The premium list and rules and regulations of the Roanoke and Tar River Agricultural Society for the 18th annual Fair to be held at Weldon on the 1st, 2nd, 3rd and 4th of November are neatly displayed in pamphlet form. Upon the fly-leaf is a handsome picture of T. L. Emry, Esq., President of the Society. Among the number of its officers are men of high standing and sound judgment who, in themselves, constitute a safe guarantee of the success of the exhibition. The schedule of premiums covers a wide range and the sums offered are quite liberal. Among the amusements there will be an Eating match and a Sack race. On Wednesday there will be a prize drill by the colored military companies, (volunteers only). Two or more to compete. A large crowd is expected and a most pleasant time, by all, is contemplated.

When a young man, in the bud of hope and promise, is suddenly snatched away from his friends in untimely death, the people, full of sympathy and tender emotion, greatly mourn. On Saturday at 8 P. M., Mr. E. G. Brinkley in the 24th year of his age passed into the great beyond. Tuesday, in company with others, he returned from the Centennial celebration at Philadelphia full of life, and with love of country, in which he hoped long to live, wonderfully brightened by the grandeur of the display there witnessed. It was with pleasure he recounted the scenes there beheld upon which he built his hope and prophesy as to the matchless splendor and excellence of his country's future and continuing advance, not knowing how soon from all he was to be taken. Thursday he sickened, Saturday he died. Sunday his remains, followed by one of the largest concourse of people for some time seen in our town, were deposited in the church yard where sleep the remains of his parents and other loved ones awaiting the final day. This sudden and unexpected visitation gives its weight to the caution, "Be ye also ready."

ELIZABETH CITY NOTES.

GATHERED BY OUR REPORTER.

Court convened Monday morning at 10 o'clock—Judge Graves presiding with his accustomed dignity and ability. The criminal docket was disposed of by Wednesday. Among the number of interesting cases tried was that of Hall and Foreman, charged with obstructing the excursion train in August last. Foreman was acquitted and Hall was found guilty. The jury was out on this case all night. Against the party who sold liquor on the train the jury rendered a special verdict. This party will be called upon to answer in the Federal Court for violating the revenue law of the United States.

The city has again been visited by that dreaded enemy of man which took from its inhabitants at 12 o'clock Wednesday, Ida V., an esteemed lady, and beloved wife of J. B. Flora, Esq. She was buried from Christ's church at 4:30 Thursday. She leaves, besides her husband, and one child of five years, a host of friends to mourn her loss which, she being only 34 years old, seems as untimely as it is sad and depressing. A loving mother, faithful friend and, above all, a zealous Christian, she has gone to Him who commanded "Come up higher."

In addition to this sad death we have to mention another, that of Sarah, daughter of Mrs. Fannie Goldstein, who died at the residence of Mrs. N. Shultz, Wednesday morning; aged 5 years, 7 months and 27 days. Her remains were carried to Norfolk for interment.

The feast given for the benefit of the Academy building, on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights, presided over by the ladies, was as charming a success in its display as it was, doubtless, profitable in its realizations. The ladies of E. City, like the rest everywhere seen, are happy in labors of beneficence and are devoted to the cause of progress wherever and whenever and, we may almost say, however presented.

Our reporter also learned that, with many other attractions and amusements at the Fair, there will be given at night, at the Albemarle House, a Tournament Ball, under the management of Messrs. Frank Grice, Louis Selig and G. C. Potter. This will be one of the best ever given in E. City, and, with the above gentlemen at its head, we can safely assure everyone who attends it an evening of much pleasure and enjoyment.

REMOVAL

When first he came among us, eight years ago, L. Levy considered himself compelled to occupy a store which, from its retired situation, he called country. After, when opportunity offered, he moved to the Resenthal store when he thought himself in town. Now, controlled by business interests, the firm moves again, and, this time, to the large and spacious building formerly occupied by Messrs. Skinner and Parsons, Main street, which situation he declares to be in the midst of the day and, of all places, most attractive to purchasers.

His life experience as a merchant warrants him in saying that to advertise prices amounts to simple nonsense. Call and examine goods, see for yourselves their quality and then let the price control your purchase as he is determined to close out the remainder of goods on hand in order to make room for a New Fall and Winter Stock which will be selected in the great city of New York with which no market can successfully compete. Thanking my customers and public generally for past favors and asking a continuation of the same, I respectfully subscribe myself for the firm

Louis Levy,
Dillon Building, formerly occupied by Skinner & Parsons.
Look-out for ad when he returns.
