SLIPPING AWAY.

They are slipping away—the sweet swift years.
Like a leaf on current east,
With never a break in their rapid flow,
We watch them as one by one they go
Into the beautiful past.

One after another we see them pass
Down the dim lighted stair:
We hear the sound of their steady tread
In the steps of centuries long since dead,
As beautiful and as fair.

There are only a few days left to love:
Shall we waste them in their strife?
Shall we trample under our ruthless feet
Those beautiful blossoms rare and sweet,
By the dusty ways of life?

MR. CLEVELAND'S CABINET.

The Baltimore Sun, in referring to the personnel of Mr. Cleveland's Cabinet, makes the remark that what will strike most persons in reading that list is the fact that there is not a politician or a millionaire in it, and such is the fact. They are all hard working men who, as the Sun says, are trusted by the public that knows them. It is a practical Cabinet of a practical man, who desires to carry on the Government in the next four years in a careful, economical and business-like way, and that is what he is going to do. The men whom Mr. Cleveland has selected to become a part of his political household have earned distinction through merit, and it is a general belief that there is not one of them who will fail to meet all the requirements of the high office to which he has been called. The course of Mr. Cleveland in the selection of his advisers for the next four years is in perfect keeping with all that he does, and the few now disposed to criticize will, in the end, have no reason to find fault with the wisdom of his choice.

THE ANONYMOUS LETTER WRITER

The mischief maker, the disseminator and "manufacturer" of gossip, the scandle-monger and the persons who know every body's business, are about on a par, but the anonymous letter-writer may justly be termed a hypocritical back number, and is so considered by all respectable people. It is not so much for "sweet charity's sake," or the "good" of one party that he writes these "epistles of the devil" as it is to vent his spleen upon another source, to carry a point—it may be for some past kindness or favor rendered. It is about as impossible for some people to confine themselves to the truth, as it is to bake bread on ice.—Henderson Gold Leaf.

THE MILK IN THE COCONUT.

A prominent Alliance man in South Carolina is quoted as saying that the Alliance in that State is going to stay in politics and elect men who sympathize with it to the offices. This is the milk in the coconut with the men who want to run the Alliance as a political machine—the office. If they had the office and could hold them they wouldn't care a continental what became of the Alliance.

THE TEACHERS ASSEMBLY.

At the annual meeting of the Teachers Assembly, held at Raleigh Saturday last it was decided that the tenth annual session of the Assembly be held June 26th-July 4th. Several places desired the next session, but the committee decided to meet in their own building at Morehead City as usual. All the work of the session was full arranged, and it is believed that the best of all the programmes will be presented this session. In addition to the oratorical contest between the male colleges, the music contest by the female schools, there will be a recitation contest, in which any girl may enter who is now a pupil in any North Carolina school. A handsome gold medal will be awarded the winner in each contest. There are already several entries in each contest.

At the close of the session of the Assembly a party of five hundred teachers and their friends will leave for the World's Fair on two special trains; which will run through to Chicago without change of cars. The Teachers' Assembly is going to make this a big educational year for North Carolina.

THE NEW CABINET.

Walter Q. Gresham, of Illinois, Secretary of State.

John G. Carlisle, of Kentucky, Secretary of the Treasury.

Daniel S. Lamont, of New York, Secretary of War.

Hilary A. Herbert, of Alabama, Secretary of the Navy.

Hoke Smith, of Georgia, Secretary of the Interior.

J. Sterling Morton, of Nebraska, Secretary of Agriculture.

Wilson S. Bissel, of New York, Postmaster General.

Richard W. Olney, of Massachusetts, Attorney General.

DESERVING PRAISE.

We desire to say to our citizens, that for years we have been selling Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Dr. King's New Life Pills, Bucklen's Arnica Salve and Electric Bitters, and have never handled remedies that sell as well, or that have given such universal satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time, and we stand ready to refund the purchase price, if satisfactory results do not follow their use. These remedies have won their great popularity purely on their merits. W. L. Learns Druggists.

It costs about $6,000,000 a year to support the paupers of London. This does not include the family of royal paupers, which costs nearly that much.—Ex.

A TRUE FISH STORY.

Mr. Robt. Steele, of Rockingham, N. C., writes the Wilmington Messenger the following story.

In reading in your issue of the 21st inst an account of a monster catfish, recently caught in the Mississippi river, in whose stomach was found "two fish hooks and a line, one ten penny nail, a gold ring and a letter," brings to mind one caught in the Arkansas river a number of years ago. During my erratic life I lived several years on the banks of the Arkansas and Red rivers, and have seen a great many of these monster catfish. A number of years ago there was one of them caught on a farm adjoining one I once owned on the Arkansas river, although not so large, nor so heavy yet far excelled it in voracity.

In its stomach was found twenty-three hen eggs, a beef liver, three puppies and a child's shoe, not to count "fish hooks," "fish lines," etc., and whether the fish had swallowed the child, shoe and all, at the same time and had digested all but the shoe, my informant did not tell, nor did I learn whether any, or how many children along the river, were missing about that time.

I did not see the fish, nor the child's shoe, but my informant, who I think saw it all, is a North Carolinian, now living in Little Rock, Ark., and is a gentleman of veracity and integrity.

Yours truly,
ROBERT L. STEELE.

GOOD ROADS.

One of the best arguments for good roads is contained in a colored paper recently published in one of the engineering papers.

It states that on the worst roads, not muddy, but sandy a horse can draw only twice as much as he can carry on his back; on a fair earth road, three and a half times as much; on a good macadamized road, nine times as much; on a smooth plank road, twenty-five times as much; on a stone trackway, thirty-three times as much—and on metal rail, five four times as much.

The men who use the county roads can therefore see the advantage of having them in good condition.

The Brunswick Terms remarks that the young man who is always looking for a soft place carries one under his hat.

A California preacher who has been following up the discovery business, holds that the Chinese discovered America. The Chinese claim to have discovered it two thousand years ago, but they didn't like it as well then as they do now, and didn't stay.

IMPORTANT TO LADIES.

Sir—I made use of your PHILOTOKEN with my last child, in order to procure a safe and easy travail. I used it about two months before my expected time, until I was taken sick, and I had a very quick and easy confinement. Nothing occurred to protract my convalescence, and I got about in less time than was usual for me. I think it a medicine that should be used by every expectant mother, for should they but try it as I have, they would never be without it at such times.

I am yours respectfully,
Mrs. ELIZABETH DIX
