

SOCIAL & PERSONAL

Society throughout both the east and the south will be greatly interested in the marriage of Miss Virginia Ritchie Harrison and Mr. Frederick McCormack, which will be a noted social event of Wednesday. The ceremony will be performed at noon in one of the drawing rooms at Grove Park Inn, by Rev. Robert Pell, president of Converse college, in the presence of a smart gathering of thirty or more guests. Miss Harrison will wear a wedding gown and conventional tulle veil and will be given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. H. Mercer Walker, of New York. She will have as her matron of honor, her sister, Mrs. Louis Fagen, of Memphis, Tenn., and as her maid of honor, Miss Mary Minor, of this city. Mr. McCormack will have as his best man, Mr. Robert H. McAdoo, son of Mr. William G. McAdoo, of Washington, D. C.

Acting as ushers will be: Mr. Samuel Welsh, of Philadelphia; Mr. Henry Grason, 3rd, of New York; Mr. F. B. Christmas, of Princeton, N. J.; Richard Farley, of Irvington-on-Hudson; Mr. Oliver Taylor, of Morristown, N. J.; and Mr. Warrenton Gillette, of Baltimore, Md. The wedding music will be furnished on the organ by Mr. Maurice Longhurst. Immediately afterwards there will be an elaborate wedding breakfast held in the private dining room at the inn to which the wedding guests will be invited.

Miss Harrison is the daughter of Mrs. George E. Harrison, of Brandon-on-the-James, Va., an old prominent and distinguished southern family. She is a young woman of unusual culture and charm and is a lovely petite brunette type. With her mother she has been residing in Asheville since June, where she has made a number of friends. Mr. McCormack is the son of Mrs. I. B. Emerson, of Baltimore, and is prominently connected and well known throughout the south.

Among the out-of-town guests who will be present for the affair, arriving the first of the week, in a private car from the east are:

Captain and Mrs. I. E. Emerson, parents of the groom, from Baltimore, Md.; Mr. and Mrs. Francis E. McAdoo, of New York; Mrs. Farley, of Irvington-on-Hudson; Miss Ethel McCormack and Miss Isabel McCormack, of New York city; Mr. and Mrs. Hines, of Baltimore; Mr. Samuel Welsh, of Philadelphia; Mr. Henry Graves, 3rd, of New York; Mr. F. B. Christmas, of Princeton; Mr. Richard Farley, of Irvington-on-

The Hudson; Mr. Oliver Taylor, of Morristown, N. J.; and Mr. Warrenton Gillette, of Baltimore. Other guests for the wedding will be Captain and Mrs. Louis Fagen and Miss Evelyn Byrd Harrison Fagen, of Memphis, Tenn.; Mr. Noble, of Spartanburg, S. C.; Mr. H. Mercer Walker, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Graves, Jr., of New York; Mr. Robert H. McAdoo, of Washington; Rev. Robert Pell, of Spartanburg; and Mr. William Gordon Harrison, of Savannah, Ga.

Many friends in Asheville will be interested in learning that Miss Beale Johnson, formerly of Louisville, Ky., and Mr. Charles E. Henderson, Patton avenue jeweler, were quietly married last night at 9 o'clock at the residence of Rev. J. S. Williams, No. 55 Annandale avenue. Only members of the immediate families were present for the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. Mr. Williams.

The Asheville Cotillion club will give a special dance Thursday evening from 9 o'clock until 1 o'clock in the ball room at the Battery Park hotel, at which the famous Wright's saxophone orchestra from Columbus, Ohio, will be featured.

Mrs. Michael Iatz entertained Friday afternoon, at her apartment in the Carolina apartment house, with a small auction bridge party.

Mr. Eugene Ward was host during the week at a small stag supper party, having several of his friends as his guests.

Mrs. O. V. Parker delightfully entertained at a beautifully appointed luncheon Thursday at 2 o'clock at her home on Spears avenue, in compliment to the members of the Time and Tide club. Covers were laid for twenty, the entire membership of the club. The pretty bungalow was decorated with pink carnations, the club flower. The dainty little hand-painted place cards were in pink carnation design with the name engraved. Every detail of the luncheon, served in seven courses, was beautifully carried out. Immediately afterwards the following club program was given: Roll call was answered by "household helpers." "Living Well on a Small Income," was the subject of Mrs. J. P. Coston's paper, in which the writer gave many helpful points to be used in this age of thrift. Mrs. J. W. Neely in her paper on "Evolution in Housekeeping," told of many ways in which a housewife can meet the problems of today and compete with the present high cost of living. Mrs. R. C. Hawkins, a chairman of the thrift stamp campaign, gave a short talk on thrift. This meeting proved to be one of the most interesting of the present club and much good was derived from the subject of "Home Economics."

