| Further Reductions in Prices Said to Indicate Slow Trade. NEW OBLEANS, Jan. 16.—An unfavorable opinion of foreign politics and the bearish interpretation that further reductions in prices of manufactures of various sorts meant slow trade, were against prices in the cotton market today, which was lower on the opening and was steady at the decline until after mid-session. At the lowest the trading months were 33-ho 56 points under the close of last week. March trading as low as 16.36 cents a pound. In the later trading comething of a raily was caused by realizing on the short side and the close was at net losses on the day of % to 36 points. March closed at 16.56. Much of the early selling was due to a poor Liverpool, but discussion on the floor of the exchange was mainly centered on interdational politics. Manchester cables created an unfavorable impression, as they stated that while more business was being done, there were no signs of a general revival. Prices were a dollar to a dollar and a half a bale off on these features. In the late morning reports were circulated on the floor of the exchange of further rioting in India and during the selling that followed stop loss orders were caught on the long side in considerable volume. interests were inquiring and bidding—outside of this, the demand in the market is small.

COTTON—A weak cotton market in Liverpool and reports of poor spot demand in the south created a foundation here that was enything but satisfactory and when selling in volume appeared, the market gave way with ease, longs becoming discouraged and this in turn brought in some further pressure from spot holders in the south. The decline was in sharp contrast to the strength that was displayed in the security market. Many who are long cotton are beginning to realize that there is nothing in the existing situation to warrant the extreme confidence that they have displayed. The fact of the matter is that we have nothing at this time on which to attract a public following and we are only entitled to occasional advances on technical grounds and this market will probably sag until we again meet with a new absorption.

General Market Closes Net Decline of 20 to 34 Points on Covering.

Points on Covering.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—The cotton market was weak and unsettled today with prices selling into new low ground for the movement. March contracts declined to 17.34 or 55 points below the closing quotation of last week and 3.35 per bale below the high price touched at the opening, January 3. That delivery closed at 17.56, with the general market closing steady at a net decline of 20 to 31 points on covering.

The market opened barely steady at a decline of 10 to 22 points in response to lower Liverpool cables. Private advices attributing the decline in the English market to increased hedge selling revived last week's apprehensions of spot liquidation in the south, and there was also selling on reports, of good rains in the southwest.

The WYORK, Jan. 16.—Purchases of railread shares on a comprehensive yeal and at gross agains of 1 to 3 points furnished a firm foundation for today's active and generally a points in which the short interest continued dominant. Crucible Steel, International Paper, National Enameling and several obscure specialities were conspicuous examples at reactions of 1 to 3 points.

Crucible Steel, International Paper, National Enameling and several obscure specialities, textiles and miscellanted to 10.3 points in response to lower Liverpool cables.

Equipments, motors, several of the formation of the season, but that group came forward in the final hour with Mexican Patroleum the central feature.

For the most part closing prices were several exceptions to the advance, mainly among stocks with the general market closing steady at a net decline of 20 to 31 points on covering.

The market opened barely steady, at a decline of 10 to 22 points in response to lower Liverpool cables. Private advices attributing the decline in the English market to increased hedge selling revived last week's apprehensions of spot liquidation in the south, and there was also selling on reports of good rains in the southwest.

Some trade buying appeared on the scale down, but it was very limited and the market showed increasing weakness during the middle of the day, owing partly to persistent selling by brokers with southern connections. Naturally this pressure served to color the talk of an easier spot situation, and as prices worked lower, stop orders were uncovered on every five point drop. January sold off to 17.40 and May to 17.33, making and there were railies from the lowest on covering or scattered buying for a reaction.

Some turther trade buying was also an expectation that market for international fermittances and most domestic developments over the week-end received favorable interpretation. A canvase of conditions in the middle of the market. Reports received herefrom Norfolk said there was no pressure of spot cotton there, but the talk of an easier basis was more or less general around the ring, and the fear of spot liquidation was considered the main factor on the decline. There was also an expectation that the break in raw material would further retard business in cotton goods. Cotton closed eteady.
