

BRYAN DELIVERS LAST CHAUTAUQUA LECTURE OF YEAR

Will Continue His Lectures as Long as He Is Secretary of State

HAS NOT ALTERED PREVIOUS PLANS

Season Has Netted Him Little Over $6,500 Extra Money

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—Secretary Bryan concluded his chautauqua lectures for the season tonight with an address at Warrenton, Va.

Secretary Bryan today, commenting upon the termination of his engagement, announced that he would continue to lecture as long as he remained secretary of state, whenever he felt there was proper occasion and a desire to do so.

Mr. Bryan issued this statement: "This evening is the last of the chautauqua lectures of this season. The total income from chautauqua lectures this year is a little over $7,000, the net receipts after taking out the necessary expenses are somewhat over $6,500. The number of whole week days which have been used for the lectures is, according to my recollection, seven. The remainder of the lectures have been delivered at places near enough to this city to leave in the afternoon, sometimes as late as 3:08 o'clock. I would not assume that the public was interested in these details were it not for the fact that the representatives of a few newspapers have regarded it as a matter of great importance."

When Mr. Bryan was asked if he would lecture any more during his connection with the state department, he replied:

"I expect to lecture whenever I deem it desirable or necessary to do so, and have not in the least altered the plans which were made at the time I assumed the duties of the office. The criticism that has been directed against my lecturing is no more bitter than the criticism I have undergone at other times and for other things during my connection with politics."

"A part of this criticism is malicious, a part of it is partisan, and a part of it is based upon misinformation. That which is malicious will answer for itself, that which is partisan will be accepted as such, that which is based upon misinformation will cease when the critics are better informed."

"No man should enter public life if he objects to criticism and he can not stay in public life if he permits criticisms to turn him from doing what he thinks is right. He must decide his duty for himself and is answerable to the public for any mistakes he makes. I regard lecturing as an entirely legitimate field. I lectured before I was nominated for the presidency; I lectured between campaigns; I shall continue to lecture and I shall not believe that any person whose opinion is worth having will think the less of me because I do so. This closes the lecture subject for the present."

COMMENDS BRYAN'S STAND.

ATLANTA, Sept. 20.—That Secretary of State William J. Bryan's attitude toward both war and intemperance has proved him a man of high courage was the declaration here tonight of A. J. Orem, of Boston, Mass., in an address before the Southern Christian Citizenship congress. Mr. Orem's subject was "The Crimes of the Age." The congress also was addressed by Representative Richmond P. Hobson, on "The Christian Citizen and the Liquor Traffic."

The morning session of the congress was devoted to a discussion of "woman's work." The session was featured by a heated argument, as to the merits of universal suffrage. Mrs. O. B. Lindsay, of the Civic League of America, precipitated the lively debate by asserting that the "votes for women" movement was responsible for "drinking, swearing and gambling" among women. At the afternoon session Captain Jack Crawford, the veteran poet-scout, made a short talk to several thousand children. Tomorrow the congress will adjourn after holding a rally.

SENTENCED TO DIE.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Sept. 20.—Harry Rasco, who last Saturday shot and killed his wife and 2-year-old son here, was sentenced today to die in the electric chair at the state prison in Michigan City on January 16, next. He is the first person to be sentenced to electrocution in Indiana and the state will have to purchase the electric chair before the sentence can be carried out. The law substituting electrocution for hanging was passed by the last legislature and state officials refused to purchase the outfit until it became necessary to use it.

WILLIAM V. LYONS PLACED IN HOSPITAL

WEALTHY NEW YORKER IS ADJUDGED INSANE.

Has Invested Heavily in Asheville Real Estate, Purchasing Two Homes Here.

William V. Lyons, of New York city, who, within the past few days, has invested heavily in local real estate, having purchased two handsome homes in one of the city's principal residential parks, yesterday was placed in a local sanitarium, it is said, after having been adjudged insane by an Asheville physician, who examined him. Mr. Lyons is a member of a wealthy New York family and is said to have shown signs of insanity for some time past. During his residence in this city he is reported to have been a liberal spender and for the past few days has suffered a hallucination that he was expected to reform the town. To several Asheville men yesterday he is said to have declared that he intended to work a complete reformation here and his conversation with pedestrians on several of the city streets yesterday led to the belief that he was unbalanced. Upon the request of friends he was taken by members of the police department and later was sent to the sanitarium.

Mr. Lyons for a number of years was a traveling representative for a New York clothing house and had paid frequent visits to this city. He had intended to make Asheville his home until Friday night, when he decided to dispose of his holdings. He is the inventor of a collapsible coat hanger and his relatives in New York are said to be large property owners. Some of them accompanied him to this city, and it is reported that it was through their efforts that he was placed in a hospital here for treatment.