The following interesting program, the subject of which was "English Music," was rendered at the meeting of the Saturday Music club held yesterday at the auditorium of the Asheville high school: Currents events, Mrs. Lawrence, Paper "English Composers," Mrs. Smith.

Intercessory prayer by German, chorus. King's Hunting Jegg by Dr. John Bull, Mrs. Lipinsky. Have You Seen But a White Lily Grow? anonymous, Mrs. Reuben Robertson.

Molly on the Shore, by Percy Grainger, Mrs. Elias. An Exclamation, Life and Death, Coleridge-Taylor, Mrs. Cunningham. A Nocturnal, Danse Negre, Cyril Scott, Mrs. Swain.

Queen Mary's Farewell to France, He Stole My Tender Heart Away, from melodies of revolutionary times, harmonized by Samuel Endicott, Miss Atkinson. Chorus by an English composer.

A number of couples of the younger dancing set of the city were present for the dance given last evening at Grove Park Inn from 9:30 o'clock until 11 o'clock.

The American War Mothers of Asheville will meet on Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the Sunday school room of the Central Methodist church. All members are urgently requested to be present.

The following announcement has been received in the city: Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Jackson Jayne announce the marriage of their daughter, Meada, to Dr. Hugh Herick Trember on Wednesday November the twenty-sixth, nineteen hundred and nineteen, Asheville, North Carolina.

Mrs. Charles Malone entertained informally Friday evening with a small dancing party at her home on Hillside street.

Under the direction of Mr. Willis G. Cunningham, the first of a series of concerts will be given Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the auditorium of the high school building. The affair will be a piano recital by Miss Mabel Coder, director of music at the Normal and Collegiate institute, assisted by Mrs. James G. Stikeleather, soprano. The tickets for entertainment will be free but admission will be by complimentary

The Woman's Foreign Missionary society of the Chestnut street Methodist church held their regular meeting Friday afternoon at the parsonage with Mrs. W. P. Cann, wife of the new pastor, as hostesses. Dr. and Mrs. Cann have recently come to Asheville from Canada. After the business of the meeting a delightful social hour was enjoyed during which Mrs. Cann assisted by Mrs. J. H. Weaver and Miss Amy Hackney, served the guests with delicious tea, waffles and sandwiches. The members present included: Mrs. Cann, Mrs. J. P. Bates, Mrs. James Gray, Mrs. Matthew, Mrs. Holden, of Florida; Mrs. W. H. Wilson, Mrs. Howard, Wright, Mrs. David McFadden, Mrs. Jessie Smith, Mrs. C. W. Malone, Mrs. Josephine Hineman, Mrs. J. H. Weaver, Mrs. J. O. Chandler, Mrs. A. J. Owenby, Mrs. O'Shaughnessy, Mrs. V. L. Owenby, Mrs. W. C. Burt, Miss Nannie Alexander, Miss Amy Hackney and Miss Josie Griffin.

The Knoxville Sentinel gives the following which will be of interest here:

"Among the Christmas entertainments will be several beautifully arranged dances given in honor of Miss Marion McLendon, who is attending school at St. Genevieve's academy Asheville, N. C., but who will be numbered among the school girls home for the holidays.

"Miss McLendon is to have two lovely girls as her guests for the holidays, and among those entertaining will be her parents, Mr. and Mrs. McLendon, who will give a dance at their lovely home in Circle park on the evening of the twentieth. "Miss Harrie Babcock is also planning to give a dance at the Cherokee Country club on the evening of December 23, for Miss McLendon and her guests."

There will be a special meeting of St. John's auxiliary of Trinity church Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the auxiliary room of the church house. All members are urged to be present as election of officers for 1920 will take place.

people are conscious of the importance of keeping themselves mentally fit. Worry and anxiety always unfit any individual. When you order from a drug store and wait and wait and worry and worry—you get fretful and nervous. Goode knew that and the result was his "minute-service" drug store system. It helps to keep the customer "fit."
