ELEVEN LIVES LOST.

A Terrible Disaster on The Mississippi River.

EXPLOSION OF A TOWBOAT.

SIX HURT AND TWO MISSING—CAUSE OF ACCIDENT UNKNOWN.

ONE of the most terrible river disasters of recent years occurred last Sunday night about 25 miles below Vicksburg, Miss. The tow boat Harry Brown, of Pittsburg, upward-bound from New Orleans, exploded. The boat was a complete wreck, and sank in five minutes.

Eleven lives are known to be lost, including Pilot Norman D'Kavo, G. W. Bardsley, steersman; W. Dougherty, chief engineer; Miss Annie Hess, Chambermaid; Tom Judge, fireman; Wm. Wilson, engineer; first-mate Wm. Fitzsimmons; second-mate Pat Carniff; Wm. Kelly, lamp trimmer. Frank A. Drian, Cincinnati, and John Wagner, Louisville, are missing.

The survivors, also the wounded, were carried to Vicksburg on the Honshell. Six of the officers and crew of the Brown are in the Marine ward of Vicksburg hospital, as follows: Capt. John Kime, hip seriously injured; Wm. Grimme, carpenter, leg broken; John Hardy, fireman, badly scalded; and otherwise seriously injured; Dennis Loney, second engineer, badly scalded and injured internally, will probably die; two unknown deck hands.

The tow boat Honshell was near the scene when the explosion occurred, and her yawls were lowered at once, and were promptly manned and saved many lives that would have been lost if it had not been for their prompt service.

Captain Kime, the master of the Brown, although seriously injured, remained on the aft part of the cabin roof of the Brown, where he had been blown by the explosion. He was seen Monday morning by a reporter and said: "The after part of the cabin floated off from the hull and as it sank to the bottom of the river I directed the efforts of the men who were at work rescuing the boat's crew.

"Myself and Pilot Dan Kane were on the pilot house when the explosion occurred. It would be impossible for any one to tell how the seven boilers exploded as the darkness prevented any one seeing anything. It seemed that the hull went down in less than a minute. I have no blame to attach to any one, as the cause of the explosion will never be known as the Chief Engineer Wm. Dougherty, who was on watch, was lost."

The officers and boat's crew deserve greatest praise. Captain Kime expects to send the crew of the Brown to their home by rail as soon as he receives instructions from Pittsburg. The coroner held an inquest on the dead bodies and returned a verdict of accidental death.

A Woman's Smile.

A woman's smile is thus described in a Hawaiian romance: "Her rich lips parted, and there flashed upon the landscape two rows of beautiful white teeth. Slowly her mouth opened wider and wider, deeper grew the dimples in her bronze cheeks; brighter danced the sunbeams in her eyes, until stray rays, darting through the foliage of an overhanging brow, illuminated the deep cavern of her mouth, bringing into view the back part of her head. Then, seeing us gazing intently upon her, she shuts her mouth, and darkness fell upon the scene."

A CONGRESSMAN'S JOKE.

Gratifying a Constituent's Whim May be Diplomatic, But is Expensive.

One member of the House is in a regular stew just now. To a reporter he tells this story of himself.

"I was slightly surprised a few days ago to receive a letter from a constituent, as follows:

"DEAR JUDGE:—Tim Dooley says that the Government gives away fish to those who apply. I don't know if this is so or not; but if so I wish you would send me some. The only kind we get here are in half-pound packages, called boneless cod and they are no account, and then they make you thirsty. If they give away the fish hooks I wish you would send me some, for the Major, Ransom Brown, Judge Kaufman and I have planned to go fishing as soon as the weather opens up. You know they all worked well for you the last time."

"For the sake of the joke I dropped into a sporting goods store, and bought a tin box of hooks for $1.50, and sent it to my friend with a note saying I was very glad that I had some fish hooks still left from my quota, though there had been a great demand for them and the hook had run out, and the President had been so occupied with bonds, and had Congress on his hands so long that our supply was exhausted. I regretted also that the ducks have been wild, or could maybe have got some, but last trip Grover only got 13, and he needed most of those himself.

"The results was fourteen requests for fish hooks within a week, and they are still coming. It is no use to say that Uncle Sam does not handle fish hooks, as here are the hooks and there is my letter, and if I don't send them every last man that I refuse will sharpen a knife for me next campaign, and if I do I will go broke. Don't fool with the granger."—Washington Times.

Had a Lizard in Her Stomach.

Miss Emma Large, a young society woman, who lives at Trenton, N. J., has been ill for two months and her case baffled the physicians.

