Subject: "The Looking Glass."

Text: "And he made the laver of brass, and the foot of it was of brass, of the looking glasses of the women assembling."-Exodus xxxviii., 8. We often hear about the gospel in John, nd the gospel in Luke, and the gospel in Matthew, but there is just as surely a gospel of Moses, and a gospel of Jeremiah, and a gospel of David. In other words, Christ is as certainly to be found in the Old Testa-ent as in the New. When the Israelites were marching brough the wilderness they carried their hurch with them. They called it the tubernacle. It was a pitched tent, very costly, very beautiful. The framework was made of forty-eight boards of acacla wood set in ockets of silver. The curtains of the place were purple and scarlet and blue and fine linen and were hung with most artistic loops. The candlesticks of that tabernacle had shaft and branch and bowl of solid gold, and the figures of cherubim that stood there had wings of gold, and there were lamps of gold. and snuffers of gold, and tongs of gold, and rings of gold, so that skeptleism has sometimes asked. Where did all that precious material come from? It is not my place to furnish the precious stones. It is only to tell hat they were there. I wish now more especially to speak of the layer that was built in the midst of that ancient tabernacle. It was a great basin from which the priests washed their hands and feet. The water came down from the basin n spouts and passed away after the cansing. This layer or basin was made out of the looking glasses of the women who had frequented the tabernacle and who had made these their contributions to he furniture. These looking glasses were not made of glass, but they were brazen. The brass was of a very superior quality and olished until it reflected easily the features of those who looked into it, so that this layer of looking glasses spoken of in my text water in which the priests washed the selves, but it also, on its shining, polished surface, pointed out the spots of pollution on the face which needed abbution I have to say that this is the only lookinglass in which a man can see himself as ha There are some mirrors that flatter the eatures and make you look better than you are. Then there are other mirrors that distort your features and make you look worse than you are, but I want to tell you that this looking-glass of the gospel shows a man ust as he is. When the priests entered the ucient tabernacle, one glance at the urnished side of this layer showed them their need of cleansing. So this gospel shows the soul its need of divine washing. "All have sinned and come short of the glory of God." That is one showing, "All we, like sheep, have gone astray." That is another showing. "From the crown of the head to the sole of the foot there is no health in us," That is another showing. The world calls these defects, imperfections, or eccentricities, or erratic havior, or "wild oats," or "high living," but the gospel calls them sin, transgression, flith-the abominable thing that Go I hates. It was just one glance at that mirror that made Paul cry out, "Oh, wretched man that I am, who shall deliver me from the body of this death?" and that made David cry out, "Purge me with hyssop, and shall be clean," and that made Martin Luther cry out, "Oh, my sins, my sins!" I am not talking about bad habits. You and

Here, for instance, is ingratitude. Who | that and more luxuriant, but the only path has not been guilty of that sin? If a man hand us a glass of water we say, "Thank you," but for the 10,000 mercies that we are very day receiving from the hand of God one, one name given unto men whereby we by little expression of gratitude-for thirst | can be saved, one laver in which all the slaked, for hunger fed, for shelter, and sunhine, and sound sleep, and clothes to wear, how little thanks! I suppose there are men fifty years of age who have never yet been down on their knees in thanksgiving to God for His goodness. Besides that ingrati- It is heaven or hell. You come before your tude of our hearts there is pride-who has not felt it?-pride that will not submit to God; that wants its own way-a nature that prefers wrong sometimes instead of right that prefers to wallow instead of rise up. If you could catch a glimpse of your natur al heart before God, you would cry out in amazement and alarm. The very first thing this gospel does is to cut down our pride and self sufficiency. If a man does not feel his loss and ruined condition before God, he does not want any gospel. I think the reason that there are so few conversions in this day is because the tendency of the preaching is to make men believe that they are pretty good anyhow-quite clever, only wanting a little flxing up, a few touches of divine grace, and then you will be all right -instead of proclaiming the broad, deep truth that Payson and Whitefield thundered to a race trembling on the verge of inflaite d eternal disaster. "Now," says some one, can this really be true? Have we all gone astray? Is there no good in us?" nton Court I saw a room where the wans were covered with lookingglasses and it made no difference which way you looked you saw yourself. And so it is in this gospel of Christ. If you once step within its full precincts, you will find your Glory be to God, I find that this layer of looking glasses was filled with fresh water | On, what a hard end for those feet that had every morning, and the priest no sooner looked on its burnished side and saw his need of cleansing than he washed and was

