DELEGATES NAMED TO

TWO GOVERNORS SELECT MEN TO COME HERE.

Southern Appalachian Good Roads Association to Meet Here Feb. 26-28 -Important Matters up.

John J. Cornwell, governor of West Virginia, advised the Asheville Board of Trade in a letter received last night of the following names of delegates--at-large to represent West Virginia at the meeting of the Southern Appa-lachian Good Roads association to be held in Asheville, February 26, 27 held in Asheville, February 26, 27 and 28;

C. C. Lewis, Charleston, W. Va.; W. J. McLaren, Welch; Gray Silver, Martinsburg; Frank G. Burdette, Chareston; J. R. Wilson, Clarksburg; W. S. Downs, Morgantown; H. F. Snyder, Parkersburg; Edward St. C. Smith, Keyster; H. J. Spelman, Huntington; George H. Hill, Charleston; C. E. Grafton, New Cumberland; Cleo Swecker, Philippi; W. O. McClusky, Jr., Wheeling; H. A. Lovering, Wayne; J. N. Oliver, Huntington; A. D. Williams, Parkersburg; T. S. Scanlon, Huntington; A. S. Damdrige, Shepherdstown; Richard Lyon, Shepherdstown; Forest Brown, Charlestown.

Yesterday morning Governor Hugh Dorsey, of Atlanta, sent the following names as delegates at large from the state of Georgia:

state of Georgia:

D. Charls Strahan, Athens, Ga.;
Stanley Bennett, Quitman, Ga.; R. C.
Neely, Waynesboro, Ga.; W. R. Nell,
700 Walton Bidg., Atlanta, Ga.; Clark
Howell, carc Constitution, Atlanta,
Ga.; Charles Davis, Warm Springs,
Ga.; S. B. Low, Lavonia, Ga.; Dr.
Craig Arnold, Dahonega, Ga.

The press of the various states has carried and is now carrying a story of the decision of I. D. Williams, president, and members of the executive committee, that the Southern Appalachian Good Roads association will meet in Asheville on the date men-meet in Asheville on the date men-tioned. It will be remembered that this association was organized in Asheville nine years ago, largely through the efforts of Dr. Joseph Hyde Pratt. This will be the third time the Pratt. This will be the third time the association has met in Asheville. Large interest is being taken in the proposed meeting and in a letter to the board of trade from Henry Branson Varner, editor of the Southen Goods Roads Magazine and the Lexington Dispatch, Lexington, he states that he will be present and use every effort to make the third meeting in Asheville the biggest success of the entire series of meetings. As a matter of fact, Mr. Varner writes that the Southern Appalachian Good Roads association has been a big factor in building sentiment in these southern building sentiment in these southern states composing the association of a uniform system of state highways and a uniform method of building roads, road signs, road machinery, etc., and that standardization will greatly fa-cilitate more rapid construction of hard roads and thereby reduce the cost.

Secretary Buckner of the Asheville Board of Trade stated last night to The Citizen that extraordinary interest is being manifested in good roads now by everyone and the unbounded possibilities of the southern states, in fact the entire country, makes the present really the psychological time to provide funds for a state-wide system of hard roads, and he commended most heartily the $50,000,000 bond issue suggested by W. A. McGirt, of the North Carolina Good Roads association and T. L. Kirkpatrick, of the Asheville-Wilmington-Charlotte highway at a meeting of the executive way at a meeting of the executive committee of the latter highway on January 5, at Charlotte. He added that with the provision of $5,000,000 a year for five years to match up a similar amount from the federal aid fund North Carolina could be made. fund North Carolina could be made better in hard roads than all the states in the union. The eyes of the entire country are being turned to the extraordinary wealth and resources of North Carolina, made perhaps, than any other southern state and with a larger fund and a broader vision for state-wide system hard roads, North Carolina will make extraordinary strides in material and educational progress within the immediate future, he declared.

HEARINGS IN MILL CASE ON JANUARY 30

Hearings in the case of L. W. Jacobs and H. A. Miller against the American Feed Milling company, in which the plaintiffs petition for a receivership for the concern, have been set for January 30, before Judge Webb.

The plaintiffs who own more than one-half the issued and outstanding stock in their complaint alleged that owing to the present financial em-barrassment of the concern, that it should be dissolved in order to best protect the creditors and stockhold-ers.

"ALL MEN ARE MORTAL."

(Pace Copybook.)

Does still the little scholar bend him

O'er troublous loop and line and God grant his play-filled thoughts be-fried him— above his copybook.

With lore and legend interwritten
Upon the earliest, rudest scroll,
As with corroding acid bitten
Into man's very soul:

Four words of never challenged scriven
Through ages kept all hearts a-cold;

What flagellants from life were driven Ere their due time had toiled! Forever feasing more than hoping, Each hour had its grim tithe to / pay; Man heard, among the shadows groping; "Thou goest soon thy way!"

But thou, my sage, and thou, my poet, Who live Eternities in Time. Are ye immortal called? Then, show Past Death your thoughts sublime! Banish the legend from thy portal; And, from thy song, this under-song;

Forget, awhile, All men are mortal-Let pass this cureless wrong!

Say'st thou, "Each ill hath medica-For every hurt a balm waits still— Save One"? . . . Ah, what a reve-

If Death be found no ill; If they who sleep the Sleep awaken To find of Terror there was nought; And nothing hath from them been taken That Secret Wisdom taught! If Faith rests on a sure foundation, Write this: Man is immortal—ay,

The Soul hath her own intimation
That nought she is can die!