Finally she was put on a milk and water diet and soon was seized with nausea. She vomited up a live lizard an inch and a half long.

X-Rays Found the Bullet.

Chalk Sooy, a resident of Ham-mont, N. J., visited the University of Pennsylvania, on the 7th, and subjected himself to treatment with X-rays. Mr. Sooy has for three years been troubled with a bullet lodged, as he supposed, in his shoulder. Three years ago he was shot by the accidental explosion of a revolver, the ball entering a little below his shoulder. Doctors examined and probed for it, but were unable to find the ball, and Sooy has been suffering with it ever since, though the sore entirely healed. At the examination on the 7th, a negative was first taken just below the elbow, but no sign of a bullet was found. Another negative was then taken, the plate being placed just above the wrist, and here it was found. He then was taken to the surgical department, where, under the direction of Professor White, an operation was performed and the bullet removed. Mr. Goodspeed and Mr. White both think the ball has not traveled, but ran down the arm at the time it entered.

Deafness Cannot be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for a case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c. Hall's Family Pills are the best.

A DUEL FOR LOVE.

Two Men Killed and One Fatally Wounded in a Bloody Hand-to-Hand Encounter.

A WOMAN SAW THEM SHOOT.

THE DESPERADOES QUARRELED OVER HER, SEIZED THEIR WEAPONS, AND THE FIGHT BEGAN.

ON Saturday a bloody hand-to-hand fight occurred at Blountstown, Calhoun county, Florida, in which Thomas House a noted desperado, and Thomas Smith were killed, and George Harrison fatally wounded. The parties were all white.

Smith and House had been for some time in love with the same woman. She smiled on both until they became desperate, and each threatened to kill the other.

House called at the woman's house on Saturday, and soon after Smith, accompanied by his brother-in-law, George Harrison, arrived. When Smith saw House he became enraged, and ordered him to leave the house. He refused, and a quarrel began.

Bitter words were used, and in a few seconds both men had drawn their pistols and began shooting. The three men were close together in a small room, and Smith quickly dropped to the floor with a bullet through his heart.

House then shot at Harrison and wounded him at the first fire. Harrison returned the shot, and House, having exhausted his cartridges, jumped at him with a large knife. As he lunged his foot slipped in Smith's blood, and he fell to the floor across the dead man's body with a bullet through his own heart.

Harrison staggered into the presence of the screaming woman, who stanching the flow of blood from his wound as best she could, until the arrival of men who had been attracted to the house by the fusillade.

No Change in Text Books.

At a meeting of the Teachers' Association of the counties of Bertie, Hertford and Northampton it was unanimously resolved, "that the present text books in use in the common schools of North Carolina are well suited to the thought and habits and mental and moral development of our people and we recommend to the commissioners of Bertie, Hertford and Northampton counties that no change be made in the list heretofore adopted by the State Board of Education." One hundred teachers were present and at least seven hundred spectators applauded the resolutions.

The Fall Saved Him Trouble.

Ira Parker, a carpenter of Tea Neck, N. J., while working in the house of Charles L. Colt, of Clinton place, Hackensack, Saturday fell a distance of forty feet. His head struck in a sand heap.

His companions hurried to the scene, expecting to find him dead, but he sat up and coolly remarked: "I had to come down for nails anyway."

SIR WALTER RALEIGH FORT.

THE ROANOKE COLONY MEMORIAL ASSOCIATION GETTING IT AND THE GROUNDS SURROUNDING IT INTO GOOD SHAPE.

Maj. Graham Daves, President of the Roanoke Colony Memorial Association, informs us that things are getting into very good shape now at old Fort Raleigh on Roanoke Island and upon the grounds immediately surrounding it.

Our townsman, Mr. H. A. Brown, Sr., civil engineer, on his recent visit there, marked the outlines of Fort Raleigh placing a granite post at each angle.

He cleared off, in part, the site of the fort from underbrush, etc., and surveyed and laid off the tract of land upon which the fort stands, marking its boundaries also with granite posts. This work is only preliminary; it is designed by it to get the property into such condition that the work can hereafter be carried forward to completion in good shape as funds are realized for the purpose.—Newbern Journal.

WHAT ALL SHOULD KNOW.

