We had the pleasure of a visit last week from our friend Dr. W. G. Brown, optician, who visited our city about two years since and who is doubtless known to a great many of our readers. He left to attend the courts and will be in Edenton again court week. Persons desiring anything in the way of glasses or spectacles would do well to see the Doctor here.

THE EDITOR'S MARRIAGE

Mr. A. H. Mitchell, of Edenton, N. C., and Miss Katie B. Elliott recently of Lima, Ohio, were married by Rev. C. P. Bogart at the residence of Mr. John Jewell in Tunis, N. C., on Wednesday at 2 p. m. The happy pair, accompanied by Mr. R. J. Mitchell and Miss Emma Jewel, who were in attendance upon the ceremony, returned to Edenton Wednesday night via Str. Chowan. A party present writes us the following:

The 21st was a day that will long be remembered by the pleasant party who were in attendance upon the marriage of your Editor. Though the early morn was unpromising, all gloom was dispelled by 11 o'clock and the sun, in genial splendor, made merry nature smile as if intended consouance with the feelings of all our party. At the appointed hour and at the residence of Mr. John Jewell, we repaired to witness the marriage ceremony which was performed by Rev. C. P. Bogart in a style highly commensurate with his well established reputation. Among those present to witness the ceremony were Miss Mullin, the charming belle of Tunis, Miss Cora Hare, Mrs. Annie Jewell, Miss Emma Jewel, Mrs. Walter M. Jewell, Mrs. Terrant and son, Messrs. Charles Norfleet, Wm. Fleetwood, the writer hereof and others. After the ceremony the entire party proceeded to the Hotel De Mail which is situated on the highest hill in the delectable city and commands a perfect view of the immediate settlement in the neighborhood. Here we remained, until the arrival of the Str. Chowan, passing the time in pleasantness to which Mrs. Walter Jewell specially contributed, by rendering delightful music upon the Organ and singing some of the songs of long ago, when she too was wont to rival the gay and youngest of the fair in the merry pastimes of life and was ever ready to lend the charm of her voice, essential, to make melody resistless and add harmoniously delightful rapturous to ears attuned and tastes refined. At 4 o'clock we espied the Str. Chowan ploughing the wave; a string of beauty with flags set and pennants flying in anticipation of our party as passengers for Edenton. We promptly boarded her and she as promptly left. On our way to the boat the two locomotives which had stopped at Tunis with trains and the two mills, all of which were in line of our route, blew a long salute to the bride and groom. This was done by direction of Mr. Terrant who also kindly tendered the newly married his carriage for the occasion. Now we are on our way homeward. The Purser handed the groom a letter from Capt Jno. H. Bogart expressing his regrets at not being able to accompany the party to Edenton, as he intended, and tendering his congratulations and best wishes as well as the hospitalities of his elegant Steamer which were indeed surpassing in every respect. Our ride down the river was all that could be desired; nothing occurred to lessen our joys or impede our progress. Arriving at Edenton we were met by a host of people, friends of the bride and groom, who accompanied them to their residence on King street where a sumptuous repast was spread and where congratulations of gathered friends were tendered in matchless profusion. At a late hour callers were received tendering words of welcome to the bride and best wishes for the happy pair made one.

Another Hertford county man comes to Edenton for employment and finds it with Mr. M. H. Dixon. Come along, we need as many as will come. When places cannot be had in stores the pea fields will be open, herring-cutters will be needed and, after, the corn fields will wave a welcome to the agile strength of the strong and industrious lover of opportunity. Come along!

We have in our county, Mr. D. T. Smithwick who is selling family Bibles. He has also a most excellent work written by J. W. Buell, assisted by T. DeWit Talmage, called the "Beautiful Story." This work is a companion to the Bible containing a narrative history of all the events recorded in the sacred book. Designed to increase our interest in a study of the Bible, and to give a better knowledge of Gods Providence and immeasurable love for the children of men; to which is added Golden Gems of religious thoughts.

Mr. Smithwick is also a Life Insurance agent, working in interest of the Inter-States Company, Staunton, Va.

INGALLS ACCUSED AGAIN.

[Alexandria Gazette.]

Senator Ingalls, in the letter he intends to publish in reference to his recent bloody shirt speech in Congress, should not fail to correct the whopper he told in that speech about the strength of General Lee's army at the time of its surrender. Mr. Ingalls said that army numbered seventy-nine thousand men. But everybody who knows anything about that army knows that it numbered less than eight thousand armed men, and General Lee, who surely should have known, and whose veracity nobody except Mr. Ingalls ever questioned, often gave that as the correct number.
