MIDNIGHT HOURS BRING NO ALARM OF DREAD GROUP

This Sturdy Youngster Keeps a "Bodyguard" on Hand.

POSTS GUARD AT BEDTIME. And Mother Sleeps Without Fear of Hearing that Awful Brassy Choking Cough.

This fine boy is Master Charles Kern, the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Hurley, 1026 Madison St., LaPorte, Ind. Charles has a little "Bodyguard" who lives in a little blue jar, and protects him against croup, colds, sore throat, bronchitis—in fact all kinds of cold troubles.

The name of this "Bodyguard" is Vick's VapoRub Salve, and the best thing about him is that he doesn't have to be swallowed. To "post the guard," Charles' mother just applies VapoRub externally and covers with a warm flannel cloth. Quick relief comes by absorption through the skin and by inhalation as a vapor.

"We always try to keep VapoRub in the house," writes Mrs. Hurley, "as the children are very susceptible to croup. By rubbing it on their throats and chests they are soon relieved. My husband and I used VapoRub when we had pleurisy and our pains went almost immediately."

they met in the little country village where they lived. The doctor, however, has a battle with his thoughts, but the gentleman asserts itself and right wins.

"THE MESSIAH." The first newspaper review ever published, of the great performance of the Messiah, was that of a London journal of April 17, 1741. Perhaps the Asheville newspapers, when they come to review the great music again, after the performance to be given on Wednesday, the 15th, at the Auditorium, may be as pleased; but it can hardly be expected that they will be as quaintly dignified. This journal expressed itself as follows:

"On Tuesday, in the presence of his majesty, the 'new and very pleasant music' of Mr. Handel, called the 'Messiah,' was performed in the Music Hall. Words are wanting to express the exquisite delight afforded to the admiring crowded audience. The sublime, the tender, the exquisite, the grand, conspired to transport and charm, the Ravished Heart and Ear."

DARKEN GRAY HAIR, LOOK YOUNG, PRETTY. Sage Tea and Sulphur Darkens So Naturally That Nobody Can Tell.

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe.
