and downs for various clubs. The "ups" coming chiefly in the way of the Pittsburghers in the National and the Washingtons in the American, while prominent in the "down" list were St. Louis in the National and Philadelphia, Cleveland and Boston in the American.

Perhaps the slump of the Mackmen was the most prominent outstanding feature in the American league race. The former world's champions dropped six out of ten games. That their lead was not reduced to any notable extent was due to the fact that Cleveland lost almost as many games as the first place occupants. While Plank and Bender each pitched one good game, the belief that weakness was developing in the leader's twirling staff, was borne out by the week's happenings.

Belief that the American league race is an open one, might be prevalent were there any clubs within possible striking distance which had shown form consistent enough to warrant expectations of a steady pull to ward the top. Likely chiefly for honors against the Mackmen, seem to be Washington and Chicago. The Senators played brilliant ball all week, dropping only one contest out of six. Walter Johnson is reported as having offered to pitch every other day after September 1 if his club appears to have a look in.

White Sox Improve.

The White Sox are showing improvement. Their inner defense is working smoothly, while the outfield can hardly help being strengthened by Chappelle who has shown enough in the few games he has played to make Chicago fans enthusiastic over him.

The deposition of Jake Stahl in mid-season after the club under his management had won a league pennant and a world's series title was the sensation of the baseball week. The change to Carrigan apparently has not affected the playing of the club. Detroit braced considerably during the week. St. Louis thrived off New York, but fared poorly with Griffith's men. The New York split even.

Looking over the National league situation, the efforts of Pittsburgh to climb is the notable feature. The Pirates won all but one of their six games during the week. Even at this point, however, they have gained little on the Giants, who won six out of eight games in six days. A slump by the Giants with continued steady winning by the Pirates appears to be the latter's sole hope.

Philadelphia has shown improvement, winning five out of seven games. Chicago surrendered third place to Pittsburgh during the week. The Brooklyn's broke their losing streak of ten games, Monday, but won only one game since. Boston is keeping up a fair pace. The best either St. Louis or Cincinnati is able to do is to pick up an occasional victory. The record in each league of games played, won and lost, with runs, hits, errors, and men left on bases follows:

STAFFORD BOUGHT; M'FARLIN RELEASED

FORMER MOUNTAINEER WILL JOIN TOURISTS TODAY.

"Staff" Made Good Record While Here Last Year, Pitching, Hitting and Fielding Well.

Thomas C. Stouch, vice president of the Asheville Baseball club, has purchased Tai Stafford from the Middlesboro club of the Appalachian league, and it is expected that "Staff" will join the team this afternoon for its trip to Greensboro. At his own request McFarlin has been released. The latter stated that he was unable to find his stride and he asked Stouch for a release several days ago, although he agreed to remain with the Mountaineers until another pitcher could be found.

The news that Stafford is to become a member of the local pitching staff will be learned with interest in this city. He formerly worked for Asheville and went to Middlesboro when that city took over Asheville's franchise in the Appalachian league. He had a good career as a member of the Mountaineers and his supporters here, hoped that some arrangement could be made last fall which would enable the local club to retain possession of him. However, Middlesboro was unwilling to allow Asheville to have Stafford and the Kentuckians have won some good games this season with "Staff" looking after their interests in the box.

The latest addition to the Mountaineers' pitching staff was regarded here last year as being an unusually strong pitcher, not only because of his ability to hurl, but because of his use of his head and the manner in which he hit and fielded his position. He slugged creditably for the Mountaineers and has continued to hit since he has been playing at Middlesboro. As a fielder he works well, having made a good record while a Mountaineer.

The release of McFarlin will not come as a surprise to Asheville fans. "Mac" has simply been unable to work consistently. When going well, he has been as strong as anything in the league, but when twirling poor ball he has been unusually weak. To Stouch he declared that he felt that he was not going to get into condition here for several weeks and he asked that he be allowed to leave. During his residence in Asheville he has made many friends among the fans and has worked hard to boost Asheville in the percentage column. Should he ever return to this city to pitch he will be given a cordial welcome.

Somewhat Confused.

A certain youth was about going out to his first formal dinner party. His mother said: "Now don't forget your manners, James; be sure to say something complimentary when the food is passed." He endeavored to do so. When butter was served he remarked pleasantly:

"This is pretty good butter, what there is of it."

The remark was not well received; he saw that he had made a mistake, and he endeavored to correct it by saying: "And there's plenty of it, such as it is."—New York Globe.