Don't be satisfied with your boy's education or allow him to handle a Latin or Greek book until you are sure that he can— Write a good legible hand. Spell all the words you know how to use. Speak and write good English. Write a good social letter. Add a column of figures rapidly. Make out an ordinary account. Deduct 16 2/3 per cent. from the face of it. Receipt it when paid. Write an ordinary receipt. Write an advertisement for the local paper. Write an ordinary promissory note. Reckon the interest or discount on it for days, months or years. Draw an ordinary bank check. Take it to the proper place in a bank to get it cashed. Make neat and correct entries in day-book and ledger. Tell the number of yards of carpet required for your parlor. Measure a pile of lumber in your shed. Tell the number of bushels of wheat in your largest bin, and the value at current rates. Tell something about the great authors and statesmen of the present day.

If he can do all this, and more, it is likely he has sufficient education to make his own way in the world. If you have more time and money to spend upon him, all well and good—give him higher English, give him literature, give him mathematics, give him science, and if he is very anxious about it give him Latin and Greek, or whatever the course he intends pursuing in life demands.—Selected.

Boy Killed The Burglar.

Kirtley C. Rodgers was shot and instantly killed at Sybene, West Virginia, by Fred Crawford, while the former was trying to break open the safe in J. R. Crawford's store. Crawford's store contains the postoffice, and the big iron safe is used as a depository by business men and farmers in the village. Several times attempts have been made to rob it. About 2 o'clock Wednesday morning Fred Crawford, the 16-year old son of the proprietor, who sleeps on the second floor, heard a noise below. He crept to the stairway, and, seizing a double-barreled gun, fired both barrels at two men whom he saw at work at the safe. One of the men dropped dead, and the other escaped from an open door. The dead man was found to be Kirtley Rodgers, a local desperado, who has been connected with numerous robberies and disreputable escapades. The man who escaped left no clue to his identity.

Saved From Bungling Lynchers.

News comes from Williams-town, Kentucky, of the hanging of Dr. Ferrell, at Elliston, Ky., Monday night by a mob. Ferrell had a reputation as a wife beater. He came home drunk and whipped his wife. A mob was organized and strung him up to a limb. He was discovered later by some boys and cut down before life was extinct. He will recover.

Mr. J. W. Brown, Editor of the "Mineral Age," Warrior, Ala., says: "After a trial of Simmons Liver Regulator I find it an excellent remedy for expelling Malaria from the system; and, as a remedy for disease in incipient stages it cannot be excelled, and no family should be without it." This is a strong endorsement for Simmons Liver Regulator, but none too much so.

ANOTHER BIG FIRE

At Greenville Caused a Loss of $50,000 and Threw 65 Men Out of Employment.

Starts in a Dry-Kiln.

Could have been Saved Had not the Engine been Disabled.

LAST Monday, about noon, a brick dry-kiln filled with lumber at the Greenville Lumber Company's plant was discovered on fire. The city fire department responded promptly, and after half an hour's hard fight it was thought the fire could be kept confined to the kiln and the plant saved; suddenly the stream from the fire engine ceased when it was found that the suction hose had burst, disabling the engine. As soon as the water stopped the fire made rapid headway and totally destroyed the entire plant, every pile of lumber on the yard and a storage warehouse near by, belonging to Henry Sheppard. The total loss approximates $50,000. There was only $10,000 insurance. The heat from the fire was so intense as to cause several people to faint.

This fire really occasions a more serious loss to Greenville than the big February fire in which so much of the business portion of the town was destroyed. While the aggregate loss by the former fire was much larger it was divided among a number of people and as soon as insurance adjustments were made rebuilding commenced, but in this fire the loss is all on one company, and swept the plant so clean that there is no prospect of rebuilding. This fire also throws 65 men out of employment and cuts off the source for lumber upon which the town largely depended to keep up its building operations.

LOOK UP.

The world is full of disappointments—they are our common lot. The rose of anticipation often rests at last in the ashes of sad reality. We are all born to trouble. In every heart is a safe—God knows where the key is. In every heart is some secret of life or death. Disappointments are the lessons of life. They are the dark backgrounds which set forth the lasting and beautiful pictures. Often the deepest sorrows have brought the choicest blessings—the sickness of Hope proved the convalescence of Joy. Many a ghost has proved a shadow—many a mountain but a bank of fog. Do not stop to regret the past. Sorrow is sent to make us purer—trouble to make us better—disappointment to increase our bravery. Failure is the servant and success the child of effort. Look up! Your heart may be the cemetery of a thousand disappointments. There is room yet for the fairest flowers of success to spring up from every grave, making the future an ocean of prosperity—a heaven of heartfelt bliss.—Durham Sun.

Died as She Wished.

