N. CAROLINA WINS SAVINGS CONTEST

Announcement was made today by the educational division of the war loan organization for the fifth federal reserve district that North Carolina won in the sixty-city contest held recently between this state and South Carolina. The object of the contest was to see which state could organize the greater number of school savings societies within a given period. South Carolina was offered a handicap of five to three, in view of the relative size of the population. North Carolina won with a margin of 131 societies. It is announced, South Carolina organized 411 societies, while this state reported 816 new societies, only 686 being necessary for her to win on the five-to-three basis.

Miss Mary G. Showell, newly appointed director of the educational division and formerly field director for North Carolina, is greatly pleased over the fine showings made, and at the widespread interest in the savings movement manifested in the results of the contest.

Mrs. Estella Wingren announces the marriage of her daughter, Miss Norma Wingren, to Mr. Joseph Wintersteen, of Philadelphia, Pa. The ceremony was performed on Tuesday evening at the Presbyterian parsonage. Rev. Dr. R. F. Campbell officiating. Mr. Wintersteen comes of a prominent and well known Philadelphia family. Mrs. Wintersteen is popular among a wide circle of friends here.

Mrs. J. S. Curry entertained Tuesday evening at her home on Asheville avenue with a most enjoyable miscellaneous shower in compliment to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Johnson, who were recently married. The lower floor of the house was arranged with pink cut flowers. During the evening various games were played, one contest at which Mr. Johnson won the first prize and Mrs. White the booby prize caused much merriment. Mrs. Curry, assisted by Mrs. J. B. Johnson, served her guests with dainty refreshments. During one of the games the small daughter of the hostess, little Miss Frances Curry, presented Mr. and Mrs. Johnson with a large hamp basket decorated with evergreens and flowers and filled with the shower. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Johnson, the honorees; Mrs. J. B. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. William Snow, Mr. and Mrs. White, Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy, Mrs. Bell, Mrs. Hayes, Miss Burgett, Miss Florence Sowers, Mr. Sam Stevens, Mr. John Stevens and Mr. Edward Stevens.

Suffragists throughout the state will be interested to know that Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the noted English militant suffragist, will speak at Raleigh on the evening of February 17. Mrs. Pankhurst is well known and famous the world over and it is expected that North Carolinians from various parts of the state will go to hear her. She is small of stature with a wonderful voice and has been through many exciting experiences in England, of which she will tell at this time.

The meeting of the Fortnightly club which was announced to meet this afternoon with Mrs. W. R. McGuire at her home on Flint street, has been indefinitely postponed on account of the influenza situation.

The Charlotte Observer gives the following which will be of interest to many friends here of the contracting parties, who are well known in the city: "A wedding of much social interest in the Carolinas was that of Miss Hallie Wightman McMillan and Mr. Richard Lowndes Allison, which took place yesterday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. John Cleo McMillan, on Kingston avenue, Dilworth.

Rev. Dr. John Bunyan McLeod, pastor of Westminster Presbyterian church, officiated. "The vows were spoken in the dining room in front of a bank of palms and bride roses and electric candelabra. The bridal music was played by Miss Louise Parks, accompanied by Miss Louise Wilson on the violin. When the notes of Mendelssohn's wedding march were sounded Misses Mildred Crayton and Florence De Pass, wearing dresses of pink crepe de chine, opened the folding doors between the living room and the dining room and the relatives and intimate friends assembled, witnessed the wedding tableaux. The bride and bridegroom were kneeling on a white satin cushion and the attendants formed a semi-circle. A short prayer preceded the ceremony.

The bride wore a coat suit of brown duvetyne and brown velvet hat trimmed in ostrich, a seal cape and corsage of bride roses. Her only ornament was a diamond and pearl pin, a gift of the bridegroom. "Miss Mary Wood of Darlington, and Lancaster, S. C., was maid of honor. She wore turquoise blue tulle and silver lace over silver cloth and carried a shower bouquet of Russell roses and ferns. "Miss Marie O'Neill, of Crozet, Va., was bridesmaid. She was gowned in pink brocaded satin and tulle and carried a shower of pink roses. "Misses Mary Louise White and Ethel De Pass were flower girls. They wore frocks of acordon pleated pink crepe de chine and carried white enameled baskets filled with pink sweet peas and ferns. "Master Billy Rutherford was ring bearer. He wore a black velvet suit and carried the ring on a tray. "The bride was given in marriage by her bother, Mr. James P. McMillan.

An informal reception followed the wedding, after which Mr. Allison and bride left for a trip to Florida and Cuba. "The bride is the daughter of the late Dr. John Cleo McMillan, of Marion, S. C., and Mrs. McMillan, of