The servants of the tabernacle brought the water in buckets and poured it into this laver. So it is with the gospel of Jesus Christ. It has a fresh salvation every day. It is not a stagnant pool filled with accumulated corruptions. It is living water, which is brought from the eternal rock to wash away the sins of yesterda;, of one moment ago. "Oh," says some one, "I was a Christian twenty years aco! That does not mean anything to me. What are you now? We are not talking, my brother, about pardon ten years ego, but about pardon now, a fresh salvation.

If I want to find out how a friend feels toward me, do I go to the drawer and find some old vellow letters written to me ten or twelve years ago? No. I go to the letter that was stamped the day before yesterday in the postoffice, and I find how he feels toward me. It is not in regard to old communications we had with Jesus Christ. It i the communications we have now. Are we not in sympathy with Him this morning, is He not in sympathy with Do not spend so much of hunting in wardrobe for the old, wornout shoes of Christian profession. Come this morning and take the glittering robe of Christ's righteousness from the Saviour's hand. You say you were plunged in the fountain of the Saviour's mercy a quarter of a century ago That is nothing to me. I tell you to wash now in this layer of looking glasses and have your soul made clean. I notice also in regard to this laver of looking glasses spoken of in the text that the priests always washed both hands and feet. The water came down in spouts, so that without leaving any flith in the pasin, the priests washed both hands and feet. So the gospel of Jesus Christ must touch the very extremities of our moral nature. A man cannot fence off a small part of his soul and say,

When our Civil War had passed, the Gov-ernment of the United States made procla-

But I notice also, in regard to this layer of Complaint is made that the appropriations by the last Legislature for charitable and educational institutionss were not so liberal as they should have been. The Governor states that the allottment in severalty of certain lands within the Uintah and Uncompaghre reservations and the opening for settlement of the remaining lands will prove of untold advantage to the State. The report recomends the passage of laws returning to the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints the real and personal estate, valued at $735,000, which has been eschented to the Government. The invasion by the industrial army is referred to at length. In reference to statehood Governor West says "Great joy has been brought to the people of Utah by the enabling act of admission as a State. While the changes in our social and political position have been rapid they have been complete and no voice is now heard in opposition to statehood. Under the State government we confidently anticipate an increase of population sufficient to strengthen our cities, cultivate our valleys, and as soon as the Indian reservations are opened to settlement to completely transform them into productive gardens and fields, thrifty villages and towns."

CHINESE FLEE IN TERROR.

VICTORIOUS ADVANCE OF THE JAPS INTO MANCHURIA.

The Chinese Batteries Deserted and Much Plunder is Captured-Japan -Lack of Patriotism Shown by the Chinese-Heroic Japanese.

Count Yamagata, of the Japanese army, with his detachment, entered Manchuria and defeated the Chinese under General Sung Ching. At dawn the Japanese forces attacked the fortified city of Kin-Lien-Cheng. which was held by 16,000 Chinese. After making only a slight defence the Chinese fled. Five hundred of them were slain. The number of wounded is not yet known. The

