ADVANCE IS MADE ON COTTON MARKET

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 17.—The cotton market reacted strongly today from the decline of yesterday and went to moderate. advances on the strength of covering of short contracts and considerable new buying for long account, the demand being stimulated by the calmer tone of dispatches resarding European politics, for the most part, although, reports of large transactions on the spot had their effect. For a short time on the first call the market was depressed and the trading ments lost it to 10 points but almost immediately there was an upward movement and the improvement amounted late in the session to 23 to 42 points. The close was at net gains of 23 to 33 points.

Early reports were that from 3.000 to 5.000 bales of spots had been sold after hours yesterday, with Japanese interests the chief buyers, and although these sales they had their effect on values nevertheless. The usual reports of active and higher cotton goods markets helped to give the market a steady tone. At times the supply of contracts was very scanty.

Cotton closed steady at an advance of 25 to 33 points. NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 17 .- The cotton
