Much faith is placed in official and other quarters on the presumption that the United States would be unpable to put a large army in the field in a short time and that the war in Europe will be over before the military strength of the United States could be developed. Much comfort is found by the people generally in the reports concerning the activity of the submarines, the results of which everybody hopes will be such that the entente will be compelled to entertain peace negotiations before the United States would be in a position to land large forces in France.
