"THRICE IS HE ARMED THAT HATH HIS QUARREL JUST"

By Irvin S. Cobb of the Vigilantes. (By Courtesy of the Saturday Evening Post.)

Largely by chance and by accident, I happened to be one of four or five American newspaper men who witnessed at first hand the German invasion of Belgium, and one of three who, a little later, witnessed some of the results of the Germanic subjugation of the northern part of France. Likewise I was inside Germany at the time the rush upon Paris was checked and the retreat from the Marne took place, thereby having opportunity to take cognizance of the feelings and sentiments and the impulses which controlled the German populace in a period of victory and in a period of reversal.

"Thrice is he armed that hath his quarrel just," and our quarrel is just. All the same, to make war successfully we must make it with a whole heart. We must hold it to be a holy war; we must preach a (had, reminding always, now that the Chinese empire is a republic, now that Russia by revolution has thrown off the chains of autocracy, that we shall be fighting not only to punish the enemy for wrongs inflicted and insults over-patently endured; not only to make the sea free to honest commerce; not only for the protection of our flag and our ships and the lives of our people at home and abroad—but along with England, France—yes, and Russia—shall be fighting for the preservation of the principles of constitutional and representative government against those heads of the few remaining great powers who hold by the divine rights of kings, and who believe that man was not created a self-governing creature but a vassal.

Morely because we are willing to give our wealth and our granaries and our steel mills, we cannot expect to have an honorable share in this war, and to share as an equal in its final settlement. We must risk something more precious than money; something more than munitions; we must risk our manhood. We cannot expect England's navy to stand between us and arm for our coasts, and France's worn legions to bear the brunt of the trench-work.

Knowing nothing of military expediency, I yet believe that, for the moral effect upon the world and for our own position, when the time for trusting peace comes, it would be better for us, rather than the securing of our own soil against attack or invasion, that an American flag should wave over American troops in Flanders; that a Texas cowpuncher should lead a forlorn hope in France; that a Connecticut clock-maker should invent a device which will blunt the fangs of that stingy adder of the sea, the U-boat, and—who knows?—perhaps scotch the poison snake altogether. Maybe it is true that, in our mistaken forbearance, we have failed and come short. Maybe we have endured too long and too patiently; we can strive for all that. But—Without the shedding of blood there is no remission of sins.

TO EXAMINE PRISONERS.

ALBANY, N. Y., April 24.—In order to forestall eleventh hour attempts to save the lives of condemned prisoners, Governor Whitman today announced that he would inaugurate a new policy which would require the examination by state authorities of all prisoners sentenced to death to determine whether they were sane. The action of the governor was prompted by the recent ineffectual efforts to prevent the execution of Petrus Von Den Corput. A committee of physicians to examine into the sanity of Antonio Impoluzzo, Frank Ferrar and Arthur W. Waite, now in Sing Sing under sentence of death, was appointed.

RUSSIAN MINISTER IN GREETING TO FRANCIS

Public Demonstration of New Russia's Friendship For the United States.

PETROGRAD, Monday, April 23.—(Via London, April 25.)—(Delayed)—Professor Paul N. Milukoff, minister of foreign affairs, and David R. Francis, the American ambassador, clasped hands on the platform of Alexander Hall, in the city duma tonight, while an immense crowd cheered and applauded. It was the first public demonstration of the new friendship of Russia growing out of America's entry into the war.

The meeting was arranged by the society for promoting friendly relations between Russia and the United States. Mr. Francis had just concluded his address, in which he declared that Russia was not thinking of a separate peace; that militarism in Prussia was doomed and the liberty-loving people of Germany would soon be freed as the Russians had been freed and that government by consent would be established throughout the earth. The audience across shouting its approval of the sentiments expressed by the ambassador while Professor Milukoff reached in front of Baron Rosen, the presiding officer, and clasped the ambassador's hand. Then in an address, Professor Milukoff confirmed the words of Mr. Francis that Russia was not dreaming of peace.

RICHMOND, Va., April 24.—On the complaint of Judge W. F. Rhea, of the state corporation commission, reinforced by Senator Claude A. Secretary Daniels said that the boats had not been requisitioned but had been voluntarily offered to the government.

COMB SAGE TEA IN HAIR TO DARKEN IT

It's Grandmother's Recipe to keep her Locks Dark, Glossy, Beautiful.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" for about 50 cents a bottle. It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive. This ready-to-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire a more youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease. Adv.