The troops were in position early in the mortang, and began the advance at daybreak. There was no sign from the Chine, a batteries or sentries. A gun was fired, but there was no response. Then a shell was dropped into the principal battery; still no sign. The scouts soon came back with the news that the place had been vacated by the Ch.a.s.. When the significance of this flight was realized by the apanese troops they gave round round of cheers. It is believed not the ar rival of the defeated Chinese troops f. on Fushang caused such a panic in the garrison that the officers could not restrain their men from flight. "After the Japanese troops had advanced some distance they found the line of retreat indicated by hundreds of muskets and rifles which the Chinese had thrown away in their haste. The batteries, which had been abandoned, were well built, and the position was a strong one. The guns, however, were not numerous enough for the detence of the works. result of investigation, it finds that there are only one or two factories in the city now

The enthusiasm of the troops is intense. Every man is eager to press forward. It is believed that Mukden can be reached without an encounter with any organized Chinese force, great or small." The Chinese army of the Yalu has retreated to a well-fortifled position at Fing Huang Ching, and bars the road from Mukden to Pekin, Fifteen thousand Chinese have been ordered to march from Fing Huang Ching, make a defour, and attack the advancing Japanese army on the right flank. Mrs. Bishop, a missionery at Mukden, says that she saw the Chinese regiments on their way to the front, and there was not a single gun of modern make among them. their firearms consisting entirely of antique muzzle-loaders and matchlocks. Many of he soldiers, she adds, were without even these, their only weapons of offence being spears and bows and arrows. During the stay of the force at Mukden it was increased coolies.

All the Soochow property belonging to Sheng, the Taotai of Tientsin, has been seized and scaled by the Chinese Governor in obedience to orders from Pekin. Sheng is the official who bought German rifles for 600,900 taels, and sold them to the Government for 3,000,000. When the fraud was discovered Li Hung Chang slapped his face. The seizure of his property followed quickly upon the denunciation of the Board

An essentially Oriental story is told in Tientsin, illustrative of the venality of some of the Chinese officials. A gentleman resilling in that city ordered a Chinese mason to bring the necessary clay to make some repairs in his fireplace. The mason appeared the next day with a cart load of what appeared to be cannon balls, but which were really sun-dried globes of clay painted black. Some time before hostilities with Japan began Viceroy Lt inspected a number of vessels belonging to the northern squadron. Many of the ships were insufficiently supplied with ammunition, the money paid out for that purpose having been otherwise "appropriated." As this story would probably not meet with the approval of the Viceroy, a number of bricklayers were at once set to work manufacturing "fake" cannon balls out of clay, after which they were painted black. These innocuous missles

President Cleveland issued the following proclamation By the President of the United States of

A PROCLAMATION. The American people should gratefully render thanksgiving and praise to the Su-preme Ruler of the Universe, who has watched over them with kindness and fostering care during the year that has passed they should also, with humility and faith supplicate the Father of All Mercies for continued blessings according to their need-and they should by deeds of charity seek the favor of the Giver of every good and Therefore I, Grover Cleveland, President of the United States, do hereby appoint and set apart Thursday, the twenty-ninth day of November instant, as a day of thanksgiving and preper, to be kept and observed by all the people of the land. On that day let our ordinary work and business be suspended, and let us meet in our accustomed places of worship and give thanks to Almighty God for our preservation as a Nation, for our immunity from disease and pestlience, for the harvests that have rewarded our husbandry, for a renewal vance in virtue and intelligence that has marked our growth as a people. And with our thanksgiving let us pray that these blessings may be multiplied unto us, that our National conscience may be quickened to a better recognition of the power and goodness of God, and that in our

of National prosperity, and for every ad-

National life we may clearer see and closer And in our places of worship and prais as well as in the happy rounions of kindred and friends on that day, let us invoke Divine approval by generously remembering the poor and needy. Surely He who has given us comfort and pleuty will look upon our relief of the destitute and our ministrations of charity as the work of hearts truly grateful, and as proofs of the sincerity of our thanksgiving. Witness my hand and the seal of the United States, which I have caused to be hereto affixed. Done at the City of Washington on the Lord eighteen hundred and ninety-four, and of the independence of the United States
