

APPLE GROWERS TO MEET HERE FRIDAY

SCHOOLEY OUTLINES SUBJECTS FOR DISCUSSION.

Secretary Says Western North Carolina Can Produce Apples Unmatched in Color and Texture.

In connection with the meeting of apple growers of Western North Carolina to be held in the board of trade assembly room at 4:30 Friday, January 9, Paul T. Schooley gave a suggested outline of the subjects which will feature the meeting as follows: Pruning, spraying, new grade rules, market news service, plans for standardization, freight rates, cold storage legislation, new plans for demonstration in horticultural work in apples and grapes.

Mr. Schooley says now is the proper time for winter spraying for scale to destroy fungus growth and lichens, and to kill all spores of plant diseases, to give the bark a good tonic, and to curl off the old dead bark so codling moth worms won't have a chance to hibernates, exposing them to the birds which eat them readily, and to the spray that kills them. The winter solution is much stronger than the solution used when the tree is in blossom and he suggests the following for use during the dormant season: One gallon concentrated lime sulphur to eight gallons of water, for the commercial preparation known as "scabicide" which is miscible oil and is very good as a dormant spray in that it prevents fire blight or twig blight and is especially good for healing up old cankers.

The following letter has just come out from the board of trade to a number of apple and grape growers, and the invitation is extended to others who may not receive the letter "Western North Carolina can produce the best apples in the world—unmatched in color, texture, taste and all-round quality. This statement is born out by facts. The apple industry is at a point now where it can be made one of the greatest industries of these Western North Carolina mountains.

"There are now only a few commercial orchards in this section; too few however, to bring apple buyers into this section, and yet enough to enable this section to send out a great many carloads of very fine apples.

"When the apple production in western North Carolina is such that several carloads or train-loads of any one, two or three kinds of apples can be offered, apple buyers from the leading apple markets of America will come here to purchase. "A big apple show in Asheville for next fall and the formation of a North Carolina Apple Grower's association or society, will be discussed at this meeting on January 9, together with other subjects of interest to the apple grower and the would-be apple grower. Representatives from the Staff agricultural department will be present.

MAGISTRATE'S TRIAL LASTS ELEVEN HOURS

Controversy Over Alleged Breach of Contracts Between Landlord and Tenant Ends in a Blank Draw.

Eleven hours in a magistrate's trial may not be a record breaker but it closely approaches that in longevity any trial ever held in this city by a magistrate. Little did Magistrate B. L. Lyda, and those who instituted the proceedings think that they would experience 11 hours of constant grinding in one case, and it then result in absolutely nil, but such was the status when the sun went down yesterday. To further aggravate and complicate the litigation the crowd kept growing until Magistrate Lyda had to adjourn court in his office and betake himself to the sanctum known as Judge Wells' at the city hall, to accommodate the witnesses, jury and spectators.

It was all caused by Charles H. Alexander, one of the most prominent farmers of the Swannanoa section and W. T. Jones, assisted by his four sons and a son-in-law, who were suing each other for damages, the suits having grown out of a controversy whether Mr. Alexander had fulfilled his contract with the Jones family, which the latter denied, and whether the family as tenants had produced as much on the land as they should and whether they had carried out their contract with Mr. Alexander.

Mr. Alexander instituted a damage suit against each of the Jones tenants, for approximately $200, alleging breach of contract, and his tenants started a counter suit for the same amount against Mr. Alexander, alleging he had broken his contract. Jones and Williams, representing Mr. Alexander, and Mark Brown and J. Scoop Styles, representing the Messrs. Jones, argued pro and con until the spectators were familiar with the affairs of all parties concerned. It was brought out in the course of the trial that Mr. Alexander had engaged the services of the Messrs. Jones as tenants and had agreed to furnish tool, supplies et cetera, for the tenants, who in turn had agreed to properly conduct the management of certain tracts, by growing specified crops, keeping things in repair and other obligations generally attached to the duties of a tenant.

Each party registered direct conflicting testimony and when the magistrate's jury of six got the case about 6:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, they returned a verdict that no one was entitled to recovery. Whether or not the cases will be appealed was not announced.

In California the woman are forming leagues, the members of which will wear mourning bands on their sleeves on the date of execution of each murderer in the state, in protest against capital punishment.

STRINGFIELD GOES WITH ECONOMY HOME

Assumes Duties as Corresponding Secretary of the Institution—Present Buildings Are Inadequate.

Rev. O. L. Stringfield, of Mars Hill has started his duties as corresponding secretary for the Economy Home, an institution for the motherless child, at Kings Creek, S. C., having been elected to that position at the last meeting of the board of trustees.

The Economy Home is the first home in the Carolinas with skilled nurses that take infants and small children, whose mothers are dead and prepares them for college. The home is now one year old, and while it is now caring for 25 children and is completing a building to accommodate 20 more, there are 352 applications on the waiting list.

Over 221 acres of land, two good tenant houses, three cottages, besides the dining room and kitchen, and the superintendents home, now constitute the Economy Home property. WILL COST $75,000 TO OPEN WALNUT ST.

JURY TO BE PLACED ON THE PROPOSITION.

Property Owners Willing If Damages Are Paid—Better Car Service For West Asheville.

City officials estimate that it will cost $75,000 to open up, pay damages and pave Walnut street for the distance of two blocks, as now proposed. The matter will be further taken up by the work of a jury, Mayor Gallatin Roberts yesterday issuing a writ for a jury to investigate the matter. It will probably take 30 days before the jury can be summoned and do their work and report back to the city board.

At the hearing before the commissioners yesterday Morris Meyers, representing interested property owners declared that he approved the plan, as did Dr. W. P. Whittington.

provided he is paid reasonable damages for his property, consisting of a ten-room house, with all modern improvements and a garage large enough for three cars to be stored. This same attitude was taken by a Mr. Fisher, who owns property which will be affected by the extension of Walnut from Spruce to Oak street. A petition filed by residents of West Asheville, in which they ask for better street car service in that car will run earlier in the morning and later at night. This matter was argued by several citizens of West Asheville, who state that the present schedules are hard to meet by one working and living in West Asheville. The board took the matter under advisement.

Skin troubles need immediate and proper attention

Don't wait thinking they will disappear in time. Perhaps they will, but in the meantime you are suffering from the burning and itching, and allowing your nerves to become badly affected, when a little Resinol Ointment would doubtless relieve it all. Unless the skin affection is caused by some internal disorder, Resinol Ointment usually clears it away because it contains harmless, and soothing antiseptics for such conditions. It can be used easily for it is so nearly flesh-colored it does not attract attention. At all druggists.