Prior to his confinement yesterday Mr. Lyons went to a local business house and discharged several of the employees, stating that he had purchased the plant and was not satisfied with the way the business was being conducted. He commissioned one of the employees of the place to act as mayor, stating that his first duty would be the discharge of the police force. He declared his intention to bring a half million people to Asheville and stated that his delay in getting them to come here was due to his dissatisfaction with the way the city was being conducted.

GOOD PROGRAMS AT GALAX AND PRINCESS

It is not believed, however, that Schmidt ever brought her here. Inspector Faurot's men refused today to give the name of the woman signed to the letters.

LOOK LIKE BROTHERS.

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—Johan Hoch, the "Chicago bluebeard," hanged here in 1905 for killing one of his twelve wives he was known to have married, really was Johan Schmidt, according to Isadora Plotke, the attorney who defended Hoch. Plotke said that Hoch or Schmidt came from Mainz, Germany, and that he bore a strong resemblance to the New York murderer, Hans Schmidt.

"My client told me he had had brothers and sisters in Germany," said Mr. Plotke. "I have examined photographs of Father Schmidt. If he wore a mustache I might almost take him for Hoch. The two men's jaws are much alike in their extreme breadth."

MURET GERMAN CRIMINAL.

HAMBURG, Germany, Sept. 20.—The police here today identified as Arthur Heibing the man now detained in New York as Dr. Ernest A. Muret, and under suspicion of being concerned with the confessed murderer, Father Johannes Schmidt, in his counterfeiting operations.

Heibing was born at Nakei, in the province of Posen, in 1837. He resided at Hamburg from 1904 to 1905, posing variously as a merchant and insurance agent and a physician.

He lived in about twenty different lodgings here. Heibing became a member of the Hamburg Young Men's Christian association under the name of Muret and was repeatedly in trouble in the courts.

He disappeared from Hamburg at the end of 1909 and warrants for winding frauds are still out against him, both in Hamburg and Berlin.

TRAVIS CONFERS WITH RAILROAD OFFICIALS

Spends Day in Washington Presumably on Freight Rate Business.

RALEIGH, Sept. 20.—Chairman E. L. Travis, of the corporation commission, spent today in Washington presumably conferring with railway officials and the interstate commerce commission regarding the pending proposal of the railroad companies for the settlement of the contest over interstate freight rates in North Carolina. He had several long distance telephone conversations with Governor Craig but nothing as to their nature or the general freight rate situation is given out. The governor has not yet indicated whether or not he will recommend to the legislature the adoption of the amended proposal as the corporation commission has done.

SCIONS OF ENGLAND BITE DUST BEFORE YOUTH

cause he had won without fluke or flaw in his play, responding in perfect form to a test of nerve, stamina and a knowledge of golf never before required of a player in a national tournament.

On the other hand, his veteran opponents, tried players of many a hard won match in various parts of the world, broke under the strain, leaving Outmet to finish as coolly as he had started.

"The very fact that Vardon and Ray could not hold up under the stress of the struggle shows the titan form and strain of the final round. Vardon has five times won the English open championship and in 1909 won the American open at Wheaton, Ill., defeating J. H. Taylor, England's greatest golfer and present champion. Before the tournament began Ray and Vardon were 2 to 1 favorites. Even after Outmet had tied them, wagers were laid at five to four that one of the Englishmen would defeat him and even money on Ray or Vardon against Outmet alone. Scenes of jubilation on the home green after the match had been won were, therefore, but natural expressions of pride and pleasure in Outmet in retaining a championship for America which had been destined to cross the Atlantic.

Holsted on Shoulders.

Outmet was hoisted to the shoulders of those nearest him while cheer after cheer rang out in his honor. Excited women tore bunches of flowers from their bonnets and hurled them at the youthful winner; hundreds of men strove to pat him on the back or shake his hand.

Among those who struggled to Outmet's side was a little, plainly dressed woman whose hair was streaked with gray. She was buffeted first one way and then another in the crush, but persisting, she finally stood almost directly under the champion as the throngs whirled and eddied about his supporters. With shining eyes, she looked up and called the one word, "Francis."

Outmet glanced down, and catching sight of the little woman below him tore his hands from those of his admirers and reaching down, grasped her uplifted hands. What she said was lost in the cheering, but those near heard young Outmet say: "Thank you mother, I'll be home soon."

The crowd, most of them unconscious of the incident, swept Outmet on while the mother hurried away across the field to her home, just across the street.

