VOLSTED SEES STATE PRINTING TROUBLES LIKELY TO HAVE A RING

Statement Is Made During Testimony on Second of Specifications.

GOMPERS DECLARES LABOR HELPS CASE Denies He Has "Hounded" Burns Since Mc-Namara Affair.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—Chairman Volsted declared tonight during hearings before the House Judiciary Committee on impeachment charges against Attorney-General Daugherty that, judged by the character of testimony thus far offered, he did not believe it possible "to make anything out of the case."

The statement was made during the taking of testimony on a witness of the impeachment specifications filed by Representative Smoller, Republican, Minnesota, against a failure by the attorney-general to comply with the provisions of the safety appliance acts. Previously the committee had completed the taking of evidence on the first of the fourteen specifications—that charging Mr. Daugherty had knowingly appointed to office men who were "untrustworthy, corrupt and dangerous to the liberties of the people of the United States."

Most of the evidence relating to this specification had to do with charges against Wm. J. Burns, director of the bureau of investigation of the Department of Justice, and a defense of Mr. Burns against those charges. Witnesses included Mr. Burns, Senator Johnson of California, former Attorney-General Wickersham and Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor.

Testimony during the three sessions—morning, afternoon and night—covered a wide range, beginning with the Oregon land fraud trials in 1905 and running through the arrest and confession of the McNamara brothers in the dynamiting of the Los Angeles Times building and events of the recent date. Numbered among these was the political feud developed between Taft and Roosevelt in 1912 and the assistance which the American Federation of Labor is rendering Senator Representative Keller, Republican, Minnesota, in the presentation of some charges against Mr. Daugherty.

Lodge Wants Child Labor Amendment To Constitution

Represents Manufacturing Constituency Which Rivals the South.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—Senator Lodge who represents a large manufacturing constituency, and one that has rivals in the South, today started the ball moving for a child labor amendment to the constitution. He introduced a resolution for the submission of an amendment reading: "The Congress shall have power to prohibit or to regulate the hours of labor in mines, quarries, mills, canneries, workshops, factories of manufacturing establishments of persons under 18 years of age and of women."

He will take several years to have this amendment ratified by the present administration is behind it and will speed it up. President Harding considered the matter in his recent message to the Supreme Court. He has thrown out two child labor laws on the ground that they were unconstitutional. The only way to fix the law is by amending the constitution.

The entire South is interested in this proposed amendment. Some North Carolinians believe it is aimed at the Southern cotton mill operators.

CAPITAL TAKEN BY SURPRISE AT DEVELOPMENT

Think It Would Be Difficult to Get Renewed Arms Limiting Session.

COMPETITION IS SAID IN PROGRESS

Activity Is in Only Direction Not Covered by Washington Agreement.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—(By The Associated Press.)—Bluntly stated that the United States cannot avoid a new naval program in view of the arms race between the United States and other nations unless treaty limitations are extended to such craft, was served by the House appropriation bill. A provision in the bill would place in the hands of the committee requested by President Harding to negotiate with Great Britain, France, Japan and Italy for such an extension of the treaty, limitation of aircraft to be included.

The committee report said large cruisers and submarine programs were planned abroad, adding: "In order to avoid competition in the building of ships, which the unratified agreement (the Washington naval treaty) does not extend and if it is allowed to go unbreached, the purpose of the treaty is nullified, and this government, like all others, will be constrained to launch a new program to the extent necessary to keep up at least abreast of any of the other nations."

President Harding was not consulted by the committee with respect to its limitation conference request. The project for negotiations apparently came to the attention of naval officials. It was originated by Chairman Kelly, of the naval appropriation subcommittee.

The committee also eliminated from its published testimony of naval intelligence officers on the program of the "2000-ton" cruiser, mentioned by the Navy in a recent report, which is included in the published copies of committee hearings. The committee stated, however, as necessary to keep the United States Navy on a parity with the navies of other nations, it is necessary to increase gun range and deck protection, her capital ships to carry 16-inch guns.

In addition to the new cruiser program, the committee is known to have been informed of a plan to build a fleet of 1200-ton destroyers, which would be made on modernizing the pre-July 1914 destroyers. The point being made that Great Britain has already remedied to a large extent to increase gun range and deck protection, her capital ships to carry 16-inch guns.

Senator Fletcher who charged the bill was "direct raid on the treasury," quoted Chairman Lasker, of the Shipping Board, as having said that "it is pure bunk" to charge that the cost of operating American ships was increased materially by the LaFollette amendment.