Mrs. Aaron Haynes, 82 years old, who attended Mount Hebron Church services Sunday, at Parkersburg, W. Va., stated in her experience that many years before, her mother had expired at just such a meeting, while telling of her experience, and that she hoped to die in the same way. When Rev. Engle reached her to shake hands he found that the old lady was dead. She had died as she had wished.

needs attention at this time. If you are tired, weak and nervous, it is clear that your blood is impure, and without doubt there has been too much over-work or strain on brain and body. The course of treatment for such a condition is plain and simple. The blood must first be purified so that the nervous system, and in fact all the organs will be fed upon pure blood. Intelligent people without number have testified that the best blood purifier, nerve tonic and strength imparting medicine is Hood's Sarsaparilla. Nervousness, loss of sleep and general debility all vanish when Hood's Sarsaparilla is persistently taken; in a word, health and happiness follow after taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.

A CYCLONE IN VIRGINIA.

Disastrous wind, rain and hail storm visited Charlottesville, Va., Tuesday afternoon, accompanied by lightning and thunder. Houses were unroofed and flooded and in several instances struck by lightning. Hundreds of fruit and shade trees were uprooted or broken off, several partly finished houses were blown down, the streets were turned into rivers and men, women and children were panic-stricken, frightened, some narrowly escaping with their lives. Wind approached the form of a cyclone, tore through streets, while the rain fell in torrents. Several buildings were unroofed and goods in the stores damaged by water. Trolley cars and Chesapeake and Ohio railroad trains were delayed by falling trees.

Diamonds Thrown Into a Fire.

Mrs. Washington I. Sherwood, of Sing Sing, N. Y., found a little bundle of rags in her daughter's room, and, thinking them useless, threw them in the fire. As soon as she had done this her daughter, who saw the act, but was too late to prevent it, told her mother she had wrapped a solitaire diamond ring and a cluster ring with six diamonds in the rags for safe keeping, thinking no thief that might enter the house would suspect such booty in old rags. The poker and shovel were quickly made use of in pulling the blazing rags from the fire, and the rings were saved, though in a damaged condition.

Sought Her Death in Fire.

Annie Thorin, twenty years old, committed suicide Tuesday afternoon at the roadside, near Somerville, N. J., by setting fire to her clothing and burning herself to death.

She was found an hour later sitting with head in a hedge-fence, her clothing completely burned from her body and her flesh charred in a horrible manner. A passing farmer had seen her russet shoe protruding from the hedge, and upon looking closer was horrified to see the charred body sitting bolt upright and the face looking at him.

Corner-Stone Laid.

At Goldsboro, N. C., Wednesday the corner-stone of the main building of the Odd Fellows' orphanage was laid by Grand Master Charles F. Lumsden. An address was delivered by Past Grand Sir Charles M. Bushnell, of Raleigh, N. C. Grand Secretary Theo. Ross, of the Sovereign Grand Lodge, and Grand Master Hill Montague, of Virginia, were present. There was a large parade, including militia, members of the grand and local lodges, city officials and citizens.

A TRAIN'S MAD PLUNGE.

ONE CHILD KILLED AND TWENTY-SIX PEOPLE INJURED.

A MISPLACED SWITCH

CAUSES A SERIOUS RAILWAY ACCIDENT. PROMPT ACTION OF CONDUCTOR PREVENTS GREATER LOSS OF LIFE.

THE north-bound New York and Florida express on the Florida Central and Peninsula railroad was thrown from the track, at Anderson, a small station ten miles south of Savannah, Ga., on the 11th inst., by a misplaced switch. The entire train, with the exception of the body of the engine, was derailed and rolled over an embankment.

The train was running at the rate of thirty-two miles an hour. The switch was turned and locked and the switch target shifted, indicating that the train was on the straight track. At the first shock of the engine leaving the track Conductor Glass seized the air brake cord and set the brakes, bringing the train almost to an instantaneous standstill, as it left the track and preventing the telescoping of the cars.

There were 268 passengers on board. One child, 3 years old, was killed, and twenty-six persons were among the list of the injured.

The statements of the conductor and engineer show that the disaster was the result of a deliberate plot to wreck the train. The place chosen was close beside a trestle crossing the ditch. As it was, the rear car went over the trestle into the water. The tide, which ebbs and flows into the ditch, was out, and there was very little water in it. The motive of the wreckers is as yet unexplained. Detectives were put on the case at once, but without any tangible clue to work upon.

The next session of the Southern Baptist Convention will be held at Wilmington, N. C., the first Friday following the first Sunday in May '97.

The inaugural ceremonies of the Tennessee centennial will take place at Nashville on the first of June next.
