

LAW ENFORCEMENT, WORLD PROHIBITION

By ANDREW JOYNER.

A Review of the Rapidly Developing Enveloping Movements in North Carolina.

GREENSBORO, N. C., Dec. 6.—Active organization of all forces in sympathy with the movement to bring about law enforcement of prohibition in all the United States and prohibition in all the world is now in progress. It is a part of the national organization known as the World League Against Alcoholism. Central state headquarters being located at Greensboro.

The purpose of the nationwide campaign is to celebrate the first anniversary of legalized prohibition in the United States, and the date of operation of the 18th amendment, January 16, 1920, by contributing a fund of $25,000,000 for the prosecution of prohibition principles of all other nations and especially for enforcement of the law in this nation. The quota assigned North Carolina is $700,000 and organization work is being directed so that the moral forces of the state may be universally informed of the necessity for this fund and moved by concert of action at a specified time to contribute it without feeling any burden at all.

North Carolina headquarters for this law enforcement and world prohibition movement is now domiciled in accessible quarters in the heart of the business district on South Elm street, the securing of offices space here having been possible only through sympathetic interest of the public spirit of Greensboro.

The state movement is in charge of Hon. C. H. Mebane as director; Harvey Holleman, organizer, and W. B. Cooper, treasurer. Mr. Mebane is the former superintendent of public instruction of North Carolina, for many subsequent years actively engaged in state educational organization, and is the owner and editor of the Catawba News and the Greensboro Patriot.

The detailed organization plan is being directed by an experienced and successful man in such work, Dr. J. H. Holleman, who directed the successful nation-wide Salvation army campaign last year. He is a North Carolina boy, who left his Wake county home for the Pacific coast in early youth, soon made his way to Europe as representative of the California exposition. When the great war started he plunged up to his neck in government war work in Europe and America, and has now returned to his native home to help arouse his folks "down home" as to the necessity of extending a new helping hand to other nations, soberizing them after their bloody ordeal of war and attendant horrible sufferings.

The treasurer, W. B. Cooper, of Wilmington, is the well-known publicist and speaker, his heart and head devoted to public service.

State Advisory Board. These active organizers, while subject to direction of the national organization, are also responsive to suggestions from a state advisory board. This board embraces representative men from every section of the state, including the following: United States senators, Simmons and Overman; State Superintendent of Public Instruction E. G. Brooks and former Superintendent J. Y. Joyner; J. Elwood Cox, manufacturer and banker; Dr. W. J. Martin, president Davidson college; Rev. A. D. Wilcox, pastor Trinity college church; W. C. Dowd, editor Charlotte News; H. B. Varner, editor Lexington Dispatch; Clarence Post, editor Progressive Farmer; Archibald Johnson, editor Charity and Children; C. B. McNairy, superintendent Caswell Training school; Dr. J. I. Foust, president North Carolina College for Women; Dr. J. B. Craven, president Davenport college; Dr. E. P. Holwood, president Oxford college; Dr. A. D. Wolfinger, president Catawba college; Rev. J. A. Campbell, president Bales Creek academy; R. O. Everrett, attorney; C. H. Ireland, president Odell Hardware company; Dr. E. B. Torrentine, president Greensboro College for Women; Walter N. Johnson, corresponding secretary Baptist State convention; Dr. W. C. Riddick, president North Carolina College of Agriculture and Engineering; Thomas H. Battle, bank president; A. D. Ward, attorney; Dr. W. H. Harp, president Elon college; U. S. Circuit Judge J. C. Pritchard; Ex-Governors R. B. Glenn and W. W. Kitchin; Dr. H. W. Chase, president North Carolina university; Dr. B. W. Spilman, president North Carolina State Baptist convention; W. T. Shaw, manufacturer; L. S. Massey, editor Christian Advocate; Dr. W. P. Horton, E. J. Cheatham; Harriet Clarkson, J. W. Nealey; M. Bolton, J. R. Hamby; W. A. McGirt and M. L.

Shipman, North Carolina labor commissioner.

Woman's Auxiliary Board. In addition to this state advisory board will be a special auxiliary board with an able woman, Mrs. A. Fairbrother directing from central headquarters. The board will be completed in now ready to function, the following having signified their readiness to serve: Mrs. Marshall Williams, ex-president state U. D. C.; Mrs. Clarence A. Johnson, ex-president Woman's Federation of Clubs; Mrs. A. Fairbrother, editor of club leader and editor; Mrs. J. P. Caldwell, associate editor Charlotte Observer; Mrs. E. McK. Goodwin; Miss Beatrice Cobb, editor Morganton News-Herald; Miss Harriet W. Elliott, department of history North Carolina State College for Women; Mrs. C. F. Harvey; Mrs. Governor T. W. Bickett. The state has been divided into fourteen districts, with a director for each district, and a leader in each county.

Responses to requests for assistance in the campaign came from friends all over the state, expressing willingness to help do the work as well as to help lead in it.