Ray and Vardon whose fight for the open championship brought out the possibilities of Outmet as a golfer, were not forgotten in the celebration of victory. Each Englishman was given three times three before the parade started for the dressing quarters, where the recent competitors changed to dry clothing for the presentation of the medals and other prizes. During this ceremony, in which Secretary John Reid, Jr., acted as master of ceremonies, both Ray and Vardon took the opportunity to praise Outmet as a sportsman and golfer. Ray said that Outmet had played the best golf during the four days struggle that he had ever seen in America and that it had been an honor to play with him and no dishonor to lose to him.

Vardon brought cheers when he frankly stated that he had never had a chance to win with Outmet during the play off, because the lad played better golf and never gave them an opening. He congratulated Outmet and America on the victory. Secretary Reid in awarding the championship medal to Outmet, the trophy to the Woodland club, of Auburndale, Mass., which Outmet represented, and cash prizes to Vardon and Ray, took occasion to apologize "in a slight way" as he put it, for the outbursts of cheering at inopportune times.

This was a delicate reference to a feature of today's play which is quite likely to be a subject of international comment by the golfing contingents of England and the United States. Several times today the gallery violated the ethics of the sport, by cheering wildly whenever Outmet gained a point. These outbreaks apparently annoyed both Ray and Vardon. Approaching the seventeenth hole, Ray deliberately halted a string and refused to play until the cheering ceased. The cards were as follows:

Outmet: Out ... 544 454 435—38
In ... 344 434 33—34—72
Vardon: Out ... 544 454 435—38
In ... 445 354 354—39—77
Ray: Out ... 545 454 435—38
In ... 445 456 452—40—78

"The war cannot end until the victory of the constitutionalists over Huerta is complete," declared Carranza. "There can be no legal election while the country is in a state of war. The constitutionalists will take no part in the elections next month nor recognize those who may be elected."

REFUSES REQUEST.

EL PASO, Tex., Sept. 20.—General Hugh L. Scott today refused a request from General Venustiano Carranza, constitutional leader, to pass through the United States on the way from Nogales, Sonora, to Ciudad Porfirio Diaz, to rejoin his command. The rebel leader was referred to the state department at Washington. Carranza has been in Sonora in conference with constitutionalist chiefs. Braulio Hernandez former senior of state of Chihuahua, secretary of the Maderista junta here, and representative in Washington in 1910, and now one of Maximino Castillo's chiefs, was arrested today by United States soldiers and held at Fort Bliss, on the charge of violating the neutrality laws.

APPEAL TO WILSON.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 20.—An appeal to President Wilson to investigate the circumstances under which American settlers in the Yaqui valley in Sonora left their homes and came to the United States was telegraphed from Los Angeles today by Charles O'Brien.

In the message, Mr. O'Brien said he was appealing directly to the president because he had received no response except through news dispatches, to a request he had made to the state department that the settlers be returned to their Sonora homes at the expense of the United States or that their property in Mexico be protected by this nation.

BODY IDENTIFIED.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—The body of a man that lay for several months in a clump of bushes near the New Haven railroad tracks in Hastings-on-Hudson until its discovery a few days ago, was identified today, but the police still had no clue to the manner in which he died. Israel Robinson, of New York, said the body was that of his old friend, Max Gerdlake, a vaudeville crooner.

MAYOR GAYNOR'S BODY LIES IN STATE

mayor was carried from the house by firemen and policemen, and placed in the hearse. Departmental heads and members of the board of estimate, acting as escort, stood with bared heads. The funeral cortege then made its slow way to New York, across Brooklyn bridge.

Fifty thousand persons stood uncovered in the drizzling rain as the solemn procession, headed by mounted police, marched to the city hall. Eight automobiles following the hearse carried members of the board of estimate, Mayor Adolph Kline, Robert Adamson, the late mayor's secretary, R. A. C. Smith, commissioner of docks and ferries, and Police Commissioner Waldo. No member of the mayor's family accompanied the body. All during the day vehicles drove up to the Gaynor home with floral offerings. It was necessary to employ two automobiles to carry the flowers when the procession started. Conspicuous among the tributes was a wreath of white roses, four feet in diameter, sent by Colonel Theodore Roosevelt.

Children from the East Side offered homage in their own way tonight to the memory of the man they had recognized as always their friend, when nearly 600 pupils from schools in the district, their ages ranging from 8 to 15 years, marched through the misty rain from Hamilton Park and were allowed to pass through the city hall where the mayor's coffin rested.

Their clothes were dripping wet, for they had walked all the way without protection, marching to the strains of "Nearer, My God, to Thee," played by a Boy Scout file and drum corps. It took just eight minutes for them to pass through the hall. One of them laid on the coffin a small bouquet of asters and through the night it divided honors with the offering of the Gaynor family that lay there.
