Aged Ex-Premier Pleads That France Not Be Allowed to Disappear

Cleveland, Nov. 14.-The aged ex-premier of France, who is now in Chicago, is reported to have told a large audience assembled in the Y.M.C.A. annexe of the University of Chicago that "France does not get the help she needs from her own people" and that the country is in a "dangerous and perilous" state.

Clemenceau declared that France is "a country that has never yet been defeated" and that the nation can not be made to accept defeat because of that fact.

The former French Premier also declared that France can not be made a "passive" country and that the nation is capable of "undying" and "enduring".