Conference Held. These preliminaries arranged, a conference has been held at headquarters of leaders and friends of the movement, experienced in organizing along religious, political and war work lines. These came from all sections of North Carolina and from many parts of Virginia, each one reporting earnest interest in the cause from all moral forces of their communities. At this conference plans were perfected for holding a central all day and all night meeting for executive conferences, public addresses from men of state, national and international achievement and reputation, setting forth the objectives of the campaign, and stressing the urgent call from other nations for America's assistance in banishing their liquor evils. The "key note of the whole thing," declared a delegate who has recently returned from an industrial business trip in South America, "should be we just must remove the deadly temptation of the ever present rum bottle in all Latin-America before gospel or correct business influences can have a fair show." Others present emphasized the law enforcement feature, asserting that states like North Carolina would find a greater need for alert local effort against the "moonshiner" and "bootlegger" brigades under federal than state prohibition, and his slogan was, "Law Enforcement." Cut out the moonshiner and you destroy the bootlegger. But all agreed to join heartily in the campaign for home prohibition law enforcement and world wide prohibition.

Bishop Cannon speaks. Prominent at this conference was Bishop James Cannon, of Texas and Virginia. He is a high official in the National Prohibition league, having as its legislative chairman succeeded in securing from congress submission to the people of the prohibition amendment to the federal constitution, the 18th amendment, and its adoption by the necessary number of states. He is also chairman of the board of temperance and education of the M. E. church, south, and has international fame for his forceful efforts in behalf of temperance and education in foreign fields of the church's work. Bishop Cannon in the course of his views of the great necessity for America's contribution to this fund, stated that he had but recently returned from a trip to Mexico, where good work for prohibition has already been done, but he insisted that from what he saw and heard in Mexico, and from what he saw and heard earlier in the year at the peace conference at Versailles from representatives there from all countries, these nations were urging the enlistment of America's aid in combating the strongly entrenched brewery and liquor influences in their borders. State Director Mebane has been further encouraged by receipt of an official report of the board of temperance and social service at the North Carolina M. E. conference, held at Wilson last week, adopted by the conference and in which the World League Against Alcoholism was unanimously endorsed. "To us it seems necessary," the resolution says, "that the liquor traffic, which antagonizes all the work of the church, will have to be destroyed in the missionary fields before the church can work to the best advantage through hospitals, schools and churches. We are glad of the part our church has been able to take in this splendid work, and we urge our people to give their united support in every possible way to the league in all its efforts to enforce the law and help establish prohibition in the other nations of the earth." Another significant and powerful endorsement came Friday from the North Carolina annual convention of the teachers association, when in session at Raleigh it unanimously resolved, "that we most heartily endorse the world prohibition movement and wish to assure State Director Mebane that he has our earnest support and co-operation." North Carolina was never readier to extend prohibition and enforce the law than she is right now, is the common conclusion of those who have been hearing from the plain people from her remotest corners.

Famo Stops Seborrhea The Dandruff Disease

No other hair remedy even remotely resembles FAMO.

FAMO kills the dandruff germ and stops the unhealthy flow from the sebaceous glands.

Every ingredient in FAMO is well known to physicians.

But none of these ingredients were ever before applied to saving the hair. Science perfected FAMO in one of the oldest pharmaceutical houses in Detroit—famous for its laboratories which supply physicians all over the world with medical goods.

FAMO not only kills the seborrhea microbe but it makes the scalp and hair as clean as that of a baby.

It ends all itching of the scalp. Even where baldness has already appeared (unless the hair roots are absolutely dead) FAMO will encourage and stimulate the growth of new hair. Many women say FAMO has caused their hair to grow from four to six inches.

FAMO retards grayness and strengthens the natural color. It contains no alcohol to dry the scalp and produce gray hairs.

It makes the hair luxuriant and lustrous and if there is a tendency to waviness FAMO intensifies it. FAMO should be used by every member of the family.

It can safely be used on the head of the baby as there is nothing in FAMO that will harm the tenderest scalp. Used on the head of growing children it will make the most unruly hair soft and easy to comb.

Young women find FAMO a peculiarly fine hair dressing. It makes the hair fluffy and full of life.

If you have dandruff you have seborrhea. Seborrhea is as dangerous to the hair as pyorrhea is to the teeth.

So if you have dandruff not a day should be lost in applying FAMO.

Not until FAMO has cleared your scalp of the deadly dandruff bacilli is your hair safe.

Even if you have no dandruff now you should use FAMO so that dandruff will be kept away and to make the hair fluffy and beautiful.

FAMO comes in two sizes—35 cents, and an extra large bottle at $1. It is sold at all toilet goods counters.

Applications at all the better barber shops. Your money will be refunded if you are not satisfied.

Seborrhea is the medical name for a morbidly increased flow from the sebaceous glands of the scalp. The seborrhean excretion forms in scales or flakes and is commonly known as dandruff.
